HOOVER STARTS HIS VOYAGE TO CARIBBEAN SEA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 18.—[Special.]—President Hoover stepped aboard a special train tonight and at 11 o'clock was on his way to Norfolk, Va., and the U. S. S. Arizona, which will take him on his ten day vacation cruise to Porto Rico and the Virgin islands.

WILLIAM E. BORAH.

With his party, which includes Secretary of War Hurley and Secretary of the Interior Wilbur, he will board the Arizona at 7 o'clock tomorrow morning and the battleship immediately will get under way.

Today's activities at the White House were a multiple edition of those last minute duties which every citizen must fuss over before going away from home. But White House dogs didn't have to be taken over to the neighbor's, nor the milk man told to stop coming.

What the President did have to do, however, was to see the various members of his cabinet, in order to make sure that the wheels of the executive department would run smoothly in his absence.

Senator Borah Calls.

Another caller at the White House was Senator William E. Borah of Idaho. Senator Borah lunched with the President and spent an hour and a half in his company—whether in his capacity of chairman of the senate foreign relations committee or as an insurgent Republican with persuasive ideas on agriculture, was not announced.

Among the subjects touched on at the luncheon were the recent Franco-Italian naval agreement, European disarmament, the Central American situation, Russian recognition, oil conservation, and Senator Borah's opinion that a limit on oil imports would be in restraint of trade. The farm board and the agricultural situation generally also were discussed.

The program of the trip, as it is now laid down, contemplates the President's arrival at the Ponce in Porto Rico next Monday morning. From there he will motor ninety miles to San Juan, the capital. Following a day in San Juan, he will return to Ponce by motor over another route, and then will go on to the Virgin islands for a day at St. Thomas.

The program is still being kept purposely indefinite, so that the trip may be extended by a day or two if the President desires.

He'll Keep in Touch by Radio.

President Hoover will keep in touch with the affairs of government by radio. A news bulletin will be sent him daily. In the admiral's suite on the Arizona, which Mr. Hoover will occupy, a special radio set has been installed, so that he may receive direct word from Mrs. Hoover and from Herbert Hoover Jr.

Mrs. Hoover will visit Herbert Jr. at Asheville, N. C., while the President is away.

To provide entertainment during the evenings at sea, the navy department has installed one of a sound picture machine on the Arizona, equipped with many reels.

In order that the President may continue his morning exercise, special athletic equipment, including the well known medicine ball, has been sent down from Washington.

Preparations have been made to safeguard the President and to see that the program goes through without hitch.

Secret service men are on their way by plane to be on hand at Ponce, San Juan and St. Thomas when the President arrives. The destroyer Tarbet will act as the Arizona's escort throughout the trip.

Falls Dead as He Hitches Ride on a Coroner's Auto

Deputy Coroner Morris E. Penney of Lake county was driving to Libertyville from Roundout last evening when two casuals flagged him. One asked for a lift, and on Penney's motion to hop aboard, he stepped on the running board. The next instant he toppled over dead of heart disease. His companion, Charles Black, identified him as Edward St. Clair. The dead man, about 55 years old, was a veteran of the world war. He had no home.

MAYOR WALKER IS ACCUSED OF IGNORING GRAFT

10 Specific Charges Made Public.

New York, March 18.—(AP)—The New York Times says political advisers of Mayor Walker told him over long distance telephone to California that the time for "wise cracking was past." The leaders were quoted as saying Gov. Roosevelt seems to have gone on "an anti-Tammany rampage."

New York, March 18.—[Special.]—Ten specific charges of misfeasance in office were made against Mayor James J. Walker in the accusations filed by the city affairs committee, which were made public by Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt in Albany today.

MAYOR JAMES J. WALKER.

The charges, which were delivered to the governor by the Rev. John Haynes Holmes and Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of the city affairs committee, were accompanied by the demand that removal proceedings be instituted against the mayor. They constituted a history, couched in legal phraseology and based upon newspaper accounts of the many and varied scandals that have marked the present Tammany administration.

"In all this time as well," the charges stated, "the mayor has not spoken one clear and earnest word of disapproval and denunciation of this orgy of corruption. Such silence is necessarily accepted by his subordinates as approval, or at least condonation, of the course of lawlessness and corruption."

Governor Withholds Comment.

The governor made public the petition without comment and without any announcement regarding his course of action. It was pointed out, however, that the charges failed to bring out any fact not already known to Gov. Roosevelt through the mediumship of the newspapers, and that he had failed to take any action upon them as they were current.

The charges formally accused Mayor Walker of failure to act in cases involving the board of standards and appeals, the department of licenses, condemnation proceedings, the health department, the director of the budget, the department of hospitals, the dock department, the sinking fund commission, recalcitrant officials, and the grand jury, the magistrates' courts, and the police department.

Coupled with all this was the general charge that the mayor has ignored conditions of inefficiency and corruption, and if, under public pressure, he has initiated investigations he has allowed such investigations to lapse without report or result.

Aids Termed Unworthy.

He was accused of having appointed unworthy, men to public office and of having kept in office unworthy men who were subject by law to removal.

"His conduct of the office of mayor since he took office on Jan. 1, 1930, has been incompetent, inefficient, and futile, with the result that the local machinery of government has failed to function properly and the administration of the city has been brought into disrepute," the petition continued.

The charges also alleged that the mayor "has brought the administration of the city into disrepute by daily neglect of the affairs of his office, by careless standards of public life, and by complete indifference to the inefficiency and dishonesty of appointed subordinates."

Court Revelations Cited.

"Nothing more clearly reveals the incompetence, ineffectiveness, unfitness, and grave dishonor of the mayor as the highest public official of this city," the memorandum stated, "than his relation to the problem of the magistrates' courts. The shocking conditions in these courts recently revealed by the inquiry set on foot by the governor were commonly known long before this inquiry was instituted. At no time did the mayor make the slightest attempt to correct existing conditions in a field in which his is the appointive power, nor did he display the slightest interest in a situation which was bringing the law into contempt, denying justice to the people, and destroying the confidence

FLEES CELL IN HAIL OF BULLETS, BUT IS CAUGHT

Breaking from two police guardians as he was being led into the detective bureau, William Stockfield, 24 years old, 1749 North Albany avenue, escaped early this morning as seven bullets whizzed harmlessly past him. His liberty was brief, however, for he was captured three blocks away on a State street car.

Stockfield was arrested as a suspect by Policemen John Walsh and Demitry Cal of the Shakespeare avenue station. On learning he had served a Bridewell term, police ordered him to the bureau of identification in charge of Wagon Men Ernest Bjupman, Maurice Kelliher, and Gustave Seiber, the driver.

At the rear bureau entrance Stockfield tore himself away from the police and ran through a lot, with the policemen firing at him. He ran into State street and boarded a car. The escape attracted the attention of Detective Thomas Curtin, off duty, who was sitting in a machine with A. L. Starshak, Walgreen Drug company official, and they pursued the trolley. At 14th street Curtin boarded the car, found Stockfield in the front, and ordered him to surrender. Stockfield yanked the car door open and jumped outside. Curtin leaped upon him and finally overpowered him.

THREE EVANSTON BANDITS HOLD UP ORRINGTONHOTEL

Three gunmen invaded the Orrington hotel, 1710 Orrington avenue, Evanston, late last night, threatened the night manager and two bellboys and escaped with $1,200 in cash and checks.

The robbery was perpetrated while most of the guests were asleep, and was not interrupted by the appearance of patrons. The bandits appeared to be experienced criminals, the police were told.

O. C. Ruddick, the night manager, was sitting behind the desk, and the bellboys, Chester Langan and Herbert Borre, were standing nearby when the trio appeared. They walked towards Ruddick, leaned over the counter, and simultaneously drew guns. They forced the manager and the bellboys to the rear of the counter, and then compelled Ruddick to open a wall safe. The trio searched the safe thoroughly and removed several metal money containers. A few moments later they were gone.

Five Dead After Poison Liquor Party; Three Ill

Raton, N. M., March 18.—(AP)—Five men were dead here tonight and two more were expected to die as the result of a poison liquor party here last night. An eighth man is in a serious condition. The dead are Ishmal Apodaca and his brother, Clyde Apodaca; Frank E. Valdez, Filberto Garcia, and Andy Montoya. Physicians have no hope for the recovery of Benny Sandoval and Joe Vigil.

Daugherty Is Sentenced to 10 Year Term

Washington Courthouse, O., March 18.—(AP)—Convicted of abstracting funds from the defunct Ohio State bank while he was its president, Mal S. Daugherty, brother of Harry M. Daugherty, attorney general under President Warren G. Harding, today was sentenced to spend ten years in Ohio penitentiary and pay a fine of $5,000. Judge Charles S. Bell also ruled Daugherty must pay the cost of prosecution.

MAL DAUGHERTY.

Overrules New Trial Motion.

After Judge Bell overruled a motion for a new trial and passed sentence, counsel for Daugherty was granted 26 days to take the case to the Appeals court. Commenting on the verdict, Judge Bell said it was warranted by the weight of the evidence.

Fifteen of sixteen remaining indictments against Daugherty were nolled. He will not be tried on the remaining one unless his first conviction is reversed.

In asking for a new trial the defense alleged the speed with which the jury returned its verdict indicated prejudice, and quoted one juror as saying before the trial that both the Daugherty brothers should have been "in the coop a long time ago."

Daugherty was convicted on an indictment charging misapplication of $5,350. During the trial it was testified that many loans were made to other persons and that the money therefrom went into Daugherty's personal accounts.

Bank Records Missing.

An investigator for the state said his work was hampered by the fact that certain records of the Midland bank, which formed a part of the bank, were missing. The Midland bank came into national prominence during the Teapot Dome oil scandal, when the senate attempted to obtain certain records of the bank in its efforts to trace money alleged to have passed hands in the Teapot Dome deal.

One loan, made by Daugherty to his wife, was for the purchase of the Jeff Smith estate. Smith was a figure in Washington during the Harding administration.

EXHUME BRITISH EARL; SEEK FACTS ASKED BY POPE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 18.—The skeleton of Philip, the first earl of Arundel of the Howard line, who died in 1595, has been secretly exhumed at Fitzalan chapel of Arundel castle and examined by surgeons and others in the presence of the duke of Norfolk, it was learned tonight.

All facts learned by the examination are to be placed before Pope Pius who expressed a desire that certain information should be verified before the earl is beatified. Among the questions was the desire to settle whether the earl was beheaded or died a natural death, and whether the skull was in the coffin. The complete skeleton was found, but no signs that the earl had been executed. History states that he died in the tower of London before the date fixed for his execution.

Identification was definitely established through a brass plate and parchment documents inside the coffin.

The first earl was placed in the tower on April 25, 1585, charged with being a Roman Catholic, of quitting England without leave and of claiming the dukedom of Norfolk. In 1588 he was tried for high treason, found guilty and sentenced to death. He stayed in the tower until he died on Oct. 19, 1595.

BOY CONTINUES FIGHT FOR LIFE IN "STEEL LUNG"

Charles Caughey, 7 years old, was still unconscious last night in St. Francis hospital in Evanston, where he has been fighting death since March 6 through the assistance of an artificial respirator. He fell into a coma Monday.

Despite the coma the boy showed an improved organic resistance to his ailments, hospital attendants said last night. If this resistance is maintained and built up there is a slight chance for recovery, they said.

Reports that Charles had developed spinal meningitis earlier in the week were denied by Dr. Noel Shaw, his physician.

QUELL STATEVILLE RIOT; FEAR NEW REVOLT TODAY

BULLETIN.

Warden Hill of the Joliet prison this morning ordered Warden David Moneypenny of the Cook county jail not to send down a shipment of 40 prisoners today, as planned, because there is no room for them in the old prison. It is the first time in the history of the institution that it has refused to receive prisoners, Warden Hill said. Forty prisoners were started for the new prison yesterday to make way for the Cook county lot, but because of the riot there they were returned to the old institution.

Maj. Henry C. Hill, warden of the Joliet and Stateville penitentiaries, gave out a statement last night in which he asked the public not to forget that the convicts are in prison for violation of the laws. He declared he had done everything possible for the comfort of the prisoners, but that his first duty was to keep them incarcerated.

At the same time Rodney H. Brandon, state director of public welfare, in a statement issued at Springfield said it had been hoped to handle the penitentiary situation without curtailing prisoners' privileges, but that this appeared impossible and that the privileges would be stopped indefinitely.

The Warden's Statement.

"After riots and conflagrations such as have overtaken the two prisons composing the Illinois state penitentiary which is under my control, I fully realize that the public should be conversant with the actual facts," said Warden Hill's statement. "There have been lingering in the minds of many people in the country misconceived ideas of the situation at Joliet and Stateville.

"These ideas are brought about by fragmentary and erroneous reports about the unpleasant duties necessary to be carried out by the officials of the institution.

"These riots were undoubtedly due, first, to the very seriously overcrowded condition of the prisons, which is beyond the help of the prison administration, coupled with the idea of desperate convicts that they are winning the sympathy of the public and weakening the hold of the managing officer on the institutions.

His Aims for Prison.

"It has been my first desire to give the prisoners in this penitentiary an opportunity to live as humanely and under as decent living conditions as circumstances will permit. It is my belief that most prisoners, no matter

BULLETIN.

Fears of renewed rioting at the old penitentiary at Joliet this morning were dissipated for a time when 680 convicts marched to the mess hall in an orderly manner, ate their breakfast and returned to their cells without making any disturbance. Two companies of the national guard and 40 highway police, armed with machine guns, were outside the east gate, and at the first sign of trouble would have rushed on the convicts in the dining room. The 680 are those who did not participate in the riot last Saturday. Prison officials feared, however, that trouble may come later in the day.

Illinois National Guardsmen and members of the state highway police last night were standing guard in the Stateville prison, where 1,300 convicts rioted yesterday afternoon and set fire to prison buildings, which burned with an estimated loss of $500,000. The convicts were forced back into their cells only after three had been wounded by the fire of guards. One of the wounded prisoners died early this morning.

Early this morning the prisoners, both at Stateville, three miles north of Joliet, on the west side of the Des Plaines river, and in the old penitentiary across the river at the Northeastern edge of the city, were reported still in an ugly mood. Warden Henry C. Hill, anticipating a fresh riot in the old prison at breakfast time today, announced after a conference with military and police officers that two National Guard companies and forty state highway troopers, fully armed, would be stationed in the dining room.

Ordered to Shoot Rioters.

Their orders will be to shoot down any of the convicts who attempt to start riots like yesterday's or the one in the older prison last Saturday.

Yesterday's outbreak of arson and destruction at Stateville was put down by the prison guards, policemen from the outside, and a few early arrivals from the Joliet company G of the 129th infantry, National Guard. For a full hour, while these detachments, led by the warden and his assistants, were clearing the open spaces and locking the rioters in their cells, no effort was made to fight the fires that were started almost simultaneously in half a dozen buildings.

Let Fire Fighters In.

Only after the last rioter had been locked behind bars were the outer gates in the mile and a quarter long walls opened and the Joliet fire department permitted to enter and battle with the flames. All the buildings fired were of concrete construction and their walls and roofs remained intact, but the contents and wooden interiors were destroyed.

The military forces were sent in at the request of Warden Hill. A little more than an hour after he asked for them, four companies, the one from Joliet, Company D from Aurora, Company L from Kankakee, and Company E from Plattville, all of the 129th Infantry and all under the command of Maj. Arthur D. Goudreau of Kankakee, were on the scene. They were joined by 150 state highway policemen under the command of Chief Walter Moody.

Parade Troops Before Cells.

The entire force was paraded before the cell blocks at dusk with the idea of overawing the convicts, who went supperless and will go breakfastless as a result of the destruction of the mess hall and kitchen. Further hardening of the restrictions in the convicts' lives was ordered by Rodney H. Brandon, director of the state welfare department. No radios, no movies, no visits from relatives, and no mail, either inward or outward bound—these were among the restrictions.

After the parade two of the companies were assigned to night guard duties on the walls; those from Kankakee and Aurora. Guard headquarters were established in the administration building. State policemen also took turns on the ramparts, reinforcing the regular prison guards.

Only the regular prison guards were kept last night at the old prison, but the number on duty was doubled. Companies E and G, whose members slept in the Joliet armory last night, will guard the old prison dining room this morning. The men to be fed there are the 680 who were not involved in the Saturday rioting in which two men were fatally wounded and two others less seriously wounded. Rumors have been received that these are ready to

Two Chicago regiments of guardsmen, the 132d infantry and the 124th field artillery, were partly mobilized last night, but neither was called to Joliet and the men of the 132d were dismissed at about 10:30 p. m. A small detachment of the 124th was kept under arms.

Gov. Emmerson yesterday informed Representative Roger F. Little [Rep., Champaign], Republican leader in the house and member of the legislative investigating committee for the prisons, that the troops would be kept on duty until discipline is restored.

Brig. Gen. John J. Garrity was sent to the prison during the afternoon as an adviser on military needs there. Maj. Gen. Roy D. Keehn, commander of the 33d division, indicated that the Chicago regiments could and would be speedily sent to the area if such action was necessary.

The convicts in both penitentiaries were comparatively quiet last night, but Warden Hill said there was little hope of the restoration of normal conditions immediately.

How Riot Started.

Yesterday's riot started in the furniture factory, one of the largest in the sixty-seven acre enclosure that comprises the prison. The prisoners' war cry of "Let's go" resounded there at 1:40 p. m. A dozen of the ringleaders leaped on Guards J. A. Book, Melvin Frazier, D. E. Schaefer, and Joseph Clemens, hurled them to the ground, and began to beat them. The guards, aided perhaps by some of the less vicious felons, escaped and ran to the administration building.

Without delay the prisoners all over the enclosure began firing the factories. Mattresses and paper wrapped beds in the furniture shop were touched off by a man with a handkerchief wrapped around his face. The shoe shop was next fired. Then the convicts, sweeping aside all the guards that opposed them, seized the garage and ran with cans of gasoline through the yards, at various points pouring the fluid on the fires already started.

The machine shop, a building about 80 by 120 feet, and the laundry next were set on fire after the convicts had torn to pieces such machines as failed to resist their efforts. The steel parts furnished them with admirable missiles and these were hurled through the windows of the mess hall nearby.

Kitchen Is Wrecked.

In the kitchen scenes resembling those of Saturday at the old state penitentiary were enacted. Food containers were overturned and stoves wrecked. In the mess hall itself the stage was fired. Only a little inflammable material had been used in the construction of this hall and the damage was small.

Ten minutes after the start, and while the rioting was in a frenzied stage, Deputy Warden Frank Kness, in charge of the prison, walked unarmed through the yards, shouting to the prisoners to go back to their cells.

"Get back yourself," the men shouted at him. "We want a new parole board." And then the war cry of "Let's go" was sounded again.

Priest Received with Jeers.

Deputy Warden Kness went back to his office. There the Rev. Eligius Weir, Roman Catholic chaplain, volunteered to go out among the rioters and do what he could to make them cease their vandalism.

He was received with jeers in the yard.

The chaplain persisted. "You are only harming yourselves," he urged. "Get back to your cells. This can all be arranged without this kind of disorder."

Prisoners Refuse to Listen.

Over near the laundry, as the chaplain went alone in his attempt to halt the rioting, a few of the prisoners gathered around him and offered him a soap box to stand on. But when he took it they refused to listen.

The rioting went on. In the laundry 2,700 complete outfits of prison clothing, a change for every one of the inmates, went up in smoke. The shops were now all burning; flames reached up toward the sky and dense clouds of smoke floated in the air above Stateville.

Warden Hill, summoned from the old prison on the east side of the Des Plaines river, arrived and went unarmed through a passageway leading from the administration hall to the dining room. His commands, like those of his deputy and the chaplain, went unheeded.

"Get us a new parole board and we'll go back," the convicts shouted.

Warden Hill ordered the guards to be armed with machine guns, rifles, and tear gas bombs. At the head of two score of them he marched to the corridor that runs around the dining hall. The detachment came face to face with 200 of the rioters in these cramped quarters. The warden's order again was disobeyed. A half dozen of the convicts even started to hurl themselves on the warden and the guards.

A few of the foremost guards fired. The three men in the vanguard of the felons dropped.

Most seriously wounded was Raymond Barney, colored, 26 years old, sentenced to three to twenty years for robbery. A bullet penetrated his abdomen and it was said last night he would die. The others wounded are Michael Farrare, 27 years old, sentenced to ten years to life for robbery, and Edward Devanie, 24 years old, serving one to twenty years for robbery. Their wounds were slight. All the wounded were from Cook county.

There was no further shooting. The convicts gradually lost cohesion. The quieter elements among them retired to the cellhouses, and the guards, now reinforced by the county highway police and the Joliet police, rounded up the others. About twenty were thrown into solitary confinement.

Trusties Stay on Jobs.

During the disorder a group of trusted prisoners at work in the power house stood at their tasks. Among them is John L. Esser, former Aurora bank president.

According to Warden Hill, the riot was caused almost entirely by the younger and more ardent convicts, the old timers wisely refraining from what they realized must reflect only in discomfort to themselves. Among the prisoners who were in the penitentiary were three notorious Chicago criminals, Nathan Leopold, who had been sent over in the morning from the Joliet penitentiary; Richard Loeb, and Martin J. Durkin, killer. It was reported that all three made every effort to get out of the way of the rioters.

The warden and Deputy Warden Kness complimented Guard William Brusnighan, in charge of the bed shop in the furniture factory, who ran through a hail of missiles from the enraged convicts and turned in the alarm when the fires were first started.

Name Two as Ringleaders.

According to Kness, the ringleaders in the plot to fire the prison were Albert and George Reinheart, brothers, who were sentenced in 1927 from Cook county on robbery charges. They were placed in solitary confinement. They made an attempt a year or so ago to escape from the Joliet institution by tunneling through the walls. That attempt was described by Kness as the cleverest ever made to get out of that penitentiary.

The brothers in some manner had gotten possession of a shovel, a pick, and an extension electric lamp, which they hid under a work bench in the chair factory. Each day for an hour they took advantage of their position as trusties and slipped into the room while no one else was present. Their diggings had carried them through fourteen feet and they were almost beyond the walls when the plot was discovered. The excavated dirt was carried out in small quantities so as not to attract attention.

No Animosity Toward Warden.

Kness called attention to the fact that the prisoners seemed to have no personal animosity toward him or toward Warden Hill. He asserted that their food was good and that, aside from overcrowding, they had no complaint against the prison administration. The convicts' hatred was directed toward the state board of pardons and paroles.

One case cited was that of a man named Cappa, who was sentenced several years ago to one year to life for manslaughter. Under the present law his sentence for that crime would be one to fourteen years, but the parole board has informed him he must serve until 1958.

Chaplain Praises Treatment.

Father Weir, after his futile attempt to stop the rioting, agreed with the deputy warden that the prisoners were well treated. He added that he had nothing in common with the opinions of the Rev. George L. Whitmeyer, whose forced resignation was followed by his announcement that prisoners were treated brutally. At Stateville, Chaplain Weir said, the men are well treated at all times.

The prison authorities expressed appreciation of the help given by the Joliet police under Capt. William McCanna during the disorder. With this detail and one of highway police led by James O'Neill, Warden Hill was able to shatter the resistance of the convicts in the neighborhood of the mess hall.

A detail of four Chicago detective bureau squads, armed with machine guns, shotguns, and tear bombs, was dispatched to Joliet, but the disorder was in hand when they arrived and they turned back to their regular duties.

May Abandon Mass Feeding.

One outcome of the troubles in the two penitentiaries may be the abandonment of mass feeding of convicts, Deputy Warden Kness said yesterday that he hoped the Stateville administration would take over the older system of sending food each mealtime to the convicts in their cells.

"We have to go back to that method now," he said. "We have always recognized that gathering 2,000 men in one group in the mess hall is a potential danger. Mob psychology has its chance to work best then. The table feeding was brought in because it gave the men warmer and tastier food. I hope that we will in future feed them all in their cells."

This suggestion, it is understood, will be placed before the legislative investigating committee when it starts its hearings tomorrow.

what their sentences may be, must eventually return to society, and that the nearer you can keep the status of such prisoners abreast that of the outside world the more likely they are to become inoffensive members of society when released.

"With this in view I have installed radio equipment accessible to every prisoner, talking picture machines, and leisure hours, athletic sports in the yards, as well as uncensored papers and various other improvements which have met with the thanks and appreciation of at least 80 per cent of the inmate population.

"I have, so far as within my power, provided adequate work, which is necessary to overcome prison unrest. I have also provided these men with the best food that the money allowed for the purpose can obtain.

"Every effort has been made by myself and officers to give the prisoners of this institution an opportunity to spend their time as decently as is possible in a prison. The population of the two prisons today is 4,702. The institution's adjacency to Chicago makes it a very difficult prison to handle. These riots have been expected by me and the officers of this institution and every reasonable effort taken to prevent them.

"Such destruction of lives and property is highly regrettable. At the investigation which will certainly ensue the properly constituted authorities will definitely fix the reason for such outbreaks in the prison.

"May I ask the public in the language in which I have instructed my guards, 'not to forget that this is a penitentiary'?

"The long arm of the law has found it necessary to place these men in such an institution and my duty is plain. It is to keep these men incarcerated behind the walls of this penitentiary, and until I leave I expect to do so."

LOSE PRIVILEGES

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., March 18.—[Special.]—Rodney H. Brandon, state director of public welfare, who controls correctional institutions, tonight ordered a curtailment of privileges to all prisoners at Joliet and Stateville penitentiaries, except trusties. In a statement he said:

"Since the first of these prison disturbances, it has been our hope that the situation might be handled without depriving the men at Joliet and Stateville prisons of that limited amount of freedom which they possess in going about their daily routine.

To Keep Convicts in Cell.

"Owing to the fact, however, that so much disturbance has resulted and so many lives have been endangered by the nervous tension which exists in the two institutions, I have today issued the following order to Warden Hill:

"'Please arrange to retain all inmates of Joliet and Stateville prisons in their cells except such trusted convicts as you may know to be safe, to do the necessary work of the yard and to arrange for the feeding of the men in their cells. All communications between the public and the prisons are stopped until further notice. This means newspapers, mail and visitors.

"'Necessary messages to inmates will be conveyed to the prisoners only through the warden or his deputies. This regulation is to prevail until further notice from me.'"

Mr. Brandon also informed the wardens at Pontiac reformatory and the prison at Chester that the same order might be declared in effect there whenever the officials deemed it necessary.

The committee of state representatives named last week to investigate penitentiary conditions plans to leave for Joliet immediately after the house adjourns tomorrow. The committee is headed by Representative Roger F. Little [Rep., Champaign], Gov. Emmerson's floor leader. Other members are Representatives William G. Thon [Rep., Chicago], Harry M. McCaskrin [Rep., Rock Island], M. L. Igoe [Dem., Chicago], the minority leader, and M. E. Bray [Dem., Litchfield].

At the close of the senate session this afternoon Senator Roy C. Woods [Rep., Chicago] rose to voice the sentiment of some of his colleagues that the warden of the penitentiary should be upheld by the officials of the state until the rioting has ceased and a proper investigation has been launched.

"It is time to put a stop to this maudlin sentimentality," Woods declared. "The walls of the prison have been crumbling for years from the tramp of the guards waiting with guns to shoot any convict who essays to escape. All the penitentiary riots in the past have been quelled, and until this one is put down we should have no more committees or investigations. I hope to enter a resolution calling for support of the authorities tomorrow morning."

SHACKLED CONVICTS TURN HEROES; SAVE FAMILY FROM FIRE

Atlanta, Ga., March 18.—(AP)—Shackled convicts stirred from the dull routine of prison toil here today and played heroes' rôles in rescuing a sleeping family from a burning house.

Five prisoners and a guard were en route to work on a highway on the outskirts of the city. The convicts noticed flames bursting from the building and aroused the occupants. Then they turned to salvaging the household furniture and toiled in the heat and smoke until the fire drove them outside.

MAYOR'S AID AND SERGEANTS LOSE CARS TO THIEVES

Three automobiles, one belonging to Mayor Thompson's secretary and the others to police sergeants, were stolen from the downtown district last night.

The victims were R. M. Perbohner, secretary to the mayor; Sergt. Fred Tapscott of the Hyde Park station, and Sergt. Frank J. Reynolds of the detective bureau. Perbohner notified Central police his machine was taken from Washington and Clark streets. Tapscott's was stolen from in front of the Bismarck hotel, and Reynolds' from in front of 427 Plymouth court.

FREES CABARET ENTERTAINER.

Miss Edna Gunning, 23 years old, an entertainer at La Paree club, 212 East Erie street, was discharged as a dry law violator by Federal Judge Wilkerson yesterday when she named Frank Campbell as owner of the place and agreed to testify against him.

GALPIN MAY FACE LOESCH IN GRAND JURY POLICE QUIZ

Former Prosecutor Asked to Aid in Hearings.

Homer K. Galpin, Twenty-seventh ward leader now reported in charge of the Thompson mayoralty campaign, probably will be called on within the next few weeks to face the man he evaded for more than two years by going into a voluntary exile from his home. Chief Justice John P. McGoorty of the Criminal court yesterday announced that he had sent a letter to Attorney Frank J. Loesch, who unsuccessfully sought Galpin for more than two years when he was a special prosecutor in charge of the fight against the alliance of crime and politics.

The letter, it is said, invites Mr. Loesch to appear before the grand jury and submit the reasons why he sought Galpin and which, presumably, caused the political leader to stay out of the city. It was indicated by the authorities that Mr. Loesch might even be invited to question Galpin.

Galpin Leaves City.

Soon after the appointment of Loesch as a special prosecutor he obtained some information on the alliance of crime and politics which made it imperative that Galpin be called as a witness, he said at the time.

Detectives searched for Galpin with a subpoena, but found that he had left Chicago and was at his summer home at Big Sand Lake, Wis. He did not return permanently to the city until after Loesch had ceased to be special prosecutor.

The jurors want the additional information in the possession of Mr. Loesch so that they may better examine the testimony given by Galpin on Tuesday before the special jury investigating police corruption. The jurors are delaying further action in the Galpin inquiry until the state's attorney's investigators investigate bank records concerning a reported $25,000 contribution to the last Thompson campaign by the Hawthorne Kennel club of Cicero, a reported Capone enterprise.

Attorney Loesch is spending a brief vacation in Pasadena, Cal. He is expected to return by March 30.

Jury Hears Capt. Russell.

Capt. William F. Russell, former commissioner of police, was before the jury yesterday for questioning as to whether Mrs. Shirley Kub, now under jail sentence for contempt of court because of her defiance of the grand jury, was ever in his employ while he headed the department. She was an undercover investigator for Acting Commissioner Alcock. Russell denied that she had ever been so employed while he was chief.

ALAN G. RINEHART, WRITER, KIDNAPED AND ROBBED OF $50

Hollywood, Cal., March 18.—[Special.]—Alan G. Rinehart, writer and son of Mary Roberts Rinehart, the novelist, was kidnaped and held up by a lone hold-up man today. The gunman accosted Rinehart on Sunset boulevard, in the west section of Hollywood, took $50 from him, and forced the writer to drive him to Vine street and Sunset boulevard, where he leaped from the car and

O. K. $4,070,200 PARK JOB; WORK TO START SOON

The Lincoln Park board yesterday authorized the expenditure of $4,070,200 on three projects of its extensive building program, marking the beginning of improvements which are expected to employ hundreds of men.

The projects to be started are the construction work on the Montrose avenue boat harbor, the dredging of the harbor, and the filling in of the lake between Montrose and Foster avenues from the present shore line to the proposed new breakwater. Funds now on hand will enable the extension of improvements as far as Foster avenue.

In authorizing the expenditures the board advised Hugh E. Young, controlling engineer of the park system, and Attorney William H. Beckman to proceed immediately in advertising for bids and specifications. Speed was urged by Sheldon Clark, vice president of the commission, so that unemployed men will obtain work without delay. According to Mr. Young, work may be started within three or four weeks.

REACH HALF WAY POST IN PICKING BROTHERS JURY

Expect Second Panel to Be Sworn Today.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

The half way post was reached yesterday in the selection of a jury to hear the case of the state against Leo V. Brothers, alias Bader, for the murder of Alfred Lingle last June.

Seventeen veniremen were subjected to the lecture-questioning process of qualification in Judge Joseph Sabath's court, with the net result of two accepted tentatively by both state and defense. This would make six jurors in all, and the prospect is that the second panel will be completed today.

The defense cut rather heavily into its peremptory challenges in getting rid of men passed on to it by the state and has now used eight of its twenty challenges. The state has used five.

Weather Thins Out Crowd.

The weather thinned out the crowd, but the seats were well filled all day in the cheerful, comfortable courtroom with its many colored ceilings and oak paneled walls. The visitors were regaled with lengthy discussions in the form of questions on the law of reasonable doubt and that of punishment for murder. The attorneys, seeking jurors with the wisdom of Solomon and the integrity of a lie-detector machine, succeeded indifferently. They get human beings of various racial background, of education practical rather than cultural, of buried complexes which the probing of attorneys could never reveal.

Attorney Tyrrell Krum of defense counsel wanted "stand up guys" who would not be swayed from their opinions, men who would be able to "take a witness apart mentally and put him together again," which would be a hard job for any one but a great psychologist.

Two Jurors Agreed On.

The two men agreed upon tentatively by both sides are:

The defendant weighed carefully each prospective juryman and consulted frequently with his attorneys, now stabilized, it appears, at three, with one investigator. Brothers, on the third day of his trial, appeared in his third new suit. It was a double breasted blue suit. His highly polished shoes were decorated with cream colored spats.

Four Oppose Death Penalty.

Four men were dismissed from the box because they said they did not believe in the death penalty in any case.

Few of fixed opinions were found. The examinations revealed rather that people read the newspapers but casually and do not retain much impression from what they read.

This was the way with Ulaskus. He had read THE TRIBUNE, the Herald-Examiner, and the American, he said, and had no opinion whatever and no feeling about the case.

"It is up to the state now to prove that Lingle was murdered and that Brothers did it," said Assistant State's Attorney C. Wayland Brooks in examining this man. "All we want is a fair and impartial juror."

Hadn't Thought of Case.

Speiser, the second man who remained in the box at the end of the day, said he read the Daily News and THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE, but had not given this case a thought.

Daniel Trebing, a salesman, had read THE TRIBUNE, the Herald-Examiner, the Times, and the American, and had not reached any opinion about Brothers in the Lingle killing. He did, however, have a conscientious objection to the death penalty.

Frank Sullivan, former oil salesman, who has been out of work for months, when asked what papers he read, replied:

"Since Thanksgiving I have been reading the help wanted columns only."

"Any success?" asked the court.

"Without success," was the reply.

Venireman Remembers Nothing.

Walter F. Sieburg, a drug store proprietor at Arlington Heights, said he had "glanced at all the papers," but remembered nothing.

Krum wanted to know from him, as well as from others, if they had ever had any relation with THE TRIBUNE, even questioning him about puzzles and other contests. He brought in the name of James E. McShane as one of the attorneys in the case, although McShane has not been in the courtroom since the trial opened. Krum referred to him as an attorney for THE TRIBUNE. Brooks objected to this and was sustained.

Krum wanted to know if the jurors would be unduly impressed by the testimony of "prominent men, from the social register, millionaires." He did not indicate to whom he referred.

"Would you give any special weight to their testimony?" he asked, and repeated this question in reference to one or more priests of the Catholic church who might take the stand. The jurors said they would not give such witnesses any greater weight than would be given to the others.

Quiz Two at Adjournment.

Louis Poporawski, an employé of the Western Electric company, who lives at Cicero, and Kelsey Stone, a glass cutter of Forest Park, were the last two men in the second panel being examined at adjournment time.

A man who gave the name of H. C. Atkinson, a real estate man, came into court during the afternoon recess and offered his testimony to Attorney Louis Piquett, for the defense, whom he has known for years. Atkinson said he had seen the slayer of Lingle as he ran out of the Illinois Central subway at Michigan avenue and Randolph street, and that the man he saw was shorter than Brothers and of slighter build.

Another visitor in the courtroom was Capt. William F. Russell of the police department, former commissioner and a close friend of the slain reporter. Russell had been in the grand jury room across the hall and stopped in Judge Sabath's court for a few minutes.

Snow Interferes with Traffic for a Time

Slush in Streets

Snow and rain fell in Chicago and various sections of the middle west yesterday, giving added relief to farm lands which for a long time suffered from drought.

In Chicago the snow, of negligible proportions, was wet and heavy, and turned to slush on the streets. Its main annoyance was in sheeting windshields of automobiles. Before nightfall the snow changed to rain.

South and west of Chicago there was an appreciable rainfall, soaking the ground. The precipitation was welcomed by the farmers and gardeners. There was a thin blanket of snow in northeastern Illinois and northern Indiana. Michigan and Wisconsin reported three to four inches of snow, according to W. P. Day, government forecaster at Chicago.

BROOKFIELD GIRL KILLED BY AUTO; SISTER INJURED

Two sisters were injured, one fatally, when they were run down by an automobile in Brookfield as they were walking to a student entertainment at the Riverside High school last night.

The girl killed was Miss Antoinette Korenek, 22 years old, of 203 North Sunnyside avenue, Brookfield. She and her sister were walking at the side of a road when the machine bore down on them. They had no chance to escape. Both were taken to a doctor's office, where Antoinette died. Her sister's injuries were slight. Brookfield police arrested Bert Celepe, 3040 Grove avenue, Brookfield, the driver of the car.

This death and two others raised the Cook county motor toll for 1931 to 243. The other victims:

John B. Thorpe, 6614 Kenwood avenue. Killed when he drove his automobile into a safety island at Vincennes avenue and Oakwood boulevard during the heavy snowstorm yesterday morning.

Leon Atkecunas, 35 years old, 1444 South 49th street, Cicero. Died at the county hospital of injuries received on Sunday when he was struck by an auto at 49th avenue and 15th street, Cicero. The driver was Walter Patula, 5239 West 30th place, Cicero.

Bomb Buried Since War Explodes; 6 Soldiers Hurt

VIENNA, March 18.—(AP)—Six soldiers were injured today in the outskirts of El Bason, Albania, and three army mules were killed when a bomb which had been lying in the ground since the world war exploded, a government dispatch from Tirana said.

U. S. FLEET ENDS MIMIC WAR WITH "FIERCE BATTLE"

U. S. S. ARKANSAS, March 18.—(AP)—After a fierce "battle" in which airplanes, big guns, and torpedoes were theoretically brought into play, the United States fleet tonight was steaming toward Panama, where it will break up for the year. The ships are due in Panama waters tomorrow.

Returning with the fighting ships is Charles Francis Adams, secretary of the navy, who has been witnessing the maneuvers. He will leave Cristobal Friday on the cruiser Chester for Key West.

Weeks of intensive training in southern waters ended with the latest engagement between the white and green fleets this week. Aircraft participated as a smoke screen was laid on the water. Real torpedoes, minus explosives, were released as the big guns sought the ships of the "enemy." The battle fleet will leave for San Diego and San Pedro, Cal., on Monday. The scouting fleet will pass through the Panama canal between Sunday and Wednesday, leaving for maneuvers in the Caribbean.

Hunt Lost Naval Plane.

PANAMA CITY, March 18.—(AP)—Naval and commercial planes today searched the nearby waters for a land plane off the U. S. S. Langley which became separated from a flight formation near the Colombian coast yesterday. Identity of the pilot was not determined.

Bronx High School Quiz Shows 26 Per Cent "Drink"

New York, March 18.—[Special.]—A questionnaire given to 600 students in the hygiene classes at De Witt Clinton High school, the Bronx, revealed that 29 per cent smoked and 26 per cent confessed to doing some drinking. The boys' answers disclosed that 59 per cent of the parents smoked and that 50 per cent drank.

COUNTY RECEIVES FIRST PAYMENTS ON 1929 TAXES

More than $1,000,000 Paid by Loop Bank.

Cook county yesterday received its first tax payments for 1929. Loop banks were the first to make payments on their bills, which reflect a 19 per cent average increase over those for the preceding year. Taxpayers in New Trier, Maine, Stickney, and Bremen townships will receive their bills today.

The Central Trust company was the first to pay its bank stock assessment bill, amounting to $335,793 on an assessment of $5,460,000. Shortly afterward the First National bank presented a check for $1,005,536 to County Treasurer McDonough, representing its tax on an assessment of $16,350,000.

More than 300 bills were mailed to outlying banks yesterday, while those of the large loop banks were delivered by messenger. The first city real estate bills will not be ready for mailing until about April 1, it was said.

Seek to Extend Tax Date.

Since April 1 was fixed as the date on which the 1929 taxes would become delinquent, action was started yesterday to extend that date so that taxpayers will not be penalized the usual 1 per cent a month for failing to pay their bills on time. A proposition was submitted to the revenue committee of the state senate asking that the penalty date be fixed at 30 days after the last tax bills are out.

Meanwhile the Chicago real estate board pressed its 10 day drive to recruit more than 10,000 taxpayers in its tax relief campaign. The board is seeking to lighten the tax burden on real estate through some form of equalization. Real estate now bears 85 per cent of the burden, according to the board, although it represents less than one half of the county's taxable wealth.

Lueder Asks Revision.

Addressing a massmeeting yesterday at 1018 Lawrence avenue, Postmaster Arthur C. Lueder declared that it is unfair to levy taxes on a basis which was in existence as early as 1825. He pleaded for an organized effort to change the obsolete statutes, drawn when Chicago was a trading post.

In those days, he said, property owners had nothing but their land and homes. Since the laws have not been changed, he said, the householders and real property owners are still paying the government expenses, and the owners of all other classes of property that have grown up since then go virtually tax free.

In 1825 a total of $90.47 was paid in taxes. At that time there were only 14 houses and not more than 100 inhabitants. John Crafts, one of the 14 taxpayers, paid more than one-half of the 1825 tax burden. His bill was $50 on property valued at $5,000.

Sergeant of New York State Police Slain by Suspect

Albany, N. Y., March 18.—(AP)—Sergt. John E. Frey of the state police was shot and killed tonight by one of two men another trooper had arrested as vagrants.

A Night Letter from Ring Lardner

Tucson, Ariz., March 18.—[Special.]—An exhausted carrier pigeon arrived here today with news from the states including the item that Bucky O'Connor of Notre Dame had been added to the Yale coaching staff, which already had a decisive majority over the players eligible for next fall. To avoid confusion among spectators and newspaper men it will now be necessary to number the coaches, perhaps with different colored numerals from those worn by the team. The engagement of all these expert mentors and the new schedule arrangement with Princeton seem kind of quaint when you recall the rumors that Yale was going to give up football entirely. The rumors probably originated with people who saw the New Haven team last autumn and thought they already had given it up. RING LARDNER.

Duluth, Minn., March 18.—(AP)—Navigation at the head of the lakes formally opened this afternoon when the fishing steamer Winyah cleared the Duluth canal on the first trip of the year to Isle Royale. A snowstorm Tuesday held up the departure of the fishing smack. The departure of the Winyah today marked the earliest opening of local navigation since 1914 and one of the few times navigation opened in March.

Pre-Campaign Poll

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Anton J. Cermak, Democratic nominee for mayor, obtained a larger lead in the straw vote of yesterday than on any previous day since THE TRIBUNE poll started eleven days ago.

The votes were collected at the motion picture theaters in the fifteen west side Democratic wards. Mr. Cermak did not obtain as high a percentage of the votes as the late William E. Dever obtained in these same wards in the mayoralty contest of 1923, but the poll indicates that Mayor Thompson has less than his usual strength in this Democratic stronghold.

In these fifteen wards—the 20th to the 27th, inclusive, the 29th to the 34th, inclusive, and the 38th—there was a total of 228,961 votes cast in the last mayoralty election. Dever carried these wards over Thompson in 1927, but it was by the slim margin of 5,889 votes.

Strong Democratic Wards.

This territory normally is almost two to one Democratic. Al Smith in the 1928 presidential campaign received 65.41 per cent of the votes in these fifteen wards, yet lost the city by a trifle more than 21,000 plurality. If that election is the measure of the true political character of these wards—and it probably is—Thompson in the 1927 mayoralty campaign picked up 29,902 Democratic votes in this area.

The significance of yesterday's poll is the indication that Thompson will not be able to duplicate the 1927 performance in the present fight. Instead of getting 46.40 per cent of the votes of these fifteen wards, as he did in 1927, the poll indicates that he would get 29.64 per cent if the election were held today.

Cermak Polls 69 Per Cent.

A total of 5,917 straw votes was collected at the theaters in the fifteen wards. A summary of this poll follows:

Cermak [Dem.]	4,120	69.63
Thompson [Rep.]	1,754	29.64
Stout [A. Nat'l]	43	.73
Totals	5,917	100.00

The theater poll in the 15 west side wards has been divided into two parts for the purpose of subsequent comparison and analysis in connection with later straw votes. The results in the first group follow:

Judging by the telephoned inquiries on the poll, interest in the election appears to be increasing as April 7 approaches. THE TRIBUNE pre-campaign poll will be concluded in a few days. Its purpose is to ascertain, if possible, the attitude of the public before the campaign starts.

CLINNIN URGES CERMAK VICTORY TO REDEEM CITY

Brig. Gen. John V. Clinnin, Republican chairman of the state boxing commission, issued a statement yesterday indorsing the Democratic nominee for mayor, A. J. Cermak.

"I believe his election is absolutely necessary to restore the good reputation of our city," he said. "If it were possible to calculate in money the actual financial cost of Chicago's blackened name the sum would be found stupendous.

"The world at large associates our reputation with the present city administration. Unless the present mayor is defeated on April 7 that opinion will remain and Chicago will continue to suffer. When the press of the world heralds the election of Cermak the editorial comment will most likely be unanimous that Chicago has at last risen to shake loose the evil forces that have given it a bad name.

"When Cermak enters the office of mayor Chicago's reputation will begin a steady upward climb in the opinion of all the world."

ADVISORY GROUP PRAISES FOREST PRESERVE RULE

Outlines Advances Made in Cermak Regime.

The advisory committee of the forest preserve commissioners, headed by Brig. Gen. Abel Davis, yesterday commended President A. J. Cermak and the other members of the county board for the spirit of coöperation accorded the committee since its creation four years ago. In a written statement given to Cermak the committee outlined the improvements and efficiency methods inaugurated during his régime.

The committee, composed of prominent citizens, was appointed by Cermak in January of 1927 to supervise the accounting and financial records, the purchase of lands and the general improvement program for the forest preserves.

Deny Excessive Land Prices.

The statement sets at rest rumors that have been circulated during political campaigns to the effect that excessive sums have been paid for lands. In this respect the statement, signed by Gen. Davis, says:

"An appraisal of each tract of land to be acquired by the forest preserve commissioners was secured from either the Chicago Real Estate board or the Cook County Real Estate board. In difficult situations appraisals were secured from both boards.

"Such appraisals were obtained by the advisory committee and by it transmitted to the commissioners.

Follow Board Estimates.

"If the price asked by the owner was equal to or less than the appraisal of the real estate boards the land was acquired by purchase, otherwise recourse was had to condemnation proceedings.

"Under this plan of procedure no lands have been purchased in excess of the appraised values except in a few instances where the excess cost was so slight that it was the judgment of the commissioners and our committee that it would be more than offset by the saving of attorney's fees and court costs of a condemnation suit."

Cermak Is Given Praise.

The committee members accepted the appointment on the condition that they would work unhampered by politics and that their recommendations would be carried out by the county commissioners. The statement declares that Cermak and the other commissioners have kept the agreement.

The statement also praises the work performed by Capt. Charles G. Sauers, superintendent of the forest preserves, who was appointed on the advice of the committee. Several of the commissioners had objected to the appointment of an "outsider"—Sauers was formerly assistant to the director of the department of conservation in Indiana—but the new superintendent was finally employed at the insistence of Cermak.

The adoption of a new system of bookkeeping and accounting, the selection of a controller for the forest preserve district, the utilization of the forest preserve lands, and the letting of construction contracts are other items which have been carried out by the commissioners on the advice and recommendation of the committee, the statement says.

Women from All Political Parties Unite for Cermak

Women voters of varying political faiths are uniting in an effort to assure the election of Anton J. Cermak, the Democratic candidate for mayor, it was noted yesterday by an observer who visited the Cermak women's organization headquarters in the Ashland block and the independent women's committee headquarters in the Hotel La Salle. The heads of both organizations reported that women all over the city were organizing for Cermak—ward groups, clubs, and civic organizations.

One of the busiest offices of the Cermak-for-mayor forces was the speakers' bureau of the independent women's committee. Miss Genevieve Corkell, a follower of Coroner Herman N. Bundesen, is chairman of the bureau. The women's committee is headed by Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank.

The list of speakers includes many members of the Deneen, Albert, Lyle, and Bundesen camps. Many are independents and Republicans who are uniting to throw their strength to Cermak. The majority of the speakers will attend a conference luncheon today as the guests of Mrs. James W. Morrisson at her home at 1431 North State street.

Among those who will serve on the speakers' bureau are Mrs. Quincy Wright, Mrs. Judith Lowenthal, Mrs. O. D. Landis, Mrs. Willa B. Laird, Mrs. Mabel V. Williard, Mrs. Mark Mears, Mrs. W. S. Hefferan, Mrs. Arthur Kasehagen, Mrs. William Bethke, Mrs. Julia Gehrke, Mrs. Josephine Engenhart, Miss Harriett Vittum, Mrs. Morrisson, Mrs. Gerhardt Meyne, Mrs. Helen Hanley Brown, Mrs. Caroline Gardner, Mrs. Cecil Barnes, Mrs. Henry Newfield, Mrs. Jewell B. Organ, Mrs. E. O. Brooks, Mrs. Charles B. Osswelier, Mrs. Benjamin F. Langworthy, Mrs. Walter Wolf, Mrs. Olive H. Rabe, Mrs. D. Connart, Mrs. Fairbank, Mrs. M. P. Gay, and others.

Plans for a series of teas to interest women in the election of Cermak were completed yesterday at the initial meeting of the Cermak Women's Progressive league, composed mostly of Jewish women.

Mrs. Louis Voller, president of the club, is a Republican. Among those on the committee for the teas are Mrs. Jacob Lindheimer, Mrs. L. J. Solomon, Mrs. A. Kaul, Mrs. Louis Aaron, Mrs. Harry Fisher, Mrs. S. J. Rosenblatt, Mrs. Max Korshak, Mrs. Moe Rosenberg, Mrs. Max Cooper, Mrs. M. Spagat, and Mrs. L. Klein.

The first affair will be held tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Korshak at 3565 Pine Grove avenue. All Jewish women residents of the north side have been invited. Judge Jay A. Schiller, Mrs. Margaret Donar, and Mrs. Joseph Gill will speak.

Independent and Republican women will be invited to a Cermak luncheon to be given at the Hotel Sherman on March 22 by the Illinois Woman's Democratic club. More than 2,500 women are expected to make reservations with Mrs. John S. Clark, general chairman of the luncheon committee. Cermak will be the guest of honor and speakers will include Judge Henry Horner, James E. Mullenbach, and Prof. Charles E. Merriam. Mrs. Elizabeth A. Conkey, president of the club, will preside.

Both sides of the mayoralty campaign will be heard at a dinner meeting of the Business Women's Republican club at the Woman's City club on March 31.

Independent and Republican women in the vicinity of Henry Booth house, 701 West 14th place, will hold a Cermak rally at the settlement at 3:30 p. m. March 28.

Dr. Bundesen will speak at a Cermak meeting to be held in the coroner's own ward on March 30. At 8 p. m., Republicans, independents, and others will meet in Bryn Mawr Community High school. Other speakers will include Mr. Cermak, Barnet Hodes, and Ross Woodhull. Miss Corkell will preside.

ASK RULING ON WOMAN JURORS IN HIGH COURT

The Illinois Supreme court will be asked to rule on the legality of women to serve on juries in Cook county, it was announced yesterday by Attorney Walter F. Dodd. The attorney said that he will bring the action at the request of the judges of the courts of record in the county.

Women jury service acts were passed by the general assembly in 1929 and were approved by popular vote at the election last November. The jury commissioners have already begun the preparation of lists upon which the names of eligible women will appear, but no women have as yet been summoned for jury duty in Cook county.

The chief issue to be determined, Attorney Dodd said, is that regarding the power of the general assembly to pass a general law to come into operation upon a favorable popular vote. The courts of several states have held that this is an unwarrantable delegation of power of the legislature.

Mechanics' Union Votes Indorsement of Cermak

The board of directors of the Auto and Aircrafts' Mechanics' union, local 1528, at a meeting last night in union headquarters, 2754 West Madison street, indorsed the mayoralty candidacy of A. J. Cermak. The union is composed of several thousand men, many of whom are employed directly or indirectly by the city. C. B. Cline, speaking for the directors, said: "The same motives prompt this action that led to our indorsement of the candidacy of Judge Lyle in the primaries. We feel that Thompson has not been a desirable mayor as far as union labor is concerned."

HUNT ROBBERS TO CLEAR UP NEWBY KILLING

Declare Finding of Auto Exonerates Friend.

Police investigating the murder of Miss Norma Newby were convinced yesterday with the finding of Frank J. Murray's automobile in Jonesville, Va., that Murray was not the slayer.

Murray had steadfastly insisted that two bandits kidnaped him and Miss Newby in Melrose Park on March 2, and drove them to the Elk Grove forest preserve, where Murray was beaten and Miss Newby slain. The woman's body was found in the preserve on Tuesday evening. Murray has described himself as a friend of the woman for many years.

Sheriff Thomas D. Fleenor of Jonesville notified Murray of the finding of the car, and the sheriff's descriptions of the two men who abandoned it on March 3 corresponded with those given by Murray to the county highway police.

Murray Held as Witness.

Chief William F. Collins of the highway police ordered the release of all persons held in the investigation except Murray. He announced that Murray was being held only as a witness for the inquest at 2 p. m. today at the county morgue. A writ of habeas corpus for Murray's release was filed in Chief Justice John P. McGoorty's court and made returnable for 11 o'clock today.

An autopsy performed upon the body of Miss Newby by Dr. I. M. Feinberg of the coroner's staff disclosed that she died of multiple fractures of the skull apparently caused by blows from the automobile wrench found beside her body. Dr. Feinberg also found a wound apparently made by a bullet which penetrated the flesh of the upper left arm.

The police believed that the kidnapers sought to attack Miss Newby after robbing her and her escort and that she was struck with the wrench when she struggled with them. Her clothing was disarranged but the postmortem examination did not show that she had been ravished.

Release Five Witnesses.

News of the finding of the automobile came to Murray by special delivery letter sent to his home at 1641 West Marquette road by Sheriff Fleenor. Murray informed Chief Collins, who immediately sent Lieut. Lester Laird to Virginia after the car and ordered the release of the five persons held as witnesses. These were Murray's wife, Sarah, and his brother, D. J. Murray, 5623 Sangamon street, an engineer, together with Arthur Doran, Miss Newby's fiancé, and his two brothers, Homer and Albert.

The apparent corroboration of Murray's story by the finding of the automobile led police to believe that robbery was the motive of the kidnapers. Descriptions of the bandits furnished by Sheriff Fleenor and by Murray are the only clews on which the police at present can base their search for them.

Coroner's Physician Clarence Muehlberger and Capt. Seth Wiard of the Northwestern university crime laboratory will examine scrapings from under the finger nails of the slain woman, the blood-stained soil, the wrench, and the bottle of moonshine whisky found on the scene, and Murray's automobile will be scrutinized for clews.

Witness in Murder Case.

Police also recalled that Miss Newby was a witness in 1924 in the Maybelle Exley-John Duffey murder case, having identified "Dapper" Dan McCarthy and Julian [Potatoes] Kaufman, and were considering the possibility of belated vengeance by friends of the men.

Miss Newby was then a waitress at 821 Roosevelt road. She testified that McCarthy, Kaufman, Duffey, and William Engelke appeared in the restaurant shortly after the killing of the Exley woman and left word for Dean O'Banion to call.

HOSTESS SEIZED

ELEANOR LANDERS.

Dry agents last night raided an alleged speakeasy and restaurant at 312 South Clark street. The speakeasy was operated in the basement of the restaurant known as the Court, according to the raiders. The place is near the federal building, and is said to be owned by "Sonny" Nagel, whose establishment at Clark and Maple streets was closed last fall by police.

Among those arrested were Miss Eleanor Landers, 26 years old, 524 Addison street, night hostess; James Wade, 674 North La Salle street, the manager, and Harold Russell, 7950 Wallace street, the doorman. Four other men were taken into custody. The dry agents, led by Deputy Administrator Arthur Hamilton, found a 75 foot bar, equipment valued at $10,000, and a supply of assorted liquors, they said. One of the entrance doors, Hamilton said, was protected with a mirror arrangement permitting the doorman to view prospective patrons. The raid was on a warrant issued by Commissioner Edwin Walker.

ACTS TO REMOVE ALL BUT 2 FROM MAYORALTY RACE

Election Board Excludes Minor Candidates.

BY PARKE BROWN.

By unanimous vote yesterday the Chicago board of election commissioners took action that is expected to clear the April 7 ballot of all mayoralty candidates except Mayor Thompson and A. J. Cermak.

The board barred from the ballot the names of four entrants whose only claim to places in the race were caucus certificates of nomination. Upon the unqualified opinion of its counsel, Edward F. Dunne, former governor, the board ruled that nominations for city offices could not be made by this method.

Examine Communist Petition.

The board also directed that examination of a petition upon which a communist ticket was based be continued. A preliminary examination by employés of the commissioners has indicated that the petition falls far short of the required number of valid signatures of registered voters. If further scrutiny proves this true the communists also will be kept off the ballot, leaving the mayoralty, city clerkship, city treasureship, and municipal judgeship races strictly two men contests.

The opinion of former Governor Dunne and the unanimous decision of the board, which consists of two Democrats, Chairman Fred V. Maguire and Harry A. Lipsky, and one Republican, Mrs. Mabel Gilmore Reinecke, was hailed with pleasure by civic organizations as well as the major political parties.

A specific political interest was shown in the fact that John Maynard Harlan had been barred from running under a "people's rights" label. It became known recently that the Thompson forces were anxious to have Harlan's name left on the ballot, their belief being that he would attract some anti-Thompson votes that otherwise would go to Cermak. Harlan was a mayoralty aspirant a quarter of a century ago.

Ends Numerous Candidacies.

The greater interest, however, of both the politicians and the civic organizations was in the apparent assurance that the new ruling had put an end to candidacies backed by only a handful of persons.

"If the caucus certificates had been held valid," said an attaché of the board, "there might have been 50 or even 100 caucus nominees for every office at the next and succeeding elections. In fact, there would have been no limit to the number. To maintain that a caucus nomination is valid is to contend that the cooperation of two, three, or four people gives a man as much right to a place on the ballot as the winner in a major primary in which hundreds of thousands of voters took part."

Former Gov. Dunne's opinion, in lay language, was that the Australian ballot act and the primary law, amended simultaneously in a manner that produced the recent confusion, must be construed together. Advocates of the caucus method argued that they could operate under the ballot law. Former Gov. Dunne held that the municipal offices toward which they aimed had not been excluded from the operation of the primary law. Under the primary law nominations may be made only in party primary elections or by petitions of voters who did not participate in those primaries.

It is expected the present confusion in the law will be remedied by the general assembly now in session.

Others Are Excluded.

In addition to Attorney Harlan, the mayoralty aspirants excluded from the ballot by the new ruling, were Ernest Stout, American National party; Charles J. Michal, "anti-chain store"; and John M. Collins, Socialist. In addition there were four candidates for city clerk, five for city treasurer, and five for municipal judge excluded from the April 7 election.

Thompson's promise of fireworks at his first noon meeting in the loop—at the Apollo yesterday—failed of fulfillment except for a disturbance outside the theater. When a Cermak truck, carrying a small band and covered with huge signs, arrived near the theater, the driver was dragged from his seat and the vehicle was held parked under police guard until a new chauffeur could be found. Nobody was injured seriously.

The crowd in the street and in the theater was herded there by city hall orders to its employés and to the unions belonging to its auxiliary, the Wage Earners' league. It was not so large as the crowd produced at a similar meeting which opened the primary but this was charged by some to the unfavorable weather.

His audience manifested disappointment after his half hour speech that he had not included any charges against his opponent, Cermak, except a statement that the new county jail and criminal court building cost $7,500,000 and could have been built for $2,500,000. His only other thrusts at Cermak were efforts to picture him as anti-Irish and anti-German.

Judge John J. Sullivan, chairman of the Cermak advisory committee, said that attacks of this character will not be answered by the candidate.

"Mr. Cermak has been in public life for 28 years," Judge Sullivan said, "and his record has been passed upon time and time again by men and women of all political parties and all walks of life."

Speaking before a meeting of real estate men at the Hotel La Salle, Cermak said, without referring to Thompson's charges, that the bids on the jail and court building were referred to a committee of 100 citizens and that construction was under the supervision of members of the Western Society of Engineers.

TWO HELD TO GRAND JURY.

Eugene Samowski, 32 years old, was held to the grand jury yesterday by Judge Frank M. Padden in the felony court on four charges of assault to rob. John Lisowski, 36 years old, was held on two charges of robbery. The bonds were fixed at $40,000 and $20,000 respectively.

MRS. WILLA LAIRD OPENS OFFICE TO SUPPORT CERMAK

MRS. WILLA LAIRD. [Rayhuff-Richter Photo.]

Mrs. Willa B. Laird, an independent, and a supporter of Ald. Arthur F. Albert for mayor in the primary, has established an office in the Cermak women's organization headquarters in the Ashland block.

Mrs. Laird, although allied with no political organization, said she has always voted the Republican ticket. She is a past president of the Illinois League of Women Voters.

"It is very important at this time that we have a change in administration in Chicago," Mrs. Laird said yesterday. "The economies that may be effected by efficient business management are absolutely essential to the progress of the city. I have not always been in agreement with Mr. Cermak's policies, but I believe in his business ability and anticipate that he will put Chicago's government on a thorough business basis."

Mrs. Laird and Mrs. James W. Morrisson, a Republican, will speak tomorrow at a meeting of Swedish women at the Drake hotel, where plans will be laid for a reception to be held on March 31 to which Mr. Cermak has been invited.

TAILORED AT FASHION PARK

Mrs. Ethel A. Cummings

Gracious hostess to a wide circle of friends, adored companion and mother to two charming daughters, Ethel and Virginia, and active manager of a prosperous real estate enterprise, Mrs. Ethel A. Cummings, 431 Oakdale Avenue, Chicago, still finds time to give real thought to her duties as a home-maker.

"Welch's to us is much more than a delicious drink," she says. "It is appetizing, energy-producing food as well—rich in health-giving vitamins. My daughters are extremely fond of it. Virginia especially has showed marked improvement in appetite since we made Welch's our daily habit."

for between-meal hunger

AT eleven in the morning or thereabouts—and again at four in the afternoon—do you feel "literally famished?" If so, then's the time to "drink a bunch of grapes." A generous glass of Welch's at these hunger-times will quickly revitalize your entire system.

Welch's is the pure juice of luscious fresh Concord grapes, ripened to full flavor under the October sun. It gives you the energizing "sweet" your body needs, without adding to your weight.

It abounds, too, in mineral salts, so vital to your health—all in Nature's most easily assimilable form. Wonderfully appetizing as a breakfast fruit. Drink all you want, any hour of the day or night; your health, your disposition will be all the better for it. It is mildly laxative and non-fattening.

Six servings in every pint—a large cluster of sweet fresh Concords in every glassful. Many prefer it with one-third water added. Just be careful to say Welch's, so that you may be sure to get pure unadulterated grape juice, tempting, delicious!

Welch's "by-the-bunch" is now available in the 10c Junior, the new sampler size, convenient for a single serving. It is the concentrated goodness of one and a quarter bunches of full-ripe Concords. Ask for Welch's at leading fountains, hotels, clubs and restaurants. Include it in your diet for one month—then check results. The pint bottle at 30c is most economical for household use. Write for health-and-weight-control booklet... Welch's, Dept. CT-2 Westfield, N. Y.

COL. ANDERSON EXPLAINS PLAN OF RUM CONTROL

Says Dry Enforcement Is Hopeless Task.

A thousand Chicago industrial executives, churchmen and educators sat down at a banquet in the Stevens hotel last night to learn from a member of the Wickersham commission on law enforcement how the evils of prohibition may be stamped out by closing the liquor market to the bootleggers and stopping the financial support of organized crime.

The Wickersham commission member was Col. Henry W. Anderson of Richmond, Va., who was invited here by the Industrial club and the Chicago Association of Commerce to explain his plan of government control of liquor, a plan accepted by the Wickersham group as the most promising of success if modification is to be attempted.

Favors State Sale.

"We have eliminated the legalized saloon," said Col. Anderson. "We must now take another step forward and eliminate the bootlegger, the speakeasy, and the other aspects of this illegal traffic by eliminating their huge profits and bringing into action against them the irresistible forces of the economic law."

The "Anderson plan," as it has come to be known since it was submitted to congress with the Wickersham report, involves the appointment of a bipartisan commission to fix the alcoholic content and the selling prices of all liquors, the state governments to be the selling agents as in Sweden and in parts of Canada.

Col. Anderson proposes that revenues thus derived by the state and federal governments should be used for the development of public health, elimination of slums, the development of education, and other purposes designed to remove the unsocial conditions induced by excessive use of liquor.

Make Rum Pay for Control.

"Instead of permitting these enormous revenues to go to the criminal classes for the purpose of tearing down government and destroying social order and then spending millions in undertaking to enforce the law and to control crime," said Col. Anderson, "the liquor traffic should be required to pay the expenses of its regulation and control and in addition provide revenues for the conquest of crime.

"The fundamental causes for the failure of this law, such as the attitude of public opinion, the character of the law itself, the social and physical conditions to which it is to be applied, and the economic laws to which its operation are subject, are all beyond the control of the government.

"So long as these conditions exist—and there appears to be no way by which they can be remedied—there is little ground for the hope that the eighteenth amendment or national prohibition will be observed or can be effectively enforced."

See Conditions Growing Worse.

The hope that prohibition can be enforced, he declared, is an illusion, for conditions are getting worse, instead of better. The only solution of the problem, he said, is effective control of traffic.

President Elmer Stevens of the Industrial club, in introducing the speaker stated that in the Anderson plan there appeared to be a "way out" of Chicago's crime problem.

"In studying the subject of crime in Chicago," he said, "we find ourselves always coming back to the same realization, that there is a definite hook up between organized crime and government and we fear that our government is breaking down. It seems to us as sane, temperate citizens that in the Anderson plan there is a way out of our difficulty."

NAME 54 IN ACTION AGAINST N. Y. LIQUOR PRESCRIPTION RING

New York, March 18.—[Special]—The federal grand jury and the federal attorney's office took drastic steps today to break up the liquor prescription racket in New York City. Eighteen indictments naming forty-one individuals charged with violating the prohibition laws were handed up to Judge Alfred C. Coxe by the grand jury, and at the same time Assistant Federal Attorney U. S. Grant filed informations, having the same force as an indictment, against twelve physicians charging them with unlawfully issuing whisky prescriptions.

The indictments contained the names of thirteen drug store proprietors and two clerks, and there was additional information filed against another individual charging possession of liquor, making a total of fifty-four persons against whom the government has taken action.

All charges grow out of a succession of raids made under the direction of Special Agent Horace J. Simmons of the treasury department on Feb. 25 in Brooklyn, Manhattan, and the Bronx. Thousands of signed prescription blanks were seized, and Federal Attorney George Medalie indicated today that more indictments and informations were to be filed as the investigation progresses.

Chief among those indicted as alleged ringleaders of the prescription racket are Morris Sweetwood, ex-convict, named in two indictments charging sale and transportation of ten gallons of whisky, and Nathan Bernstein, named in thirteen indictments charging him with almost every prohibition violation on the books, including conspiracy, maintaining a nuisance, improper use of whisky prescriptions, unlawful sale, and obtaining whisky for unlawful purposes.

The informations filed against the doctors take the place of indictments and charge them with violating the terms of their permits by unlawfully issuing whisky prescriptions. The informations all contain more than one count. Each count involves the issuance of a single prescription, and upon conviction the doctor involved will face a maximum fine of $500 on each count.

PROBE NEWBERRY PHONE CALLS FOR CAPONE CLEWS

Special federal prohibition agents yesterday were investigating long distance telephone calls discovered by detectives of the state's attorney's racket bureau in a raid on a loop hotel headquarters of Ted Newberry, Capone liquor lieutenant. Some of the calls were to Florida and the agents are seeking to learn whether any of them were received by Al Capone at his Palm Island estate.

Records of 500 calls and a list of telephone numbers were discovered in the raid. Lieut. Roy Steffens said his men were investigating the calls and numbers, and that they were turned over to the federal authorities because their nature indicated the operation of a bootlegging syndicate.

Apparently forewarned of the raid, Newberry and his men had fled from their third floor corner suite, occupied since Feb. 20, a few hours before the raid.

All incoming calls were received in code, the caller asking for "Number 11," and as many as 100 a day were received, Lieut. Steffens said.

Los Angeles Press Club Raided and Beer Seized

Los Angeles, Cal., March 18.—[Special.]—Federal prohibition agents today raided the Los Angeles Press club on the thirteenth floor of a Beverly boulevard building, arrested five employés and seized a quantity of beer, a brewing plant and other apparatus. Twenty one gallon crocks of beer mash and 203 bottles of beer were confiscated.

SENATE PASSES 3 WET BILLS IN DAY AT ALBANY

Anti-Drys Are Surprised at Own Strength.

Albany, N. Y., March 18.—[Special.]—Enjoying the greatest field day they have had since the eighteenth amendment was written into the federal constitution, the wet forces in the state senate rushed three anti-prohibition measures through that chamber today, at the same time revealing that they constitute at least a two to one majority of the senate.

They first adopted the Smith resolution memorializing congress to submit the question of repeal of the eighteenth amendment to constitutional conventions in the several states. This they did by a vote of 32 to 18, and then, amazed at their own strength, the wets immediately put up three other anti-dry measures, two of which were passed by wide margins.

The wet strength was slightly reduced on the Hastings bill lifting the limit from medicinal liquor prescriptions, but the measure went through by a vote of 29 to 19.

The next wet bill passed was the Cuvillier measure petitioning congress to submit the question of repeal of the eighteenth amendment to a national constitutional convention. Both the Smith resolution and the Cuvillier bill have already been passed by the assembly, and that chamber's approval of the Hastings bill is virtually assured.

Wets Claim Victory.

St. Paul, Minn., March 18.—(AP)—Opponents of the prohibition law claimed a victory today after the state senate adopted a minority report of its temperance committee recommending passage of a bill to define intoxicating liquor. The vote was 40 to 27.

The bill, an amendment to the state prohibition law, would make the state's definition of intoxicating liquor, now one-half of 1 per cent alcohol by volume, conform to the national definition should congress change the present definition in the Volstead act.

Any public official publicly using or possessing intoxicatig liquor would forfeit his office under a bill introduced in the house by Representative John E. Regan, Mankato.

Liquor Measure Killed.

Boston, Mass., March 18.—(AP)—The state senate today killed a bill designed to define intoxicating beverages as only those which contain in excess of 4½ per cent of alcohol. The vote was 11 to 19.

Dry Amendments Denounced.

Providence, R. I., March 18.—(AP)—The Rhode Island house of representatives this afternoon unanimously passed a bill conveying to congress a denunciation of the 18th amendment as un-American and crime breeding.

Before the vote was taken Republicans and Democrats united in an amendment to the bill directing their delegation in congress to initiate and support legislation calling for constitutional conventions with a view to repealing or modifying the 18th amendment.

Dry Repealer Faces Battle in Illinois Senate Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., March. 18.—[Special.]—The O'Grady-McDermott repealer of the Illinois prohibition law was placed on the senate calendar this evening and liberals and drys prepare for a battle tomorrow when it comes up on second reading. The measure was reported out of the senate license committee by a vote of 13 to 7, with a recommendation that it pass.

Tonight calls were sent out for all members to be in their seats tomorrow to head off any effort to tack on a 1932 referendum clause. The bill is then to be put to a vote next Tuesday as a special order.

Liberals were apprehensive that if they are not present in full force tomorrow, when the bill comes up on second reading, the drys might try to slip a referendum over, and word was sent out not to nap at the switch.

Senators in Clash.

In the evening session, Senator Victor P. Michel [Rep., Peoria], head of the license committee, had a brisk controversy with Senator Andrew S. Cuthberton [Rep., Bunker Hill]. Mr. Michel proposed to take the bill up on second reading next Tuesday afternoon and pass it Wednesday morning.

"That would be jamming it through at too high speed," objected Mr. Cuthbertson.

"All right, then," said Senator Michel, "we'll take it on second reading tomorrow, then pass it next Tuesday right over your head."

In sending the bill out favorably the license committee hyphenated it and informally labeled it the "O'Grady-McDermott" bill to allay any discordant claims of parentage between Representative Thomas J. O'Grady and Senator Frank McDermott, both Democrats, from the same Chicago district, and both authors of repeal bills. The O'Grady bill passed the house Feb. 10 by 91 to 56.

Liberals Claim Margin.

The liberals, after a recount of senatorial noses, tonight claimed 27 votes are lined up for the bill—26 is a majority.

In reporting the bill out of license committee two downstate senators, Chairman Michel and E. P. Kline [Dem., East St. Louis], voted favorably. The other eleven favorable votes, all from Cook county, were cast by:

J. B. Leonardo [Rep.], Daniel A. Serritella [Rep.], P. J. Caroll [Dem.], W. F. Killpneister [Dem.], R. V. Graham [Dem.], Frank J. Huckin [Dem.], F. J. Loughran [Dem.], Joseph Mendel [Dem.], Edward P. O'Grady [Dem.], Frank McDermott [Dem.], and Roy C. Woods [Rep.].

The seven downstate senators who voted negatively were:

U. S. REFUSES TO LIFT SACRAMENT WINE RULING

Washington, D. C., March 18.—[Special.]—There will be no modification in the treasury's regulations pertaining to the distribution of sacramental wine, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Seymour Lowman announced today, following conferences with representatives of Jewish rabbis of New York, some of whom sought changes in the restrictions.

The principal objection was to a provision requiring that the rabbi report to the bureau of industrial alcohol a list of those of his congregation to whom he distributed wine.

Some rabbis have declined to submit these reports. Further issues of wine have been refused to those rabbis.

SPANIARDS RIOT; KING REPRIEVES REBEL BY PHONE

Police Swing Sabers on Protesting Students.

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, March 18.—After a day of violent student riots in the capital and at Saragossa, and threats of trouble on a larger scale it was evident tonight that the government announcement this afternoon that Capt. Salvador Sediles, who was condemned to death at Jaca last night, would not die came none too soon.

The royal decree, telephoned by King Alfonso from London, commuting the sentence passed on Capt. Sediles for his rôle in last December's abortive uprising to life imprisonment will appear in the Royal Gazette tomorrow morning.

But before this was made known students clashed with armed police in Madrid, frightened storekeepers had lowered their shutters, and the Socialist unions served an ultimatum on the government in which the menace of a general strike was made clear.

Defense Lawyer Arrested.

All is calm again tonight, although the university has been closed down, but the government seems to have prepared the way for a new protest by the public in arresting Capt. Domingo, a young lawyer, whose defense of Capt. Sediles caused such excitement during the court martial. Capt. Domingo faces a six months' correctional sentence for his zeal in the defense.

Two other defense lawyers, it is rumored, have also been arrested.

Capt. Domingo in an impassioned speech argued that the men who rose to restore national rights could not be considered rebels, that true rebels were those who broke the constitution. He was called to order twice and was only allowed to continue when he threatened to throw up his brief.

Police Charge Students.

During today's riots, "death to the king" was the battle cry. Police and mounted civil guards used the flats of their sabers freely. A number of minor injuries were recorded and scores of youngsters were dragged to jail, from which they were soon released. The disturbance had reached dangerous proportions when the civil governor appeared on the balcony of the palace and announced that the sentence had been commuted. Wild cheers greeted the announcement.

In the Plaza del Pilar at Saragossa one hothead stood on a bench and asked for a moment's silent prayer to the virgin of Pilar, the protector of Saragossa, whose shrine is reputed to be most potent, and appealed for her aid in a petition for mercy. A number of rioters were badly bruised.

Report Officials Dissatisfied.

High officials of the ministry of the interior and the civil guards who are charged with preserving order in Spain are reported to be discontented with the turn of events. They had brought the utmost pressure to bring about at least one execution to serve as an example, but even the reactionaries and members of the government, like Juan de la Cierva, saw the folly of that.

The trial of Alcala Zamora and the revolutionary committee is set for Friday. At the prison today republican chieftains said they were sure that the trial would not take place for many days.

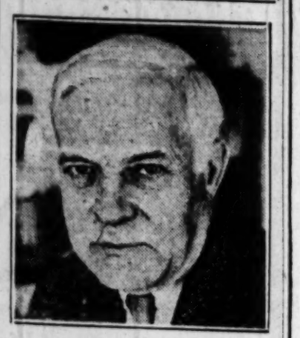
WOMAN SUES AS WIFE OF INDIANA MILITARY CHIEF

Greenfield, Ind., March 18.—[Special.]—Hearing of a suit by Mrs. Ethel Williams Henley against Manford Grant Henley, adjutant general of Indiana, in which she seeks to force him to support her, opened in Circuit court here today on a change of venue from Indianapolis. Henley denies he ever married the plaintiff.

Mrs. Henley gave a detailed account of events on the day in September, 1929, in Toledo, O., when she said she was married to Henley. She testified she went there with the intention of marrying him, but that after they had talked over the matter she grew hesitant when she found Henley was more than $16,000 in debt and when he also proposed that the marriage be a secret one and that he use a slight alteration in his name on the marriage records.

She testified that after discussing the matter in the courthouse with Henley she finally changed her mind and that after obtaining the marriage certificate they were married about 2 p. m.

TO GREET HOOVER



Dr. Paul M. Pearson, sworn in as governor of the Virgin islands, which President Hoover will visit.
[Acme Photo.]

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ST. THOMAS, Virgin Islands, March 18.—Before a huge crowd in Emancipation park today, Dr. Paul Martin Pearson of Philadelphia was inaugurated first civil governor of the islands, replacing the naval administration of Capt. Waldo Evans.

Following the oath of office, which was administered by Judge Prentice Edrington of the First District court, the new governor was greeted with a salute of 17 guns. The throng cheered and the band struck up "The Star-Spangled Banner," followed by native songs.

In his inauguration speech, Gov. Pearson asked for the coöperation of the people in determining what immediate relief is needed on the islands. He said he could promise many things, but only the intelligent industry of the people could accomplish them. Previously, in his farewell address, Capt. Evans expressed regret at leaving the islands and promised to continue his interest in their problems. The members of the cabinet were then sworn in, after which there was a reception at the government house.

PORTO RICO BARS HIGH HATS WHEN HOOVER ARRIVES

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, March 18.—(AP)—When President Hoover visits Porto Rico there will be no high hats or tail coats at his reception.

The President has approved the suggestion of Gov. Roosevelt that the warmth of the climate and the fact that the President is on a vacation precludes formal dress.

Islanders heard gladly today that wash suits and straw hats would be the proper attire in which to greet the second President to visit Porto Rico. Gov. Roosevelt said he was particularly happy at the decision because he had neither a silk hat nor a frock coat. After his inauguration in October, 1929, he loaned his hat to a member of his cabinet for an official visit to Santo Domingo. The cabinet member came back, but not the hat.

State to Oppose Parole Plea of Mrs. Price Today

Assistant State's Attorney Walker Butler left for Springfield last night to appear as State's Attorney Swanson's representative before the board of pardons and paroles in opposing any parole of Mrs. Laura B. Price. The board is to hear a plea for clemency today. She was convicted some months ago by Judge Hugo Friend of a charge of conspiracy to have her jewelry stolen to collect the insurance. Although under a six months' jail sentence she has been at liberty on an appeal of the case.

TELL ERRORS OF A CHIROPRACTOR TO STATE BOARD

5 Doctors Describe How Three Died.

BY WALTER FITZMAURICE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Mount Carroll, Ill., March 18.—[Special.]—Four country doctors of this vicinity and a specialist from Freeport testified against Lieut. Col. Ray H. McMahan of the army reserve corps today at a hearing before the state medical board for revocation of his license as a chiropractor.

McMahan, who is charged with malpractice in his treatment of four members of the Zink family, well to do German farmers of nearby Pleasant Valley, averted his eyes or scribbled notes as the doctors testified. The testimony dealt mainly with the reported sufferings of his patients under McMahan's ministrations, sufferings which, according to the state's theory, ended in the death of three of the Zinks and incurable paralysis for the fourth. The dead are Basil and Eliza Zink and their daughter, Emma, and the paralytic is their son, George.

Chiropractor on Stand.

The chiropractor was in the witness chair for two hours this evening, relentlessly questioned by the board members. The hearing closed at 8 p. m. The chairman, Dr. M. L. Harris of Chicago, then announced that state and defense might have 30 days in which to submit written arguments, whereupon the board would hand down its decision.

In the opinion of most observers, McMahan was his own worst witness. Contradicting the opinion of the four country doctors and the specialist, who said cancer caused the death of Emma Zink, he solemnly declared that in his opinion she died as a result of the indifference of her own family. As one delivering a devastating indictment, he gave this statement:

"Emma Zink, weighing 118 pounds, killed herself by her nursing of her sick brother, George, who weighed 200 pounds. To see this frail little woman moving this 200 pound man around made me think of a sparrow turning over an elephant. If any one was responsible for her death it was her family."

Calls Girl Hysterical.

McMahan followed with a still more startling statement. His reason for taking Emma to Gilbert Collingwood, now awaiting sentence for practicing chiropractic without a license; to "Doctor" Chester Tilton, whom the American Medical association calls a quack, and to the much criticized Baker institute of Muscatine, Ia., was for fear Emma's dread of legitimate hospitals and surgeons would drive her to suicide.

"One summer afternoon I was taking her to see Dr. Tilton at Lyons, Ia.," he related. "I had been talking hospitals to her and she evidently believed I was taking her to one. She demanded I stop the car in the middle of the bridge and was about to jump into the Mississippi when I grabbed her."

Emma Zink, the chiropractor averred was "anemic, neurotic, and hysterical, but her hysteric spells occurred only in my office, and she always picked a soft spot to fall on." As for the parents, he dismissed their deaths with the observation that both were old and would have died under anybody's care.

Brother Demands Right to Answer.

When he had finished, Emma's brother, Basil Zink, one of the earlier witnesses, strode up to one of the lawyers with fists clenched and demanded the right to return to the stand. His sister was dead and his brother at home paralyzed, unable to testify, Basil said, leaving him their only defender. The lawyer pacified him by saying he didn't believe any defense necessary.

Because of snow blocked roads the board was delayed and the hearing did not open until after noon.

Country Physician Called.

Philip Ringer of Chicago, assistant attorney general in charge of license revocations, beckoned to his first witness, Dr. R. W. Wood, a white haired country physician in general practice for 34 years at Stockton, took the witness chair.

McMahan, who was sitting within arm's reach, turned the other way. At a table before them sat the medical board with Dr. Harris in the center and on either side Drs. Gilbert Fitzpatrick, A. H. Geiger, and J. R. Neale, with J. W. Dugger of Springfield, chiropractic member, at the end.

"I was called to the Zink place on an April night last year," Dr. Wood began. "I found the old gentleman in bed, barely breathing and in a semi-comatose condition. Two nights later I returned and found him practically dying."

His Diagnosis Heart Disease.

Q.—Did you make a diagnosis, doctor. A.—I examined him and found a chronic endocarditis. The daughter, Emma, was present, acting extremely nervous and almost hysterical.

Q.—Was anything said with reference to prior treatment of Mr. Zink? A.—The boys said Dr. McMahan had been treating him for pneumonia, applying hot and cold pads. I detected no evidence of pneumonia in my examination. The patient died that night and I signed a death certificate giving endocarditis as the cause of death.

Q.—Did you examine George Zink? A.—Yes, I looked him over and found a helpless paralytic. I examined his throat and found the larynx congested with the membranes burned and seared.

Q.—Did you examine Emma Zink. A.—Yes, she had been at the Baker institute at Muscatine, Ia., for treatment and I saw her on her return. She was suffering from an advanced stage of mammary carcinoma (breast cancer).

Tells of Prior Treatment.

Dr. Carl Snyder, Freeport specialist, was next called. He said the Zink family had called him to their home in October, 1930, to treat Emma. He found her suffering from a malignant cancer, but refrained from a thorough examination because of the extreme pain and weakness she was suffering.

Q.—Was there any conversation regarding prior treatment? A.—Yes, the family said McMahan had taken her first to Drs. Lester Tilton and Lyons and then to the Baker institute. Dr. Tilton, it seemed, had prescribed some sort of salve, which did no good.

Q.—When did you first see Miss Emma Zink? A.—She came to my office in June, 1929, and wanted me to examine two lumps on her body. She said the pain and the lumps were growing and asked my opinion. I told her it could only be cancer. Regarding the possibility of cure, I told her if she consulted a competent specialist she could have a 50-50 chance of recovery. I made an appointment for her to see a Freeport surgeon the next day, but in the meantime one of the family called up and told me I was wrong—that another doctor had assured them there was no cancer.

Proves Damaging Witness.

Dr. J. D. Runkel, the Stockton physician, who attended Emma shortly before her death and who signed the death certificate, proved the most damaging witness of the afternoon.

Q.—When did you treat Emma Zink? A.—About Oct. 1 of last year. I found her in bed in a pitiable emaciated condition. I diagnosed the trouble and told her the only chance she had was for radium treatment.

Q.—Did she say anything of prior treatment? A.—She said Dr. McMahan had been treating her for anemia and had gone so far as to tell her that any doctor telling her she had cancer should be kicked out of town. McMahan was using some sort of lights in his treatment and had promised to have her out of bed in two weeks.

Basil Zink was next called.

After covering the incidents previously described by the doctors, Basil told of McMahan's treatment of his brother's throat with the violet ray. In addition to the electric treatment the chiropractor also administered "adjustments" which, it developed, consisted of rocking the patient's head and tapping the neck with a mallet.

Regarding George Zink, Basil said he was at home "in very bad condition," unable to walk and scarcely able to sit up in a chair.

Basil gave a vivid description of his mother's death, with himself, his sisters, and McMahan in attendance. The mother died five days after the elder Basil Zink.

U. S. Flyers to Hunt Missing in Viking Disaster

BERNT BALCHEN TO FLY AID TO VICTIMS OF VIKING EXPLOSION

BULLETIN.

Boston, March 19.—(AP)—Bernt Balchen, who arrived early this morning to pilot a relief air expedition to Horse Island, N. F., where the Viking survivors are marooned, after looking over the plane said that he could not leave before midnight tonight. Additional gas tanks to give the plane a capacity of 400 gallons, and a cruising range of at least seven hours must be installed, he said.

New York, March 19.—[Special.]—With seven ice breakers and sealers well nigh helpless in the ice floes surrounding Horse island, where 118 survivors of the Viking disaster are threatened with starvation, an airplane expedition, to be led by Bernt Balchen, famous aviator, and F. Merion Cooper, war flyer and explorer, was hurriedly prepared here last night to fly to the scene with a load of food and medical supplies for the sufferers and to hunt for Varick Frissell, missing motion picture adventurer. Two pilots and three mechanics took off from here shortly after midnight for Boston, where the mechanics will tune up a big Sikorsky amphibion obtained for the emergency from Colonial Airways.

Balchen was located at New London, Conn. He agreed instantly to the plan. Cooper, a close friend of Frissell, and another friend whose name was not obtained, took a night train for Boston and Balchen planned to come down and meet them.

Survivors of Viking Wreck Stranded on Island.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., March 18.—(AP)—Seven stout ships of the far north poked their noses against an enormous ice barrier today, trying in vain to carry aid to tiny Horse island, over which hovered a threat of starvation and death.

On the island, without medical aid or proper food supplies, huddled 118 survivors of the explosion that sank the sealer Viking Sunday in White bay, Newfoundland.

Aboard two of the rescue ships were six other survivors. Some of them were in agony from injuries and all of them faint from exposure to the cold.

Order Relief Carried Over Ice.

The government tonight ordered a combined expedition of the sealing ships' crews to attempt early tomorrow morning to cross the ice floes from their vessels to Horse island. Doctors, nurses, medical supplies and food will go in the caravan of succor, offering the castaways the first relief since they were blown out of the Viking Sunday.

Every hour hour, it was indicated, had brought new suffering and a more acute crisis to the island refugees. H. R. C. Lake, minister of marine of Newfoundland, ordered the crossing some hours after it had been determined that to undertake such an adventure would be too perilous. However, the utter inability of relief ships to penetrate the heavy crust of ice around the island made the move imperative.

At the same time, the marine official ordered the able-bodied among the Viking refugees on the island to walk out on the ice to meet the relief expedition, bearing with them as many as possible of the injured, who, it was directed, were to be assisted to the ship Sagona. The Viking's crew who are unhurt then will proceed, with supplies thus delivered to them, back to Horse island until further relief can be afforded.

Put Curb on Communications.

The seriousness of conditions on Horse island was emphasized when the government stopped all press and private messages between it and the outside world. The island's lone wireless operator, fatigued from a two day vigil, was told to conserve his strength for messages designed to procure steel ships to penetrate the ice barrier.

Skipper Abram Kean Jr., pale and ill from the loss of his ship and the harrowing experiences that followed, appealed for quick shipments of medical supplies and food. From the island he sent a message declaring the handful of women residents were exhausted from caring for the sick in cramped quarters. There are only five houses there and no doctor.

Find Body in Wreckage.

A body found by the sealer Eagle amid the wreckage of the Viking today was identified as that of Patrick Bartlett of Brigus. Identification was made through a letter found in his pocket. The body was the first recovered of a score feared dead. The best available information early tonight from all sources gave the following tally: Rescued, 124; dead, 1; missing, 19.

A message received from the sealer Eagle, which had been plowing through the ice floes in search of survivors, reported that the wreckage had been found apparently in the exact spot where the explosion splintered the vessel Sunday night. The spot was littered with shattered timber, canned goods, cabin fittings and the personal belongings of the approximately 144 persons believed to have been aboard. The Eagle reported that she was about 25 miles southeast of Horse island in a heavy packed ice floe and making little progress.

In the event the vessel carried more than its recorded complement of 144, the missing list would be swelled accordingly. The number on board has been reported from that figure up to 153.

Three Survivors Picked Up.

Among those still to be accounted for are Varick Frissell, young New Yorker who went north to film the romantic sealing industry; Alexander G. Penrod, New York cameraman; Dr. Roach, ship's doctor; three engineers, six firemen, six sealers, and one stowaway, a 12 year old boy, Edward Cronin of St. John's.

This forenoon the sealing ship Bonavista picked up a dory in which three men had ridden the waves since the blast cast them adrift. They were W. G. Johnson, master watch; Alfred Kean, second hand, and Fred Best, helper in the movie party.

All were slightly injured, but came through the experience surprisingly well. Three others, including Harry Sargent, explorer-actor and companion of Frissell, were picked up on drifting wreckage yesterday.

KILLED IN FALL AT HOME.

Patrick Lally, 50 years old, former foreman in the city water works department, was killed yesterday in a fall at his home, 538 North Wells street.

ILLINOIS STARTS CONGRESSIONAL UNITS REMAPPING

27 Districts Are Planned by Committee.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., March 18.—[Special.]—A remap of the congressional districts was taken up tonight by a joint subcommittee of both houses with a view of having a tentative redistricting scheme in shape for presentation within the next two weeks. Sol P. Roderick [Rep., Chicago] and Richard J. Lyons [Rep., Mundelein] called on the legislative reference bureau to prepare a map carving Illinois into 27 districts, on a ratio of about 283,000 population each.

Members of congress are already manifesting interest and Congressman Charles Adkins [Rep., Decatur] and Burnett M. Chiperfield [Rep., Canton] dropped in at the house sessions. The present districts are thirty years old. Although Illinois has 27 congressmen it has only 25 districts, the reason why two congressmen are elected at large.

Cook Has Ten Seats.

Cook county, with 52 per cent of the population, has only 10 seats and Lake county is included. All told the population shifts have been such that in five Chicago rotten boroughs and eight small downstate districts 927,000 voters have 13 district congressmen. In the remaining 12 districts 2,084,000 voters have twelve district congressmen.

With 52 per cent of the population Cook county would be entitled to 14 of the 27 seats.

Debate State Remapping.

The activities on congressional redistricting followed a long debate this morning upon reapportionment of the districts from which members of the state legislature are elected. The discussion was upon the Schnackenberg resolution for a joint commission to prepare a map on a "fair and just" basis. Action was deferred until next Tuesday, when it is a special order.

Elmer J. Schnackenberg [Rep., Chicago] declared that Gov. L. L. Emmerson told him he would sign any sort of a reapportionment bill the assembly passes. In his message, the governor advocated restriction for Cook county in the legislature, but he takes the position that the issue is one to be decided by the legislators.

"I talked with the governor yesterday," said Mr. Schnackenberg, "and he told me for quotation that he will sign any bill the legislature sends to him on this subject. He says the constitution lays a mandatory duty upon the legislature to reapportion. Although he urged limitation in his message, he says he will sign any bill that goes through.

"Four great principles in relation to human rights form the foundation of our form of government. They are proportionate representation, religious liberty, trial by jury, and habeas corpus.

"These four principles are to Americans what the ten commandments are to the church. To violate any one of these principles is to undermine the institutions which America has nourished through the years.

War Representation Cited.

"The Supreme court has said the duty is mandatory upon the legislature to reapportion the state every ten years as prescribed by the constitution. Yet this mandate has been openly violated by the assembly for years. Not since 1901 has there been a reapportionment. One district in Chicago has 49,925 population, while another has 563,231. Yet each has one senator and three representatives.

"This is a clear repudiation of the principle of proportionate representation. You might as well repudiate the right of trial by jury, or habeas corpus, or religious liberty.

"There was no denial of representation in the war. Of 322,416 men and women of Illinois who served in the war, 163,827 were from downstate and 158,589 from Cook county. If the people of Cook county are called on to fight for the nation on an equal basis with downstate citizens, they are entitled in peace times to participate equally with downstate in the running of the state government."

Arthur Roe [Dem., Vandalia] and Truman Snell [Dem., Carlinville] declared the constitution is not mandatory, but discretionary in the matter of reapportionment.

"We think charity begins at home," said Mr. Snell, "and that Chicago should first reapportion its own wards before it asks senatorial reapportionment."

Mr. Roe said downstate was scared of Chicago under the Thompson régime.

"I believe Cermak is the man to do this job of cleaning up the city," he said. "The people downstate will feel more comfortable and at home when going to church with some else mayor than Thompson and his political machine."

YOUNG SUNDAY AND HIS THIRD WIFE SEPARATE

Los Angeles, Cal., March 18.—(AP)—Billy Sunday Jr., son of the evangelist, and his third wife have ceased living together, they said today.

It is merely a "trial separation," however, they said, and a divorce is not contemplated. Both said there had been no marital difficulties, that they see each other every day and are on friendly terms.

Mrs. Nina Sunday was married to Billy Jr. in Mexico City last year.

FREIGHTER RAMS ANOTHER; SEVEN SEAMEN PERILED

New York, March 19.—[Special.]—Seven seamen asleep in the forecastle of the 3,000 ton coastwise freighter Arminda, owned by the Hedger Transportation company, were injured and narrowly escaped death late last night when the prow of the 10,000 ton British freighter Silver View tore through the bulkheads of their vessel in the Narrows, about midway between Fort Hamilton on the Brooklyn shore and Fort Wadsworth on Staten island.

The British skipper kept the nose of his ship in the great hole his vessel had made for fear the Arminda might fill and sink. He stood on the bridge and shouted to Capt. John Morgan of the smaller boat:

"What shall I do? Do you think you can stay up if I pull away?"

Capt. Morgan asked him to keep his position until an inspection could be made.

After looking his craft over Capt. Morgan returned to the bridge and ordered the British skipper to pull away.

U. S. Meat Consumption Is Lowest in 11 Years

Washington, D. C., March 18.—(AP)—The average American ate less meat last year than at any time in eleven years. The agricultural department announced today the per capita consumption of meats was 131.7 pounds, as compared with 136.8 in 1929 and 130 in 1919.

SEEKING VOTES IN LEGISLATURE FOR TAX RELIEF

Lawmakers Asked to Stay and Insure Action.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., March 18.—[Special.]—The special plea that assemblymen remain here tonight and vote tomorrow for passage of the administration bill allowing the state to issue tax anticipation warrants, and keep open the doors of the University of Illinois, was made on the floor of the house today by Representative Homer J. Tice, chairman of the appropriations committee.

The bill was introduced yesterday and represents the first time in history that the state has found itself so short of funds that such a heroic measure had to be adopted. The administration wants it passed immediately by both house and senate so that a test case of its legality may be presented in the Illinois Supreme court in April. An emergency measure, it requires 102 votes for advancement tomorrow.

Eight Hour Law Approved.

Late this afternoon the senate committee on industrial affairs placed its stamp of approval on the women's eight hour law, voting the bill back with a unanimous recommendation that it pass. The action was taken after representatives of the Illinois Manufacturers' association had argued against the recommendation in a long session.

In the house judiciary committee the anti-ticket scalping bill entered by Representative Edward Skarda [Dem., Chicago] was reported out with a favorable recommendation and no debate. This would prevent the sale of a ticket for any entertainment at a price higher than that printed on the ticket.

72 Bills Introduced.

Bills introduced in the senate included a huge bundle—seventy-two of them—presented by Senator Andrew S. Cuthbertson [Rep., Bunkerhill] in behalf of the judicial advisory council. In essence they would make continuous terms of court downstate to expedite trials; simplify the language used in indictments; clarify the law in relation to jury challenges for conscientious scruples against capital punishment; make juries judges of the fact alone, and not the law, and allow the court to dismiss a case for want of prosecution.

RED CROSS DRIVE FOR $10,000,000 DROUGHT FUNDS REACHES GOAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 18.—[Special.]—The Red Cross drive for a $10,000,000 drought relief fund reached its goal today. Contributions received at Washington headquarters now total $10,005,000, according to a report submitted to President Hoover this afternoon by John Barton Payne, chairman of the American Red Cross.

Figures made public by the relief organization disclosed that Illinois ranked third among the states in the total contributed. The Illinois contribution was $767,600. New York state led the list with contributions totaling $2,321,000.

In announcing the successful conclusion of the campaign, Mr. Payne took occasion to thank the American people in behalf of the Red Cross organization.

"I wish," said Mr. Payne, "to take this opportunity to express, in the name of the Red Cross, heartiest thanks to the American public.

"Never before has our society faced so great a task of relief. On March 1 our chapters in 850 counties in 20 states were giving relief to 2,000,000 people.

"It must be a source of satisfaction to the thousands who contributed to the Red Cross drought relief fund to know that they have helped their fellow citizens over this calamitous winter season."

Here is America's utmost Eight value at
TO $1730 AT THE FACTORY
EVEN without Free Wheeling, Studebaker's world famous Commander Eight would still be the biggest value for the money in America.
The Commander is a car of generous wheelbase—124 inches—a comfort further enhanced by Studebaker's famous ball bearing spring suspension.
The Commander engine develops 101 certified horsepower—the greatest power per cubic inch, with two exceptions, to be found in any American motor car. The two exceptions are the engines of cars costing, roughly, $1000 and $3000 more than The Commander.
Commander performance and comfort thus form an ideal natural background for the joy, the economy and the safety of Free Wheeling.
Free Wheeling with positive gear control, as introduced by Studebaker and adopted, unchanged, by Pierce-Arrow and Lincoln, gives you silent gear shifting at all speeds—freedom from clutch-pushing—12 to 20 per cent proved gasoline and oil saving—incomparably restful, zestful motoring—and the added safety attested by public traffic officials from coast to coast.
One drive will convince you there is no value comparable to this seasoned Eight by Studebaker, Pioneer and Pacemaker. May we place a Commander Eight at your disposal?

PRESENT CITY COUNCIL HOLDS FINAL SESSION

Approves Bill to Lengthen Aldermen's Terms.

The present city council legislated itself out of existence at its meeting yesterday. When the next regular session is held on April 22, members of the present council who are re-elected and the new aldermen will have been sworn in, and the organization of the new council will have been effected.

Four aldermen, Clement A. Nance [7th], William R. O'Toole [14th], B. J. Zintak [12th], and Frank R. Ringa [39th], who were defeated in the first aldermanic election on Feb. 24, said good-by to the remaining councilmen yesterday. Some of the other sitting aldermen may be eliminated also in the runoff elections to be held in 21 wards on April 7.

Of the two aldermen who did not run for reëlection, Edward J. Kaindl [34th] and Arthur F. Albert [43d], only Ald. Albert was present. Mayor Thompson did not attend the meeting and Ald. John S. Clark [30th], chairman of the finance committee, presided.

O. K.'s Longer Term Bill.

Among the last acts of the old council was the approval of a bill to be presented at Springfield for the lengthening of the terms of aldermen from two years to four. If passed by the legislature and approved by the voters at a referendum before 1933 the bill would make the terms of the incoming councilmen four years instead of two.

An investigation of pavement laid by Michael J. Faherty, president of the board of local improvements, in the 37th ward was deferred until after election. The resolution of Ald. James H. Taylor [37th], calling for the investigation, was referred to the special assessment committee.

In a petition which accompanied the resolution more than 300 property owners declared that they believe that the pavement was not properly constructed. The petition charged that while the specifications called for concrete six inches thick the pavement in places was only three and four inches thick and has broken up. The pavement is on Wabansia, Narragansett, and Bloomingdale avenues.

Vote Superhighway Plea.

The council approved two resolutions introduced by Ald. John A. Massen [48th]. One of these petitions the general assembly to authorize the use of gasoline tax funds for the construction of superhighways and express highways, both with grade separations, within Chicago.

Pointing out that one-third of the state's revenue from the gas tax is from the sale of gasoline in Chicago, Ald. Massen said that this revenue should be used to build superhighways in Chicago as the only way to deal effectively with traffic congestion.

Massen's other resolution calls upon the assembly to enact legislation which will require every contractor constructing a public improvement to file reports covering his operations. This legislation is in line with ideas developed by Massen when the aldermen were investigating Richard W. Wolfe, commissioner of public works, in connection with the construction of the north approach to the Wabash avenue bridge. Another factor in the investigation was a speech made by United States District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson in which he revealed graft in public contracts.

ALDERMEN ACCEPT ORDER OF I. C. C. TO OPEN 103D STREET

The city council by resolution yesterday announced its acceptance of the order of the Illinois commerce commission providing for the opening of East 103d street and for its extension by a viaduct near Stony Island avenue over the tracks of the Nickel Plate and Chicago and Western Indiana railroads. The order ended litigation carried on for years by residents of the far south side.

Ald. William A. Rowan [10th], a leader in the fight for the street opening with Ald. Sheldon W. Govier [9th] and O. E. Northrup [19th], said that with acceptance of the order by the railroads the way will be open for the expenditure of $10,000,000. This will be spent, he said, in constructing the viaduct; in the Nickel Plate removing its yard south of 103d street, and in resumption of work on street subways under the tracks at 83d, 87th, 91st and 95th and other streets.

WOLFE CHARGED WITH NEGLECT IN $30,000 DEAL

Aldermen Also Assail Faherty Plans.

Members of the city council finance committee yesterday assailed two members of the mayor's cabinet, Richard W. Wolfe, commissioner of public works, and Michael J. Faherty, president of the board of local improvements.

Wolfe was charged with causing the city to lose $30,000 through negligence. Faherty was refused permission to use an appropriation of $839,000 from the Damen avenue bond fund.

The $30,000 which Wolfe did not collect for the city treasury, according to Ald. Guy Guernsey [6th], is rent due from the Goodrich Transit company for space leased at Navy Pier. The company, which is in the hands of receivers, has not paid any of its $3,700 monthly rental since May 1, 1930.

"The controller's office notified Wolfe of the defaulted payments," Ald. Guernsey charged. "If Wolfe had served notice within twenty days after the default the rent could have been collected on the shipping company's bond.

"Wolfe never served notice of the default on the bonding company, nor did he attempt to collect on the bond. Now the city stands to lose $30,000. There probably is some funny business connected with the matter."

The bond which the transit company gave to assure fulfillment of the terms of its lease was held by Wolfe, according to Guernsey. An ordinance to transfer custody of similar bonds to the city controller and to reassign leases on the pier was sent back to the finance committee by the council.

Ald. James B. Bowler [25th] was the main obstacle in Faherty's attempt to get a release on the $839,000 bond fund appropriation. The money is to be used after the election to pay property owners for land taken in the widening of Damen avenue between Harrison street and Roosevelt road.

"I'm not in favor of releasing this appropriation while the present administration is in power," Ald. Bowler shouted. After an argument, in which Faherty participated, Bowler won his point.

Policeman Suspended on Charge of Intoxication

Policeman Eldridge Curran of the Austin station was suspended indefinitely yesterday by Acting Commissioner Alcock pending an investigation of the charge made by Capt. Gregory Moran that Curran arrived late for duty and apparently intoxicated. A few weeks ago Curran was suspended for three days after he failed to appear for special duty on primary day.

Four Killed in Blast at Explosive Factory

WITTENBERG, Germany, March 18.—(AP)—The superintendent of an explosives factory and three workmen were killed today in a blast while they were moving equipment of the plant to a new site.

SCHOOL CHIEFS DIFFER ON PLAN TO PAY STUDENTS

Educators attending the annual meeting of the North Central Association of Colleges and Universities at the Stevens hotel were divided yesterday on the proposal made by Henry Ford recently that all school children over 12 years of age should be paid for attending classes.

For the most part the school heads refused to take the Ford plan seriously, although a few of the 1,000 delegates said there is a degree of soundness in Mr. Ford's suggestion.

Will French, associate superintendent of schools at Tulsa, Okla., said that, while Mr. Ford had apparently overlooked many of the important tenets of the philosophy of education, the plan in some respects was economically sound.

"As things work out now," he said, "about 50 per cent of the good college prospects have to drop out of school before they get to college because of finances. And about 50 per cent of those who do get to college are not fitted for it. The plan might enable those who could profit by a college education to get it."

POLICE CHIEF SURRENDERS ON DRY WARRANT

William Dillon, chief of police of the village of Forest View, surrendered to a bench warrant yesterday charging him, Ralph Capone, and several others formerly connected with the Cotton club, Cicero cabaret, with conspiracy to violate the prohibition law.

A warrant charging assault and interference with a federal officer was not served on Dillon when Prohibition Agent Roy M. Budd and Policeman Dan Coakley failed to identify him as the gunman who disarmed them in front of the Cotton club three weeks ago.

Dillon was released on bond pending arraignment with Capone and the others on the conspiracy charge tomorrow before Federal Judge John P. Barnes.

TRAIN DEATH CALLED ACCIDENT.

A verdict of accidental death was returned yesterday by a coroner's jury in the death of James H. Coates, 55 years old, 326 Hawthorne lane, Glencoe, a retired insurance broker, who was killed Tuesday by a Chicago and North Western train at the Park avenue crossing in Glencoe.

MAGICIAN SAYS HIS SON-IN-LAW ASSAULTED HIM

Detroit, Mich., March 18.—(AP)—A warrant charging Harry Harris, son-in-law of Howard Thurston, magician, with assault and battery, was issued today on complaint of Thurston, who accused Harris of attacking him in a hotel here last night.

Thurston, who is 62 years old, repelled the attack, he said, with tear gas from a special fountain pen, and Harris was taken to a hospital as a result.

Mrs. Thurston said that her daughter, Jane, who is appearing with her father in a local theater, will start action for a divorce from Harris.

Harris is the youngest son of John T. Harris, Pittsburgh, state senator and theater owner. He and Jane Thurston eloped in January, 1930.

Agent, Thrown Out, Brings Back 7 Pugnacious Pals

Arkansas City, Kas., March 18.—(AP)—Eight magazine salesmen faced charges of assault today and Harry Derry, a baker, faced the world with two black eyes. As police tell it, Derry threw one of the men from his office, whereupon the solicitor returned with seven others and beat the baker.

Dangerous Gassy Stomach Torture Ends Quick

"I am pleased and glad to say and tell you that a package of ACIDINE helped me quicker than anything else I ever tried," says William Konts of Windgap, Pa. "I will tell you there are a good many people killed with this gas in the stomach. If you have a weak heart it is dangerous. I tell others about this—to get ACIDINE and try it."

Just another of thousands who are astonished at the way this new prescription, ACIDINE, succeeds when other known remedies fail. The reason is it is different from other medicines. ACIDINE contains Japtase, which, in laboratory tests, digested 800 times its own weight of certain heavy starchy foods. ACIDINE neutralizes burning acid, soothes irritated stomach and intestinal linings, helps end acidosis.

Eat, drink all you want. When sour stomach, gas, pain, heartburn, bad taste, heavy feeling, short breath, dizziness, belching, nervousness, colds, gassy headaches and sleeplessness trouble you, take ACIDINE. Results guaranteed. If not delighted, maker refunds money.

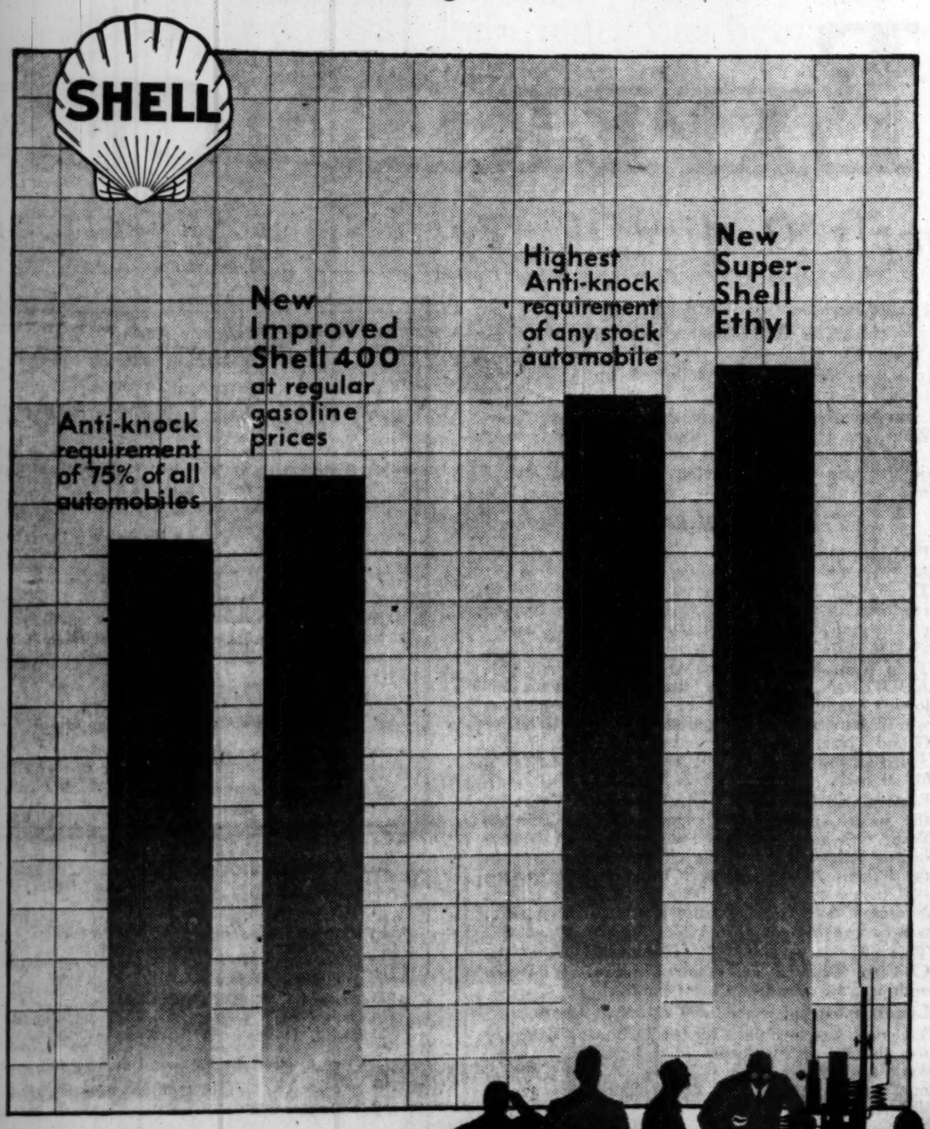
Shell offers car owners opportunity to save millions on gasoline yearly

Note this step forward in motor fuels . . . Prove these savings for yourself, in your own car



SHELL
Anti-knock requirement of 75% of all automobiles
New Improved Shell 400 at regular gasoline prices
Highest Anti-knock requirement of any stock automobile
New Super-Shell Ethyl

HERE is science's honest answer, made in your interest as a car owner, on whether to pay premium prices for your gasoline.

Shell believes it is good business to sell you the kind of gasoline your car needs. It does not want to charge you extra per gallon unless your car requires premium fuel.

And engine tests on gasolines prove the one quality in which leading premium brands differ from good regular-priced gasolines is anti-knock value. The best premium fuels end the power waste and damage that take place when an engine "knocks".

New Improved Shell 400

Today Shell offers a motor fuel — at regular gasoline prices—that is far higher in anti-knock value than common regular priced gasolines.

This New Improved Shell 400 is actually greater in anti-knock rating than many premium priced brands!

It is made especially for the great majority of cars. Made to give them perfect driving satisfaction, all the anti-knock value they need, without costing their owners extra per gallon. Full power, quick starting, fast get-away—at least 75% of all car owners will find these in New Improved Shell 400.

Some cars will need this unique Super-Shell Ethyl

Not every car will run perfectly on New Improved Shell 400—or on many brands of present premium gasoline! Certain cars, less than 25% of all built, need fuel still greater in anti-knock value. For them Shell has created a special gasoline—Super-Shell Ethyl.

As a base, Super-Shell Ethyl has the finest grade of high test, quick starting, powerful gasoline. It has extra high volatility. To this is added a heavy content of Ethyl fluid—to be certain of highest anti-knock value.

For engines that need it, Super-Shell Ethyl offers savings in car operation—more miles per gallon, fewer and lower repair bills. It brings a thrill to driving, a convenience in traffic, on hills and under heavy loads.

A money saving test

Whatever gasoline you use, here is a test you owe your own pocketbook.

Give your car a filling of New Improved Shell 400—at least 10 gallons of it. Then test it. Step on the accelerator in traffic and on hills. Try for cold-weather starting. Drive over bad roads, in ruts and mud if you have a chance.

More than 75% will find New Improved Shell 400 gives them even better performance than average premium priced gasolines!

Less than 25% will want to try Super-Shell Ethyl. If your car needs such fuel you'll feel the difference, the extra power, right away.

Something has actually been done about changing gasoline to fit modern engines! It will pay you to make this test. Plan to do it, today!

Does it give you more mileage?

While there is evidence that New Improved Shell 400 gives most cars more miles per gallon of gasoline, only the experience of thousands of drivers can verify this added saving. Your Shell station man, at the time he fills your gasoline tank, will hand you a post card like that above. Use New Improved Shell 400 and then tell us, by marking and mailing the post card, whether you secure more miles per gallon from it. Your co-operation in this test may help others to reduce their motoring costs.

A GREAT STEP FORWARD IN MOTOR FUELS

At last a measuring unit for anti-knock values—the new Octane Number ratings! To establish them, Shell tested hundreds of gasolines. Common fuels were found to lack sufficient anti-knock value for many cars.

Now, note the chart. Here is fuel at the regular price that is ideal for 75% of all cars. The highest Octane Number requirement of these cars is 58. New Improved Shell 400 exceeds this figure—tests over 60.

Super-Shell Ethyl, with an Octane Number of 74, exceeds the anti-knock requirement of any stock automobile. It is recommended especially for cars with engines of high compression rating.

NEW IMPROVED SHELL 400

Definitely better than many premium priced fuels, yet sold at regular prices—at least 75% of all cars can use it satisfactorily

Clara Jensen Chosen in Scene of Enthusiasm.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

South Haven, Mich., March 18.—[Special.]—If fate had not decreed an eighteenth birthday for Clara Jensen on Monday, another girl might have been named last night as Miss Three Oaks of 1931. Instead, thanks to the anniversary and her own blonde beauty, Clara is now scheduled to oppose thirty-five of southwestern Michigan's prettiest girls on April 1 in the finals to determine the sovereign of the Maytime festival of the twin cities, St. Joseph and Benton Harbor.

Six girls faced the judges in the packed auditorium of the Three Oaks High school last night. From her first appearance the unusually tall, willowy miss in the Alice blue taffeta gown, who had bowed a farewell to her school days from that same stage two years before, was the choice of the crowd. At her every return to the footlights the clamor grew.

Helen of Troy Type.

When at last the judges, Mrs. C. B. McClelland and John Erskine of Benton Harbor, and Samuel Beeler of Syracuse, N. Y., eliminated her final and strongest rival, Alma Hass, there was a storm of applause for the reigning beauty. Of the type of Helen of Troy, "divinely tall and most divinely fair," Clara satisfied the popular conception of a queenly appearance.

She is 5 feet 10 inches in height, but weighs only 120 pounds. Blonde, wavy hair, at the "growing out" stage, clusters in short curls about her neck and frames a pair of big blue eyes. An unusually fair complexion is enhanced by fascinating dimples, the crowning touch to her Dresden type of beauty.

Had Formidable Rival.

Miss Hass, 22 years old, was not lacking for admirers. She was runner-up also in last year's contest. With her chestnut hair in a long bob touching her shoulders, and a clear skin and gray eyes set off by a formal gown of apple green lace, the short sleeves trimmed with a band of marten fur, she was conceded to be a formidable rival.

"Miss Three Oaks" of the current year is the youngest of a family of seven and comes from a strictly rural atmosphere. She is, she says, "a home girl," home being the farm of her father, Johannes Jensen, three miles north of Three Oaks. She has spent all her life in the community, which numbers about 1,900 souls, and confesses to harboring no particular ambition except to be a good singer.

Sentence Ex-Convict Who Shot Policeman in Holdup

On his plea of guilty to robbery with a gun, Peter (The Bear) Niedwieski, 27 years old, Chicago gunman and ex-convict, was sentenced to one year to life in Joliet prison by Judge Joe A. Davis at Ottawa, Ill., yesterday. Niedwieski shot Frank Franks, a policeman, in a holdup at Peru, Ill., last month, and was wounded himself. His companion, John Humaj, owner of a saloon at 2700 West 24th place, Chicago, was sentenced Monday to one to twenty years.

MRS. VESS JONES WINS DIVORCE AND ALIMONY

Mrs. Bula P. Jones, 180 East Walton place, yesterday won a divorce, $17,500 in cash, a $20,000 home in California, $15,000 worth of furniture, and $150 monthly alimony from Vess Jones, wealthy president of the Whistle company, beverage manufacturers. The decree was granted by Circuit Judge Trude on grounds of desertion.

Jones originally sued for divorce, charging cruelty, and his wife, through Attorney Robert E. Cantwell Jr., countered with a cross bill for separate maintenance, alleging infidelity and naming Miss Seth Mills, 17 year old motion picture actress. Jones did not contest the divorce action, which ended yesterday.

Miss Mills recently sued Mrs. Jones for $100,000 damages, but the suit will be dropped because Mrs. Jones has made a retraction, according to her attorney. The couple were married in June of 1912 and separated Jan. 1, 1929.

14 Injured in Panic at Minor Fire in Movie House

CALLAO, Peru, March 18.—(AP)—Fourteen persons were seriously injured and many other were bruised when a motion picture audience took fright last night at a fire in the operator's booth. The fire, in a reel of film in a projecting machine, did no serious damage.

of the citizens in the integrity of their courts and, therefore, of the whole substance of their government."

The report then made the formal charge that the mayor attempted to block the Seabury investigation.

Scored in Kohler Case.

Mayor Walker was accused of having foisted incompetent Tammany satellites upon the health department. He was scored for his appointment of Charles H. Kohler as director of the budget, in view of Mr. Kohler's former connection with the department of health.

The charges paid special attention to the parade of Tammany leaders, many of them holding city office, who played "follow the leader" with John F. Curry, their chieftain, and refused to waive immunity when summoned before the extraordinary grand jury investigating charges of office buying.

The city officials who refused to sign the waiver were named in the charges, and Mayor Walker was censured for having allowed them to remain in office.

Magistrates Mentioned.

The mayor was denounced for his failure to fulfill a promise that he would correct "indecent conditions" in the department of hospitals and for his failure to give "initial impulse" and "ardent support" to the investigation of charges of corruption in the police department.

MOTHER OF SEVEN SLAIN.

Columbus, O., March 18.—(AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Pike, 49, mother of seven children, was slain today supposedly by her husband, George, 54, who then attempted suicide and is in critical condition. The Pikes came here from Glenwood, W. Va., several months ago.

"DOMINANT"

OVER a period of years THE SATURDAY EVENING POST habitually has been referred to as The Dominant Publication of America.

Some people dislike the forthrightness of that title—they may be right.

The phrase itself had origin not as an arrogant claim for the magazine, but as an accurate description of the calibre of its audience.

It was true then and is true now that the readers of The Post are the men and women who dominate and will dominate American life and thought!

That is why it carries the largest volume of advertising of any national publication.

That is why more successful merchandising plans are based on The Post alone than on all other national publications combined.

YOU may call The Post dominant or not, as you like.

It is the quickest, cheapest, surest way of influencing those foremost three million American homes whose preference is catered to by the trade and followed by the remainder of the public!

RELIEF FOR THE WESTERN RAILROADS.

Mr. F. W. Robinson, vice president in charge of traffic for the Union Pacific system, has called attention again to the injurious effect of the Panama canal on the business of manufacturers and merchants in the central states.

In 1930, he said, intercoastal steamships, operating through the canal, carried 2,600,000 tons of freight west bound and 6,300,000 tons east bound. The railroads could make no bid for this business because the interstate commerce commission has refused to permit rates to be reduced to a point where competition with the intercoastal ships would become possible.

In consequence, said Mr. Robinson, the industrial map of the United States has undergone great changes. The Panama canal "has done much to cut down the markets which manufacturing concerns of Chicago, Milwaukee, Omaha, St. Louis, and Kansas City formerly enjoyed on the Pacific coast and to benefit the manufacturers nearer the Atlantic seaboard."

One remedy for this situation is an increase in Panama canal tolls. There is a good deal of evidence to indicate that the tolls now collected do not repay the government for its outlay in building and maintaining the canal. In consequence the central states, whose taxes helped build the canal, are doubly penalized. The canal cost us our markets on the west coast and at the same time added to our tax bill. The failure of congressmen from this section, thus far, to insist upon an increase in the tolls is a political mystery.

Another and equally direct remedy is what is known as fourth section relief. The interstate commerce act authorizes a special reduction in railroad rates to permit competition with water carriers. While this authorization exists, and if exercised would restore in some part at least the lost markets, the commission has not seen fit to permit the railroads to take advantage of it. The commission recognizes that the business which the railroads have lost necessitates some kind of compensation, but has limited relief measures to increases in rates. Nothing could be more absurd, particularly at a time when commodity prices are falling and business is punch drunk. An increase in railroad rates today is more than likely to result in a loss in traffic and therefore in loss rather than gain in railroad revenues. If railroad revenues are to be maintained it must be by increasing traffic, and that can be done only by rate reductions to permit competition with other forms of transportation.

EAST IS EAST AND WEST IS MENDICANT.

A special edition of the recent report to the governor of New York on power development in the St. Lawrence ought to be printed, bound in morocco, and distributed among California's statesmen. Not that they would find it interesting, much less profitable, reading; but the satisfaction in subjecting them to it might be likened to the satisfaction in sending a cook book to cannibals. It might not convert them to beef, veal, pork, and mutton, but at least it would advise them of the existence of these substitutes for long pig.

The report concerns the harnessing of the rapids in the St. Lawrence along the international frontier. The river may be made useful for navigation and power at a cost of some $200,000,000, the engineers find. When such projects are contemplated in California—for example, at the Hoover dam—the federal taxpayers are required to meet the entire cost. This raises a constitutional question. The federal government was not created and has no specific authority to provide water works and electric current, even for Los Angeles. The federal government's expenditures on waterways result in general from its sovereignty over navigable streams. To make the Hoover dam fit into the constitution, California discovered that the Colorado river was navigable. Visitors to the Grand cañon may express some astonishment at this conclusion, but, after all, that is the most natural sentiment to express at the Grand cañon. Because the Colorado is a navigable stream, or at least because it is to be made one with a dam 700 feet high, the income tax payers, most of whom live at least 2,000 miles away, are to pay the whole cost of a reservoir and power plant for Los Angeles.

Every one knows that westerners are independent, self-sufficing, upstanding he-men; easterners, on the contrary, are dependent, pusillanimous, and lacking in honor and integrity. This being so, it follows as a matter of course that the New York commission suggests that the federal government pay only from 35 to 44 per cent of the cost of the St. Lawrence project, a proportion based upon the relative costs of the navigation and power facilities to be created. It is perhaps worth noting, in addition, that the St. Lawrence is and always has been a navigable stream in the sense that commerce moves upon it; and if navigability in the Colorado is the justification for the gift of a power plant to California, then navigability in the St. Lawrence would warrant the federal government in doing as much for New York and paying a royalty to the people of the state for the privilege of making them a present.

THE ILLINOIS REPEAL.

The repressive influence of an insistent minority in Illinois political opinion will be tested when the bill to repeal the state prohibition act comes into its stages of final action in the senate. The house has passed it, but the Anti-Saloon league has centered its obstruction in the senate, where the effort will be, first, on second reading to send the repeal to another referendum; second, on third reading to defeat it.

Whatever may be said for the advisory nature of the referendum of last year, as against a mandatory claim for it, the advice was clear. It was for the repeal of the state prohibition act. The action of the two parties, Republican and Democratic, constituted a pledge that the results of the referendum would be accepted as binding. To that extent a conclusion and not a suggestion was reached. The advocates of the repeal have the votes of the people behind them, and no prohibition equivocation can rewrite these returns. They consent and advise that the act be stricken off.

It should be to clear the way. Federal prohibition is in flux. The nation has not reached a settlement, but a greater indecision. The progress is all toward a restudy and new findings. Illinois as a state opposed to federal prohibition should have its own ground cleared against the time when a reconsideration leads to a new method of regulation and control. When a judicious settlement has been reached for the nation the states will have the question again before them. Repeal in Illinois is the preliminary necessary to readjustment for honest, sensible and workable rules.

STREET CARS ON THE DRIVE.

Though the new Lake Shore drive is no place for street car tracks, it is also true that a routing from the west side down Chicago avenue to the Navy pier should be maintained. The street cars without question should be taken off the drive, where they run now from the end of Chicago avenue to the Navy pier. They should also be removed from proximity to the great hospital and medical center of Northwestern university that is near by. They should continue to give access, however, to the Navy pier and the Furniture Mart from points west of the river. It is primarily a problem of rerouting.

St. Clair street, running north and south, east of Michigan avenue, probably should be cut through north to Chicago avenue. At present a row of old dwelling houses separates this street from Chicago avenue; thence it continues southward several blocks across Grand avenue nearly to the river. With St. Clair street opening into Chicago avenue, street cars could be routed from Chicago avenue, southward on St. Clair to Erie, Ontario, or Grand, and thence eastward to the Navy pier. This at least is worth consideration.

If the street railways would give even a fraction of the effort toward civilizing street cars that automobile manufacturers have given to improving motor cars, the street cars would not be the noisy nuisances that they are. They would be welcome, not unwelcome, on more of our city streets.

BUILD U. S. SHIPS IN THE MIDLAND.

The midwest should have its share of government shipbuilding. Larger ships, of course, cannot be constructed on the lakes until a seagoing canal is built to carry them. Smaller ships, of which the government has hundreds, could well be built in midland shipyards. Though the new Welland canal has a depth of 25 feet and the new lock a depth of 30 feet over the sills, the navigable depth of the upper St. Lawrence canals is about 14 feet. Until a sea canal is built larger ships must be built on the coast.

But small ships allocated to the great lakes for building could still be a considerable business. In the U. S. navy now there are some 540 vessels of less than 2,000 tons. In the U. S. coast guard there are 119 such vessels. In the lighthouse, the survey, and fishery service are 87 more vessels of less than 2,000 tons. Vessels of this type, amounting now perhaps to 500,000 tons in aggregate, should be built in great part on the lakes. Tugs and tenders, submarines, coast guard boats, a great fleet of auxiliaries must be maintained. Hulls for even larger ships could be built inland and towed to the sea for completion.

Congressional policy has long followed the rule of spreading government building, so far as possible, over both coasts. This not only distributes prosperity; it also distributes interest in ships and in government affairs. To the great lakes this rule is also applicable. Instead of resentment at taxation for the benefit largely of other regions support will be gained and building activity spread over a large area of the nation not now participating in these interests.

Editorial of the Day

COALS MAY COME TO NEWCASTLE.

[Brooklyn Eagle.]

"The Arabian Nights," thanks to a new ruling of the treasury, may now enter the country in all but certain especially objectionable editions. As classics, this and certain other works lately held up at the custom house are judged worthy of the toleration of a people not unaccustomed to reading about policemen who prey on women of loose life.

The coarseness of Rabelais has barred him from importation, on the theory that it might impair the taste of a people millions of whom have lately read the details of a trial in the middle west having to do with the killing of a young woman by her admirer in a drunken brawl at a rustic hootch party. Rabelais may now come in; there is nothing in his "Gargantua" so coarse as much that one may meet every day; there is much in him that is elevated and fine, though perhaps beyond the grasp of most of the audience of one of our racy border line shows.

Despite its deplorably naughty parts, Boccaccio's "Decameron" may now be brought in and circulated even as far as California, where now the good folk are horror-stricken by accounts of an abomination called a "love market." They will find the most scarlet passages of the "Decameron" pale by comparison, and they will, perchance, judge the tale of the Pot of Basil a trifle dull.

We shall see whether our morals can stand the impact of such books as these. Let us hope that they bear up under the strain.

NO PLAGIARIST.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. By J.J.

OR HAPPINESS IN EVERYTHING, DO WE BUT LOOK FOR IT. BALONEY.

Ah, income tax payers, cease your moaning and smile through your tears! There is indeed a balm in Gilead. Lissen! Henry H. Curran, the president of the Association Against Prohibition, has brought out facts and figures tending to prove that out of every 10 bucks you paid on your income tax this year 8 of said bucks go to pay the cost of prohibition. Henry is a wet, and that's got to be taken into consideration, but for the sake of peace of mind accept the figures at their face value; for every 10 dollars you give in income taxes 8 go to pay the cost of prohibition.

Let the idea sink in, friends, and laugh merrily. Time was when every gallon of double proof spirits made in this country paid 90c to the government and all the running expenses of the country were paid by the excises. Every saloon paid a heavy tax to the city. Now the bootleggers don't pay a penny for the stuff they manufacture, nor do the speakeasies. And in the good old days there was no income tax. However, the idea is to get over the pain in the neck caused by digging deep in your jeans to pay the income tax, for out of every 10 bones you paid (and you probably paid lots more than that) 8 bones went to put down the Curse of Rum. That should leave you smiling! Yes? No?

IN THE (CONTEMPORARY) GLOAMING.

In the glooming, oh, my darling, where the Dreiser specters stand,
Where the Magic Mountain loometh, let us wander hand in hand;
Let us sigh for Lethe's waters for to bathe in and to drink,
Since our life is but the gurgle of a drainpipe in a sink.
Let us think upon our errors in the youthful days gone by,
On our old mistaken gladness let us ponder with a sigh
That we thought ourselves quite happy till we read the modern books.

In the glooming, oh, my darling, where the blight is on the flowers,
Where a husband is a husband for at least eleven hours,
Where amid the tropic garlands now surrounding love's young dream
You can see the future hatred rising up in putrid steam;
Where a deep and dark significance is laid upon the fact
You forgot to put your toothbrush in your trunk when it was packed.

Where the ravens all foregather and the slimy waters flow;
To the land of paunchy pagans who, no matter how it looks,
Go galloping in leopard skins around the muddy brooks;
In the land of maiden ladies with fixations wildly rife,
Let us lose in contemplation all the littleness of life;
Let the bitter, barren business be forgot and clatter by
While we watch the turkey-buzzard as he waits for us to die.

DOROTHY KISSLING.

OUR CORRESPONDENT in Russia says you have to pay 2.20 rubles (a dollar and ten cents in good American coin) for a mutton chop and the equivalent of sixty cents for soup, and you have to stand in line and wait your turn before you even have a chance to do that. If we were a communist even the thought that the five year plan was going to result in soundless soup spoons and a gadget to keep peas from rolling off the fork wouldn't console us a bit.

ROLLICKING HUMOR IN THE COLLEGES.

(From the Illinois Wesleyan University Argus.)

. . . Many jokes of rare wit were contributed by the toastmaster. The choicest of which was the one told on Lester Martin. It seems that he was hunting in the sylvan forests near Colfax when suddenly he was terrified by the sight of an enraged bear advancing from the right. Looking to his left he perceived a bull of vast proportions approaching in a menacing manner. Confronted with this grave problem of which animal to shoot first, what did he do? Well—— He shot the bear because he could shoot the "bull" any time.

"FEVVEN'S SAKE!" pleads Patient Jane, "tell radio announcers to stop pronouncing it Bonus Airs." Very well, Patient Jane, we'll tell 'em, but it won't do a bit of good. Listen, announcers, the word is pronounced Buenos Aires. Certainly not; but, gentlemen, you can at least make a try.

DISTANT MUSIC.

If these my wistful songs should cease some day,
Long ere we dreamed, and leave so much unsung
Of all my love for you had meant to say,
Know, then, that my unuttered thoughts of you
Would break in sweeter rhythms far away;
Would find fulfillment of a silver breath
And waft a cadence like soft sunset bells
To you, beloved, across the hills of death.

SPRING MENINGITIS.

THE most threatening epidemic disease now on the horizon is epidemic meningitis. While influenza attacks more people, it destroys very few lives and leaves very few after effects in these recent years. Besides, it is fading out, whereas epidemic meningitis is due to hang on until May. Of those who have it in plain, definite form, one-half or more die and of those that recover many lose the sight of one eye, or the hearing, or have some other lifelong, serious after effect.

Furthermore, epidemic meningitis has been steadily increasing for several years. The disease prevalence always fades away to a trace in the summer, but it comes again with the bad weather of winter and reaches its peak in March or April, and those peaks get higher each year.

The American Journal of Public Health gave most of a recent number to epidemic meningitis. Reports of its prevalence came from New York on the east, San Francisco and the Pacific fleets of passenger ships on the west, and many places in between. The journal gave editorial commendation to a method of prevention which has stopped three epidemics in Greece since 1927. It consisted in treating carriers of meningococci by means of a vaccine. This vaccine was prepared from a culture taken from a case of meningitis. This culture was killed by heat and then injected. Two injections, at seven day intervals, sufficed. The vaccine is made fresh from a case occurring in the particular epidemic.

The method of prevention advocated by Dr. J. C. Geiger has been long in use. It consists in separating people and the prevention of crowds and crowding. Where possible, everybody sleeps in a separate room kept well ventilated during times of epidemics. Living in barracks and dormitories is done away with whenever possible. If men must sleep in dormitories the beds are placed as far apart as possible and screens separating beds are used when this is possible. The heads of sleepers must be as far apart as can be managed. Crowding in mess halls, lecture rooms, dance halls, and playrooms is prohibited. Ventilation should be kept good.

Since cold, rainy days cause the disease to spread, ventilation and crowding are especially watched on such days. The ordinary nose spraying methods do no good. The best treatment is the proper use of serums.

DUE TO A PARASITE.

J. B. writes: Please tell me what causes ringworms on the arms. What will cure them?

REPLY.

Ringworm is a parasitic disease. It results from an infection. Painting daily for three days with alcoholic iodine, this three day treatment followed by daily applications of sulphur ointment, will cure simple cases in hairless areas. Complicated cases should have more skillful, experienced treatment.

THEY COLLECT DIRT.

M. A. B. writes: Will plastering the hair with hair oils and dressings do harm? Have been told by a specialist that this keeps the air from entering and causes dandruff.

REPLY.

Of course, hair oils collect dirt and if you use them you will need to wash your scalp often.

CONDITION IS CURABLE.

Mrs. J. M. K. writes: My little girl, aged 4½ years, has had pyelitis for the last two years. Is this condition curable? Does it mean that the kidney is infected in any way? Will she have organic kidney trouble later?

REPLY.

I am sure your physician has told you that your child should recover completely. Her kidneys should not be crippled. Infection of the pelvis of the kidney by the colon bacillus is a frequent cause of fever and other symptoms, particularly in young girls. It generally yields to internal medicines. In some cases local injections are needed.

TREATING CROSS-EYES.

F. L. R. writes: I am 23 years old and a little bit cross-eyed. Could I have it fixed?

REPLY.

Yes. Wearing appropriate glasses might be all you need to do. If not, an operation would remedy the condition.

PARTLY REMEDIED.

Chicago, March 11.—[Friend of the People.]—I am writing about the condition that exists on the lot next door to our house. Children slide on this lot, causing mud and dirt to be smeared all over the sidewalk and tracking it on one's feet. Can't the owner be forced to put up a fence or at least do something that will make it impossible for children to play on this lot? This condition makes a very bad appearance on the houses near this lot. B. A. S.

Report is made that notice has been served on owner of lot referred to to remove mud from sidewalk, but there is nothing we can do to compel him to build a fence. Location will be kept under observation to see that notice is complied with promptly.

REMARRIAGE AFTER DIVORCE.

Chicago, March 17.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have a friend who was married in the state of Indiana and divorced in the state of Illinois. How long must he wait before he can marry again in the state of [1] Illinois; [2] Indiana, and [3] Wisconsin? D. M.

No delay is required under present Illinois law.

GIVE MORE FACTS.

Forest Park, Ill., March 17.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My husband is a very sick man and cannot work. I had a nice business at my home until my husband became so sick I had to give it up and take him west. The water did not agree with me and the doctors told me to come back, so I have to start all over again to make a living for both of us. 1. Can I get my house back? The tenant has a lease. 2. In December he was late with his rent. Does that break the lease? 3. This same party has been guilty of breaking a lease at other places to suit himself. If I want something he wants a sum of money, and I have nothing, only the house. What can be done? He is working steady and we have no work and are boarding. MRS. D.

1. You do not state under what terms you had the house or how you ceased to have it, so we are unable to advise you.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Wilson worked till nearly midnight upon the tentative draft of a protest to Great Britain and France against the interference with legitimate American commerce by the long range blockade of Germany proclaimed by the allies. The protest is to be based on three main points: 1. The seizure by the allies of noncontraband goods proceeding to or from Germany through neutral territory. 2. The area of the blockading operations described by the allies as "European waters, including the Mediterranean." 3. The intention to punish at a subsequent time any vessel which eludes the "cruiser cordon" and proceeds to a German port.

PARIS.—What is described as the greatest surgical discovery since Lister's antiseptic system is now at the service of the French wounded. It is an antitoxin discovered by Profs. La Chainche and Vallee, bacteriologists, and is said to supplant other antiseptics in preventing infection. It also promotes rapid healing.

ST. PAUL, Minn.—James J. Hill, the famous railroad builder, told the Minnesota legislature that the railroads are unable to compete with each other any longer due to insufficient income. His speech was made in an effort to increase passenger fares from two to two and one-half cents a mile.

CHICAGO.—James O'Donnell, originator of the rural free delivery system in this country, father of the beet sugar industry in Michigan, and for many years editor of the Jackson Citizen, died in Jackson, Mich., aged 73. Besides his widow he leaves two daughters, one the wife of Dr. F. P. Horan of Evanston. Two sisters, Mrs. Mary O'Donnell Bennett, mother of James O'Donnell Bennett of THE TRIBUNE staff, and Mrs. Margaret O'Donnell Spencer, also survive.

ST. PETERSBURG.—Students made a demonstration at the Kazan cathedral as a protest against a recent revision of student regulations and the excommunication of Count Tolstoi, and 800 students were arrested. One child was crushed to death and innumerable persons injured. Mounted Cossacks charged the crowds repeatedly and used whips on the faces and heads of all alike.

BOSTON.—Thomas W. Lawson, owner of the trotter Boralma, accepted the offer of J. J. Scannell of New York to race either The Abbot or Lord Derby against Boralma for $250,000 a side and give all his winnings either by forfeiture or racing to two Boston charities.

WASHINGTON.—Venezuela may be called to account if that government insists on interfering with the consular officers of the United States. The state department sent a vigorous protest to the Venezuelan government against the arrest of Consular Agent Dabiaz at Barcelona, Venezuela. Dabiaz, although not an American citizen, has been confined in prison by the Venezuelan government. It seems that he is engaged in a commercial enterprise and became involved with the Venezuelan military by resisting an attempt to collect a forced loan from him.

CHICAGO.—The council passed an ordinance giving trustees of the Crerar library the right to erect a library building on the lake front. Opposition by Montgomery Ward is predicted.

BOSTON.—Patrick Donahue, editor of the Irish paper, Pilot, is dead here. He was one of the best known Irishmen in the United States and numbered among his friends nearly every Irishman of note in the last 50 years. He was 90 years old.

CHICAGO.—The Rev. Dr. Arthur Edwards, editor of the Northwestern Christian Advocate since 1872 and prominent in Methodist affairs of the country, is lying at the point of death at his home at 2818 Indiana avenue with heart trouble.

ST. PETERSBURG, Russia. — Eighty-seven pounds of dynamite was taken from the nihilistic mine discovered near the czar's palace. The mine has been refilled and the door of the shop into which it opened has been sealed up. The Novoe Vremya says: "The Russian authorities were advised several months ago that nihilists from Chicago, Ill., had reëntered the country." One of the chief organizers of the plot to assassinate the czar has confessed.

GEN. UPTON.

Chicago, March 17.—I note with interest in your "Fifty Years Ago Today" column the account of the death of Gen. Emory Upton, U. S. A. As tragic as were the circumstances surrounding Gen. Upton's death, more tragic by far was the fact that his great work, "The Military Policy of the United States" was left unfinished.

Upton was very much aware of the apathy toward the formulation of a constructive national defense program which existed in the seventies and eighties. Following the tremendous effort and expenditure attending the raising of an army during the civil war, the American military establishment was permitted to perish slowly of dry rot. The army was divided into many small posts, each poorly officered and equipped with obsolescent weapons, the victim of departmental red tape. Upton's volume showed dangers which others ignored, and suggested constructive improvements, some of which were later adopted in the national defense act of 1920.

His book, unpublished, was hidden for years in the war department files. Elihu Root by Roosevelt's order published the work years later over the shuddering protests of bureaucratic officials. With the American public fast forgetting the lessons of the late war, as their grandfathers forgot those of the civil war, with the nation no longer "supremely isolated" as it was in Upton's time, with war department officials ignoring weapons developed since 1918, it is time that congress and the administration again turn to Upton for a much needed lesson. STANTON M. MEYER.

A CURE FOR DEPRESSION.

Oak Park, Ill., March 13.—It is generally granted that the root of unemployment is the lack of buyers. Now here is my remedy in a very short and simple form. Objections and details can be ironed out later. Instead of giving charity have the federal or state governments lend, let us say, $500 to families having a previous good record of meeting their obligations. These families in turn sign a note bearing 6 per cent interest payable to the government maturing in one year. We will now have hundreds of families spending money on various commodities which previous to their loan they were unable to purchase for months. The retail stores doing business now need more help and merchandise. The factories and mills begin to hum and bustle. They in turn hire more labor to rush out the incoming orders. The railroads and transportation companies and everybody down the line are stirred to activity. The families which originally borrowed the money are now working as well as thousands of others. People are clipping coupons, paying income taxes and we now have another cycle of business prosperity. JACK MORGAN.

SPEAKING OF SPEAKING.

Chicago, March 12.—Since comments on correct pronunciation seem to be the coming sport may I ask why so many people mispronounce envelop as onvelop? A few of them have told me that envelop is pronounced something like ahnvelop in French, but if that's the case why not be consistent and call employé ah-plawh-yay; theatre tay-ah-tr, and page pahzh?

R. J. MITCHELL.

THE "CH" IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, March 13.—If trumping a partner's ace is justifiable grounds for murder in Missouri, certainly it should not be considered a crime elsewhere to shoot people who pronounce the "ch" in Chicago the same as in chicken.

R. E. ERICKSON.

THE OFFSPRING OF EARLY MARRIAGES.

Arlington Heights Ill., March 14.—Doris Blake answered Mitzi today favoring early marriages, at 19 years instead of 30, if finances permitted. This is quite customary advice.

There is a theory going around—I think it is not yet either approved or disapproved by science—that the older the parents are at the time a child is born (up to a certain point, which women reach earlier than men do), the more brains that child will have. I have followed this idea, casually, through thousands of instances in Britannica and elsewhere, and find it working in every well considered case. Where the facts are reported the rule always works, no exceptions, though oftentimes modified by other factors—poverty, disease, etc. Britannica, generally, records the lives of brainy people. I have never found there a single definite case of a person born to a father of, say, under 25 years. For instance, Ben Franklin's father was in his late forties when Ben was born (his mother being a second, younger wife), while his father's father was then over a hundred. So Ben was brainy. On the other hand, Tennessee hill billies breed five or six generations to a century, and they are practically brainless.

On an average, parents are under 25 when children are born. It might contribute toward making a new heaven and a new earth if the beginning of parenthood, especially fatherhood, was at 30 years or more of age.

Does the romantic urge to early marriage, plus hard economic conditions of life, combine to guarantee a perpetually brainless world?

FRANKLIN HOFFMAN, B. S.

TO BUY OR TO RENT.

Chicago, March 13.—In reply to Mrs. Puzzled may I say a few words?

You contemplate buying a $7,500 home on a 77 cents an hour job and I am afraid if you do your so called dream home will turn out to be a nightmare.

The interest on a $7,000 debt is $35 a month. Allow another $25 a month to pay taxes, insurance, heat, water and upkeep. You say your expenses total $84.20 a month exclusive of rent, clothes, haircuts and doctor bills. That would total $144.20 a month.

At 77 cents an hour your husband would make $6.16 a day and granting he works 26 days a month, and that would be very high over a number of years, he would make $160.16 a month.

That would leave you a balance of $15.96 in which to meet your monthly payment of at least $40 and buy a few clothes once in a while and meet other expenses which come up all the time in unexpected ways.

If your husband's income is your sole support, better lower your sights so you can see a $4,000 home. Possibly $3,500 would be better. SATISFIED.

BIG INCOMES.

Chicago, March 16.—I noticed your headline, "Wind 504 Incomes of Million," and your subheadlines, "Earnings Soar in Spite of 1929 Stock Crashes," and "Thirty-six Individuals List $5,000,000 Year." As long as the government permits these individuals to hoard all the money there always will be depression, starvation, crime, and unemployment.

ARMY RATIONS.

Chicago, March 13.—I note with interest the article in today's TRIBUNE by Frank Ciprioni on how well the men are fed at Fort Sheridan. He also gives a few typical menus. I served a three-year hitch in the regular army myself and usually got plenty to eat. However, if Frank's report is true, then the army has improved its chow about 40 per cent. JAMES SPENCER.

MOSCOW—WHERE CHILDREN SMOKE ON THE STREETS

And Where You Have to Pay to Ride on Elevators

BY HENRY WALES.
[Copyright: 1931: By The Chicago Tribune.]

MOSCOW, Feb. 19.—[By mail.]—Winter sports don't mean much in Russia. Ice and snow are free and familiar, and the population pays little attention to the sports and pastimes of western nations in the cold season.

The army receives special instruction in ski running to train the troops for operations over the snow, and occasionally one sees squads of soldiers proceeding to practice grounds outside the capital with their skis slung over one shoulder, rifles over the other.

Many of the officers go in for ski running as a sport. Some of the foreign residents also take up this sport, and a few of the local inhabitants. They use extremely short skis, shorter than one ever sees in Switzerland or Norway.

On the various ponds and lakes in the city one rarely sees any one skating. The nearest approach to it is children sliding on the frozen streets and sidewalks. The children do ride sleds a good deal, however.

Toy Stores Still Exist.

Despite all the shortages and state rationed goods, there are still toy stores in Moscow, and at every one there is a line of children pressing their noses against the frost covered windows to melt enough of the ice to permit them to see inside. The toys are chiefly of military character, big wooden Red soldiers, and soldiers' uniforms made of cardboard, with a pop gun and tin sword.

Then there are "armored cars" made of wood, and pushmobiles made up into tanks, and wooden figures representing peasants, and miniature furniture sets. Not many dolls are seen, the girls evidently preferring to play with boys' toys or with little chairs and tables and sofas and beds, all gaily painted in bright colors.

Children have a great time, generally, if they have boots and an overcoat, because the new five day week gives them a holiday every fifth day, with no school. They wander about the city, hitching on sleigh runners or on auto trucks, and the bigger ones hanging on the rear couplings of street cars.

Kids Permitted to Smoke.

They are precocious, too, about smoking, and generally their parents do not forbid them to use tobacco. In these difficult times of shortages, however, they usually get only the butts they are able to snipe on the streets. Between the acts in theaters, the youngsters hang around, furtively watching every cigaret, and the minute it is dropped they pounce on it for a few puffs.

Women, more particularly the older ones than flappers, smoke freely on the streets and on tram car platforms, the same as men and without exciting any comment or attention. In the state food shops, the salesmen, when not busy, light a cigaret and smoke reflectively, and in all offices the staffs, irrespective of sex and age, smoke as many cigarets as they can afford.

Everywhere in every line of endeavor, tea is served several times a day, usually at two hour intervals. Employés, usually girls, are charged with this service, and in a big shop or office they are busy all day long carrying trays of tea, glasses and sugar to all the workers.

Work in Outer Clothing.

In all bureaus, except those with locker installations, employés keep their belongings right with them for fear of having them stolen. Office workers drape their overcoats over the backs of their chairs, and either wear their hats or place them on the desks before them.

Women employés hang their coats on nails in the wall behind them and usually keep their shawls twisted around the necks for extra warmth. Sometimes they keep their rubbers or felt boots on to work in. Other times they stuff the galoshes in their pockets or suspend their boots with string on the nail with their coats. In that case they wear carpet slippers at work.

Time clocks are no more in most offices. Long ago they got out of order and have not been repaired. In shops and factories they have checkers to note the time of arrival of all comrades and mark them down on a slate.

Charge to Ride Elevators.

Elevators have been kept in good state of repair and function a good deal better than they do in France. In some buildings there is a charge of a kopeck or two to ride up in the lift; then there is an attendant to collect the fares before he opens the door.

The new high buildings now under construction will all have high speed elevators, operated by attendants, instead of the slow automatic lifts generally in use. A number of 9 story apartment houses have already been completed and even higher ones are projected in the new housing scheme to furnish adequate quarters for the city's growing population.

VIENNA, March 18.—The danger of Russian dumping to the economic and political structure of Europe was one of the principal subjects for discussion at the first session of the central European economic conference, which opened here today.

"When one sees how all the great industrial exporting states of Europe and America are running their feet off under the pressure of the unemployment problem to get orders in connection with the Russian five year plan," said Count Maxi Hoyos, president of the Budapest Chamber of Agriculture, "and when one thinks that another $32,000,000 is soon to be invested in the plan, it sends a cold shiver down one's back.

"What we call Russian dumping may be advantageous to Russia's economy, but the method of price fixing is quite other than obtains in capitalist countries. That is the monstrous danger which threatens us, first, economically, and, secondly, politically."

FEAR TAX RISE AS TREASURY'S RECEIPTS DROP

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 18.—[Special.]—A treasury deficit for the current fiscal year of close to 700 millions is a possibility, according to some government officials in close touch with the government's financial situation.

Smaller income tax receipts for the first quarter of the calendar year, coupled with mounting government expenditures, is responsible in part for the feeling of treasury experts that the original estimate of a 400 to 500 million dollar deficit was too low.

Following a conference with the President and treasury officials, Chairman Reed Smoot [Rep., Utah] stated that he was certain the anticipated deficit woud be 500 millions or above.

Although income tax receipts for the first quarter are still too meager for accurate forecasting, Senator Smoot said that the deficit may be of proportions that would necessitate an increase in tax rates or a reduction of the sinking fund for public debt reduction.

Offered Tax Increase.

The senator added that, personally, he was opposed to any increase in taxes at a time when the country was just beginning to recover from a severe economic depression.

The last treasury estimate of the size of the deficit was made by Undersecretary Mills, testifying before congressional committees in opposition to the veterans' bonus loan legislation. He placed it then at below 500 million dollars.

Mr. Mills' figures also were upset when congress in the closing days of the last session made immediately available the appropriation of 112 million dollars for account of the adjusted service certificate fund [veterans' bonus fund] which would not otherwise be available until Jan. 1, 1932. This action was taken so that the fund, then totaling about 750 million dollars, accumulated over a period of years, would be increased to cover loans which the veterans might seek. This increased the budget deficit 112 million dollars.

Bonus Loans Big Factor.

If bonus loans between now and June 30, the end of the fiscal year, do not exceed $62 million dollars, the approximate total of the adjusted service sinking fund as it will stand when the additional 112 million dollars is set aside on the treasury books, the loan payments will have no further effect upon the size of the deficit, as the total of this sinking fund will represent money already set aside by the treasury for payments to veterans.

Treasury officials admitted tonight, however, that it is too early to state exactly what the income tax will produce during the current year.

Latest figures available on tax payments disclosed that $13,100,362 was received at the treasury March 16, as compared with $18,149,900 on March 15, 1930.

ASSURE CHANNEL FOR OPENING OF BARGE SERVICE

Dredging in the Illinois river has progressed far enough to assure ample depth for the inauguration of the proposed barge line between St. Louis and Peoria, tentatively set for April 1, Lieut. Col. W. C. Weeks, United States army engineer, said yesterday.

Ultimate plans for the dredging project, which must be completed by Oct. 1, call for a nine foot channel all the way, and a channel of six and one-half feet will be ready by April, sufficient for the passage of barges not too heavily loaded, Col. Weeks said.

The barge line will go from Peoria to Grafton and then by way of the Mississippi river to St. Louis. The Mississippi is at a low stage now between St. Louis and Grafton and this may cause some delay in the barge service, according to Col. Weeks.

27 Hour Air Mail Across U. S. to Be Started April 1

Beginning April 1 three air mail planes will be operated daily between Oakland, Cal., and Chicago, supplanting the present two plane service, the postoffice department announced yesterday. One of the planes will be trimotored and will carry 18 passengers. On the new schedule there will be 27 hour mail and passenger service between the Pacific and Atlantic coasts.

Fund Provided in Public Works Bill Budget.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., March 18.—[Special.]—Gov. Emmerson today announced that the appropriation bill for the department of public works would include funds to investigate proposals that the state, with revenue from the motor registration fees and gasoline tax, construct an elevated highway in Chicago.

"I cannot commit the state to build the elevated roads," the governor continued. "I am merely saying that we'll give the traffic problems of the metropolis area the same consideration that we give the traffic problems of other parts of the state.

"There are some who advocate that the most pressing need of traffic is the construction of forty foot roads out from Chicago as far as Rockford. There are others, as evinced by the bills that have been introduced, who favor the immediate addition of many more miles to the state highway system.

"Complete Bond Issue System."

"The administration wants to give fair consideration to all proposals, to ascertain by a thorough survey the requirements of traffic. Our first obligation is to complete the bond issue system. It is true that this system will not be completed until adequate extensions have been constructed. There is pending in the house bills that will authorize the state to build in municipalities.

"Under these bills the state could construct elevated highways where it is found by a survey that they are of urgent demand for traffic. If there is any doubt about the bills giving the state this authority, I have no objection to changing their wording.

"Also pending in the legislature is a bill that would take away half of the state's revenue from the gasoline. If this is adopted, it will postpone the completion of the bond issue system and seriously hamper the state's plan to provide facilities for through traffic in municipalities."

Refers to Galvin Bill.

The governor referred to the bill, sponsored by the Illinois League of Municipalities and introduced by Representative A. O. Galvin [Rep.] of Chicago, which would give municipalities one cent of the gasoline tax with little restriction on how it should be spent. There was a hearing on this measure this afternoon before the house committee on motor vehicles and transportation. A vote on the committee's recommendation was postponed until next Wednesday.

Those who spoke against the measure included State Highway Engineer Sheets, R. L. Schoenberger of Princeton, president of the Illinois Association of County Highway Superintendents; Sidney Gorham of the Chicago Motor club, and J. C. Watson of the Illinois Agricultural association.

These representatives of varied interests were in accord that the state should retain its two cents of the gasoline tax to complete the bond issue system and to maintain and construct village and city streets used by state highway traffic.

HIS $125,000 LIFE INSURANCE DUE, HE KILLS SELF

Los Angeles, Cal., March 18.—(AP)—Robert F. Meyers, 56, oil station operator, called a life insurance agent, W. K. Brusk, on the telephone to discuss payment of a $1,400 premium due on a $125,000 policy. Meyers explained he could not meet the payment.

More conversation followed. Then Meyers said:

"Well, I'll either deliver the premium to you within an hour or you can have my body."

JUDGE TO RULE ON PATERNITY OF LONGLEY TODAY

Will Decide Fate of Estate Contest.

Final arguments on the question of whether George Adair Greene Longley of Janesville, Wis., is the son of Albert W. Longley, late hat manufacturer, were concluded yesterday before Circuit Judge Michael Feinberg. A decision on Longley's paternity will be given this morning, the judge announced.

Judge Feinberg will rule only on the question of paternity in the suit of George Longley to break the will of the manufacturer. The contestant claims that he is the son of the testator by his first wife and therefore should share in his $1,000,000 estate. His contention is opposed by Mrs. Mary Caroline Longley, third wife of the manufacturer, now the beneficiary of the income from the estate.

Contest to Be Jury Case.

Should the judge rule that the claimant is the son of the elder Longley, the will contest will be tried before a jury. George Longley contends that the manufacturer was unduly influenced in executing his will.

"It is commendable," the attorney declared, "that in the environment of liquor and sin, when George Longley was a youth, he did not touch liquor and continues today to be a total abstainer.

"He was compelled by his father to go through life calling himself a brother of his mother, and the only way to right the wrong is to submit the case to a jury to decide if the will was the result of undue influence."

Born Before Marriage.

Attorneys for the contestant have contended that he was born eighteen months before his father and mother were married—that because of this he was sent to his maternal grandmother to be reared on her farm, near Janesville, Wis.

George Longley's mother was pictured by Attorney Everett as a 15 year old convent girl who came to Chicago to take music lessons and met the manufacturer, who refused to marry her until eighteen months after the birth of their son.

The attorney also urged the judge to comment in his decision on the application of the Mendelian law of heredity which had been introduced by counsel for the defense to prove that the brown eyed George Longley could not be the son of the manufacturer and his first wife because they both had blue eyes.

SENATOR WATSON IN CITY; AWAITS NORRIS' ANSWER

Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, stopping in Chicago for a few days to visit his sons, yesterday said that he is still waiting for a reply to the fourteen questions to progressives which he addressed to Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska last week.

"However, I didn't expect an answer when I asked the questions," Senator Watson said. "Senator Norris' only reply was a personal attack on me, a reaction that was to be expected. Senator Bob La Follette took the best way out. He said I hadn't been invited to the progressives' conference in Washington and that therefore they were not obliged to answer my questions."

STOMACH ILLS

A Medical Opinion

"The ideal corrective for 'sour stomach' is calcium carbonate—a potential anti-acid, incapable of disturbing the normal action of the bowels and bladder, impossible of overdosage and perfectly safe to use."

—Your own doctor will confirm this quotation from noted medical authority.

A Powerful Anti-acid—yet Safe

Old-fashioned folks, not abreast with medical science, still take burning soda. Occasional doses may do no harm.

But Calcium Carbonate, in proper form, is the modern anti-acid: 2½ times as effective as soda, and is safe in its action and positive in its relief.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the ideal form of Calcium Carbonate combined with other valuable healing ingredients. Medical authorities commend Stuart's formula as the only kind for use with children and best for men and women.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

THURSDAY, MARCH 19, 1931.  17

A Pre-view by Fanny Butcher

ROBERT NATHAN has a delightful quality in most of his writing, a freshness, a gayety, a verve—we were about to say vernay, but that word has been used so often for a sort of cornmeal-mushy kind of writing.

ROBERT NATHAN.

So that has gone out of our vocabulary as anything but a word of derision. If it were a fresh and free word, without all of the spawn of sentimentality which it has acquired, we should certainly draft it for Robert Nathan's special lift of idea. "The Woodcutter's House," "The Fiddler in Barly," "There Is Another Heaven"—they all were whimsies.

"The Orchid," Mr. Nathan's latest novel, has enough charming quality to make one realize how much of that it really lacks. A complicated comment, I know, but I mean exactly that. If it were an entirely different type of thing, like his "Autumn," for instance, which wasn't at all whimsical, you wouldn't feel the lack of something in it.

"Autumn" was a novel in a mood, remarkable and unforgettable, because it gave the essence of the autumn of life; also it was published when the author was only twenty-seven years old. It had the mellowness of age, and its charm was in the author's comprehension of and sympathy with the aged.

"The Orchid" is not a novel of mood, except that it is about spring and what spring does to a group of New Yorkers. It is a novel in the manner of the later, more whimsical tales.

To this reader "The Orchid" misses its goal. The characters don't come alive to you especially, and the story is strained. It is about a beautiful actress. She is being importuned by a Very Rich Man to flee with him.

Meanwhile, the rich man's wife, who heads committees and writes letters to the Times, secretly yearns to be a pampered and helpless darling in her husband's strong hands. There is a simple little music teacher who guides the thumbs of the actress' son and utters charming observations about music and life (always in that order). The actress' hairdresser yearns for a man, and she finds him, the owner of a merry-go-round in Central park who once was a tenor in la Scala (in the chorus) and who now keeps in voice by accompanying the calliope of his carrousel. To all of them spring comes with its usual temptations and insinuations.

"The Orchid" is gay and light. You can read it in an evening and still have your eight hours sleep. But its charms are, it seems to me, pale ones. If you really care what happens to any one in the book, that will be because you have a sweeter nature than I have and your human sympathies embrace mankind. Not that I demand characters in books which make you yearn over them. Gay books have no business making any one yearn. But they often do grab you with their skinny hands, like the ancient mariner, and make you listen to their tales as some more solemn books never can.

"The Orchid" is charming, and while you're reading it you enjoy it, but if some one should burst in upon your communion with a suggestion about going places and seeing things you wouldn't necessarily refuse because you were doing something that was infinitely more thrilling. Some—most—of Robert Nathan's books do not let you be lured easily from their delights.

There is in "The Orchid" the description of a literary tea given by the firm of Laocoon, Ltd., "whose imprint," says Mr. Nathan, "was thought by some to represent publishers struggling with a group of authors in the form of serpents." It was given to introduce a distinguished author(ess) to the journalists and writers of the city. "However," continues Mr. Nathan, "neither Miss Arbuthnot nor her novel were of the slightest interest to the critics, journalists, editors, poets, and other novelists who crowded into the bar with cheerful cries or took each other by the arm to dance in the ballroom. They believed in life, not literature."

And there follows an amusing description of the actions of the assorted guests in varying degrees of mental disintegration, working very hard at believing in life. It's a very funny satire, but no satire is any funnier than the thing itself. Literary tee-hees, they ought to be called.

Good morning!

Do you know what I think?

I think that Leila Hyams is by way of becoming a great actress!

All of her work in "Men Call It Love" is finely intuitive and intelligent, and in several scenes she is amazingly good. It's going to be fun keeping an eye on her from now on.

There's nothing the least bit original about the story of this picture. It is merely one more of those smarty, supposedly ultra-sophisticated drawing room drammers that concentrates the spotlight on marital inconstancy. Beautiful ladies flit here and there wearing beautiful clothes, sinning, suffering, and laughing up their sleeves. Men in correct attire mull about as men will mull, sometimes getting the best of it and sometimes getting the worst of it. Liquor flows; chatter patters; misunderstandings rear their ugly heads and hiss and sometimes bite—and, again, ca'med by the magic something that men call love, draw in their fangs and purr like kittens. All regulation stuff, you see, as to yarn.

However, the film has been well directed and keenly cast. Adolphe Menjou, as a man about town, gives his usual smooth as silk performance. Norman Foster is engaging as Miss Hyams' husband—though his voice doesn't get across very well. Mary Duncan does a nice job of vamping, and all minor parts are played understandingly.

Photography and sound are satisfactory, and the dialogue, if not always brilliant, is at least always well delivered.

So, all in all——?

Thousands to Get Jobs on Rockefeller "Radio City" Soon

New York, March 18.—(AP)—A few men got together this evening and completed a transaction in steel, ten or fifteen million dollars' worth. The estimate was made by the steel men that 25,000 men will find work through the project.

It will be used to build the Rockefeller "radio city" between 5th and 6th avenues and 48th and 51st street, and 125,000 tons of it will be fabricated by the American Bridge company, to be delivered within three years.

The contract was styled the largest ever awarded for structural steel. It calls for two and a half times as much as went into the new Hudson river bridge; three times as much as in the Empire State building; enough to build ten battleships or a rail line between New York and Chicago.

FASCISTS RULE MOVIES MUST NOT EMPLOY SEX APPEAL IN ITALY

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, March 18.—Sex appeal will have to disappear from the films in Fascist Italy. This ruling was made by the film censorship committee and adopted by the council of ministers on Premier Benito Mussolini's initiative today. It represents a triumph for the Vatican and Pope Pius XI. The pope in a recent address before the Lenten preachers complained that picture shows in Italy often were immoral.

The undersecretary of the interior, Sig. Arpinati, replied somewhat in the negative to the pope's charges, but nevertheless the council of ministers today decided that something should be done.

Today's order becomes effective immediately. It will reduce the membership of the committees that act on the films. Previously there was so much difference of opinion on films as to good or bad the decision often was a compromise.

There are two committees provided—one for first revision and one for appeals. Police officials will be given influential positions on both committees. The first committee will be made up of high ranking officials from the ministry of the interior and the general in charge of the police department will act as its president. In addition it will include an official from the ministry of corporations, a representative of the Fascist party, one magistrate, and one mother.

The appeals committee will include two heads of divisions of the police department, two persons from the ministry of corporations, one Fascist party representative, one magistrate, and one mother.

The duty of these censorship boards will be to forbid pictures regarded as containing nudity and those depicting social crime and immorality. The boards will encourage scenic and educational pictures.

May Robson Takes Job with Talkies; Lauds Them

"The talking picture is the medium between the legitimate stage and the motion picture," she said. "The silent drama never meant a thing to me. All we did then was to make faces at ourselves."

Miss Robson, who recently appeared in a stage play, "Mother's Millions," written especially for her, has been given a long term contract by Liberty Productions. She previously was featured in several silent films, among them "The Angel of Broadway" and "The Blue Danube."

Her work in talking pictures will mean her temporary retirement from the stage, she said.

Plan to Recall Clara Barton and Red Cross

Residents of Dansville to Aid Celebration.

Dansville, N. Y., March 18.—(AP)—The birthplace of the first chapter of the American Red Cross is bustling with activity in preparation for a celebration of its 50th anniversary.

It was in this little Livingston county village that Clara Barton, "the angel of the battlefield," found new strength to carry on her life's work.

Although she came here thoroughly exhausted by her efforts in the civil war, she sent a constant stream of messages to both friends and opponents of her plan to interest the United States government in the International Red Cross sessions.

Addressing an audience in the First Presbyterian church here Aug. 7, 1881, she explained the purposes of her proposed organization. And on Aug. 22, 1881, at the Lutheran church, Clara Barton chapter, No. 1, of the American Red Cross came into being.

A month later a devastating forest fire swept a huge area of the state of Michigan. Liberal cash subscriptions were obtained, and food and clothing were donated under her direction.

Rochester became interested in what the first Red Cross chapter was doing at Dansville, and asked Clara Barton to establish one there. Before the end of the month of September a third chapter was organized in Syracuse.

Grateful Michigan representatives in congress used their influence on President Arthur and others at Washington. A message announcing the accession of the United States to the treaty of Geneva was ratified by the senate March 16, 1882.

"Miss Barton is a woman somewhat above medium height, of pleasant mobile features, wonderfully expressive. Her dark eyes have liquid depths which seem unfathomable. They have so often looked upon suffering humanity that they seem full of pity, but there is something about them suggesting fire that can blaze upon occasion with righteous indignation at a wrong. Her luxuriant hair, still black as a raven's wings, does not follow fashion's ways, but is dressed like hair in Longfellow's 'Evangeline,' low down on either side of the forehead."

The anniversary committee has set Wednesday, Sept. 9, as the date for the celebration.

MURIEL M'CORMICK WILL MAKE STAGE DEBUT HOLY WEEK

Palm Beach, Fla., March 18.—[Special.]—Long interested in the theater, Miss Muriel McCormick, daughter of Harold F. McCormick of Chicago and granddaughter of John D. Rockefeller, will make her debut as an actress before the footlights on March 31 at the Playhouse here, it was learned today.

Miss McCormick will essay the rôle of Mona Lisa in "The Face," a play by Frances Guignard Gibbes of Columbia, S. C. Daniel Reed, adapter of "Scarlet Sister Mary," has come from New York to direct Miss McCormick in the production, which will be in keeping with Holy week spirit.

"The Face" concerns the life of Leonardo Da Vinci and how he came to paint the celebrated "Mona Lisa" now hanging in the Louvre. Miss Gibbes' play treats with the legend that Da Vinci first had to paint the enigmatic Mona Lisa before he could portray the Christus of his famous "Last Supper."

Miss McCormick made her bow as impresario of a successful stock company at the Playhouse this season. Her interests lie toward some day entering the Broadway production field.

Miss McCormick has no qualms or fears of stage fright in playing the rôle of leading lady. She believes in the Da Vinci play, feeling she could have no finer vehicle in which to make her stage debut. Special arrangements are being made for its production. John D. Rockefeller, who is wintering at Ormond, it is said, is expected here for his granddaughter's debut.

American Church of Berlin Faces Sale Under Transfer Tax

BERLIN, March 18.—[Special.]—The American church here is menaced with a tax foreclosure sale unless it can pay within a fortnight a real estate transfer tax of over 10,000 marks that was assessed by the city, although no actual change of ownership has occurred. The church's yearly income does not amount to 10,000 marks and it possesses no foundation fund.

The church was organized long before the war as a limited liability corporation, all of whose shares belonged to the American and Foreign Christian Union of New York. This form of organization proved unfitted for the church and it was reorganized last year as a membership corporation. The American Union transferred the shares to liquidators, who retransferred them to the union, which now, as before, is the sole owner of the church porperty.

The city of Berlin, however, demanded a transfer tax.

Miss Sarah C. N. Bogle, assistant secretary of the American Library association, will speak on "International Understanding" at a luncheon of the American Association of University Women on Saturday at the Chicago Woman's club. More Opera Singers Return; Scenery Is Put in Storage

Lavish costumes and scenery that delighted the eyes of opera-goers the last season went into retirement yesterday until next October after a 9,600 mile journey with operatic stars about the country.

Two special trains brought 220 persons connected with the Chicago Civic Opera back to town yesterday over the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad from Lincoln, Neb., the last stop on an itinerary that took the company from coast to coast. Immediately upon their arrival came the disbandment of the opera stars, many of whom will go abroad for concert and operatic appearances until the curtain rises next fall on the Chicago season.

Officials of the opera company said last night that the touring season just completed was a much more successful one than had been anticipated in view of business depression.

Among the most eager of the opera stars to get back to Chicago was Claudia Muzio, who will appear in concert tonight at the Chicago Civic theater. Another recital will be that of Tito Schipa on March 29.

Mussolini Creates Bureau to Work Up Tourist Trade

ROME, March 18.—(AP)—To encourage tourists to visit Italy Premier Mussolini proposed today at a meeting of the council of ministers the creation of a new office to be called undersecretary of state for tourism. The suggestion was adopted. The cabinet also decided to abolish the offices of 145 government officials, which, it was said, would result in a saving of $3100,000 a year.

Painting, Emperor's Gift to Emperor, Stolen in Church

MEXICO CITY, March 18.—(AP)—Thieves broke into a church at Queretaro Monday night and cut out of its frame a valuable religious painting presented by the emperor of Austria to the Emperor Maximilian of Mexico on his wedding day. Some time ago an offer of $50,000 for the painting was rejected.

THE STAGE

THE Dramatic League of Chicago, whose season of subscription plays will end next Saturday night with Jane Cowl's last performance of "Twelfth Night," is already making plans for next season. It issues a bulletin which contains a number of stimulating promises.

The program will be extended from six to seven plays, and the season will be lengthened from twenty-four to twenty-eight weeks. Its first season, incidentally, was only twenty weeks long; and thus there is statistical evidence that the league is a growing concern. The Harris theater will remain the scene of its activities.

The directors of the league already have a catalog of plays to offer their subscribers. They are able to mention an impressive list of titles, some of which have figured in past prospectuses. A. A. Milne's "Give Me Yesterday," now a success at the Charles Hopkins theater, New York, is one of the items in which they feel secure. Others are Pinero's latest drama, "Dr. Harmer," which is scheduled for production in the east this spring with Philip Merivale as star; "The New Colony" by Pirandello; a German comedy called "Napoleon Intervenes"; two Hungarian pieces, known as "Dice" and "Alice Tokats"; Franz Molnar's "The Tale of the Wolf," which will be named "Interrupted"; and new pieces of English and American authorship called "The Mulberry Bush," "Our Pleasant Sins," and "Tables for Ladies."

Leslie Banks, recently here in "The Man in Possession," will probably appear in "The Mulberry Bush." Isabel Jeans, who was the Mayfair adventuress in "The Man in Possession," may be assigned to the leading rôle in "Dice."

Beatrice Lillie gives the theatrical news a hospital tinge. She underwent an operation for acute appendicitis in New York last Tuesday afternoon, and reports upon her condition are favorable. Miss Lillie recently spent a week in vaudeville at the Palace theater, New York. She has been engaged for the rôle of principal comedienne in the "Third Little Show," which will be staged in New York, May 18.

The Spingarn medal, given each year to an American Negro for distinguished achievement, has been awarded to Richard Berry Harrison, who acts the rôle of "The Lawd" in "The Green Pastures." The presentation will take place next Sunday on the stage of the Mansfield theater, New York, where "The Green Pastures" has been in performance for more than a year. Mr. Harrison is the second Negro actor to be honored in the seventeen years of this award's history. The other was Charles S. Gilpin.

Rumors that the Blackstone Theater company, headed by Tracy C. Drake, is negotiating for the lease of the Majestic theater, which has been tenantless since the departure of "Lysistrata," have gone the way of most rumors. In other words, they have perished for lack of confirmation. It seems that the Blackstone management had an idea of booking "Stepping Sisters" in the Majestic for an engagement, but changed its mind. Spirit of Inquiry Hailed as Basis of Sciences and Arts

Urbana, Ill., March 18.—[Special.]—The spirit of inquiry and the spirit of appreciation are the two outstanding qualities which, with reasoning power, distinguish man from beasts. So Dr. Karl T. Compton, president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, declared before members of Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi, national honorary societies at the University of Illinois, tonight.

"The spirit of inquiry is the motive power which has led to the discoveries on which civilization is so largely based. The spirit of appreciation is the motive power in artistic work, whether the artist be painter, scientist, or engineer," he said. "The importance of the spirit of inquiry to the student is that which transforms his work from that of a sponge, a drudge, and a slave to that of an eager enthusiast, working toward ever increasing achievements in discovery and appreciation of nature.

"One of the most difficult things for the teacher of science to avoid is giving his students the feeling that science or engineering consists in learning how to do standardized jobs in an accepted manner. That impression sometimes may be gained from the necessity of laying a foundation of past experience, but it is entirely contrary to the real spirit of science and progress."

Finds Children Well Informed on Civic Wars

Bootleggers Lead in Interest, Survey Tells.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 18.—(AP)—Basing his statements upon researches made by Prof. W. H. Burton of the University of Chicago, William John Cooper, United States commissioner of education, said today the modern child knows more about bootleggers than he does about any other phase of the country's economic and social life.

"According to Prof. W. H. Burton," Mr. Cooper said, "we learn that nearly 100 per cent of boys and 90 per cent of girls know all about the bootlegger and his activities, but only 40 per cent had heard about the dry laws or knew that the bootlegger was violating them.

"Many children regard the bootlegger simply as a well dressed and wealthy man. An appreciable percentage of the boys could see nothing wrong about being a bootlegger except the interference of the police."

Quoting Prof. Burton, Mr. Cooper said after the bootlegger, the items best known to children, in order, were: Divorce, sheriff, Juvenile court, bail, jury, mayor, election, polling place, ballot, taxes, insurance, bank, rent, and bank deposit.

"Under modern conditions," Mr. Cooper declared, "some of the factors which have influenced the character of children are breaking down. To a question asked of a schoolchild in a survey: 'What is done at election?' the answer was: 'You write who is to be mayor, and then collect your money.' Investigation showed the children knew all about vote buying.

"The schools are not to blame. There is a growing body of material which parents should have. They should get into closer contact with the schools through parent-teacher associations."

As a part of the work the home should do, Mr. Cooper urged the discarding of the doctrine that "children should be seen and not heard," and criticized "white lies" and "social fibs" as "harmful influences."

"Red Riding Hood" Runs Into Trap of Censorship

LONDON, March 18.—(AP)—Even Little Red Riding Hood does not entirely escape the censors' shafts. The British board of film censors, it was reported today, found that a film of the Little Red Riding Hood story has "a terrifying effect on neurotic children." The board is a voluntary organization, but its rulings have come to be regarded as authoritative.

Lent Day by Day

BY DR. G. GEORGE FOX
Rabbi South Shore Temple

TO LOVE—
Not as Amnon loved Tamar, with the eye of the flesh and to satiafy the flesh; not as David and Jonathan loved, though with a pure affection for the virtues of each other and the endowments of each other.

TO LOVE—
Not as Damon and Pythias—they were tied together by mutual admiration and an inexpressibly strong bond of friendship; not as Paul first loved Barnabas, into whose soul there had flown that same love and enthusiasm for the faith, as in that of Paul.

TO LOVE—
Not as Disraeli loved his England to the exclusion of all other peoples; not as Napoleon loved Maria Louise, for the glorifying of self and for the exalting of his own house.

BUT TO LOVE—
As Moses loved Israel—that Moses, who fearing that the Lord would destroy his people because of its sinfulness, prayed, "Blot me out, O Lord, but let them live."

As Jesus loved, when contemplating God and man and their relationship to each other, feeling that universal love alone can unite man to man, and man to the Father, repeated the commands from Deuteronomy and Leviticus, "Thou shalt love God and thy neighbor as thyself."

TO LOVE—
As Florence Nightingale loved, to stem the tide of suffering. As Nathan Straus, who loved through lines of creed, nationality, color or strain, only to help to give, "even until it hurts!"

TO LOVE—
As Abraham Lincoln loved, to save the dignity of human life of those whom fate had made of different color.

Such love it is that counts—the love that melts the ices of human frailty and failing into a stream of life giving light.

PRAYER.

O, Reservoir of Love, may we of flesh and blood be privileged to dip into this stream of light, and bathe our souls in Thy divine Shekinah.

Judge Brings a Wandering Mate to Time—in Cell

BY DORIS BLAKE.

On the subject of bringing up husbands we have at hand today a piece of unusual advice. It comes from one of them—but, here, let "Thomas W." tell it: "I have been married for seven years. My wife and I have three children—grand kids, too. Well, I was working steadily and my wife and I were getting along swell. Then things got slack in my line and before I knew it I was out of a job. I wasn't used to being idle. I had to keep moving, so I met up with some fellows and they introduced me to a girl and then the trouble began.

"She sure didn't love me for my money and I didn't love her for anything she had. I didn't love her at all. But word got to my wife about my running around and she had me hauled up before a judge. A friend of my wife's told her that the judge would give me a talking to and bring me to my senses. He sure did. A talking to and six months he gave me to come to my senses.

"Well, during the six months I got the senses back, all right. My wife said if she knew that I'd get six months she'd never have hauled me up before a judge. But she's wrong. It taught me a lesson. I've learned plenty and found out who my friends are, and my wife was the best of all.

"So, if your readers want a real tip on how to bring a husband to time, tell them to can the kindhearted, patient stuff and go after us rummies the way we should be gone after.

I'm not advocating, with "Thomas," that you tell a judge on a troublesome mate—but I think there's something in his advice not to pull the kind-hearted stuff on him. Telling judges invites publicity of one's marital woes that is not conducive to later harmony, nor agreeable at any time. But, of course, you've got to know your man and the extent to which he is other-woman involved.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Let Her Think It Over.

Dear Miss Blake: My friend gave a party. I could not go. I explained, but she doesn't believe me. I love her. GEORGE."

FARM AND GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER

More than 1,000 club women will be at work today placing the final touches on exhibits which will comprise the annual flower show of the Garden Club of Illinois which will open Saturday at the Merchandise Mart, to continue until the close Friday evening, March 27.

Members of the 102 clubs are completing such projects as miniature gardens for tables, landscape pictures, and life-size gardens made of living plants from 200 to 400 square feet in size. The final work consists in setting out flowering plants and shrubs.

Mrs. W. L. Karcher, president of the Garden Club of Illinois, under whose direction the show has been promoted, financed, and managed, said yesterday, "The show will be the largest ever held in Chicago, it is now apparent. We have all been impressed by the spaciousness of the exhibition halls that have been provided and by the success which has been achieved in creating the atmosphere of a great garden indoors. In many respects it will be the most spectacular show Chicago has ever seen."

Commercial growers of the Chicago district have decided to take part in the show and will send exhibits of their choicest roses, carnations, sweet peas, calendulas, snapdragons, orchids, and potted plants.

One feature will be exhibits of junior garden clubs, in which children of the various suburbs are enrolled. These projects will include feeding tables for birds, flower markets, conservation posters, bouquets of forced shrubs, bouquets for "teacher's desk," miniature garden models, and several playhouse exhibits to demonstrate how corners in the garden may be equipped for the children.

Food Talk.

Sautéed or fried fish appears on our menu for tomorrow's dinner. Some people object to frying and sautéing because they think these methods produce foods that are necessarily soaked with fat that has been heated to such a high temperature as to be indigestible. With careless cooking this is true, but with the proper care such foods are as free from fat and are just as digestible as the ordinary boiled food that is seasoned with fat. Fried or sautéed fish, I think, is particularly nice because one can obtain a crisp, brown crust that makes a pleasing contrast with the tender, flaky inside.

Some prefer to dip fish in egg and then in fine crumbs before frying. I prefer cornmeal to anything else and no egg. The cornmeal produces a granular crisp crust that is delicious. If the fish is to be fried in deep fat it will have to be salted when it is rolled in corn meal. If it is sautéed [cooked in shallow fat] the fish should not be salted until it is about half cooked. Fish is much juicer when it is salted after the cooking has progressed. Salt draws out the juices.

Both frying and sautéing are rapid methods of cooking. The time required for cooking fish is shorter than cooking any other meat because there is no connective tissue. If the fish is fried it should be put into fat that is at least 360 degrees F. If the pieces are about half an inch thick they should cook well done in about three minutes. If they are in thicker pieces it will take longer. Sautéing will not require longer than five minutes.

To sauté successfully the fish should be put into hot fat, but not smoking hot. This sears the surface, produces a crisp exterior, and keeps in the juices. Then the heat should be reduced to finish cooking. To be at its best fish should be served the minute it is done. And if it has a fine flavor to begin with do not mask it with lemon juice or tartar sauce. These accompaniments are intended for fish that lacks flavor. There is nothing more delicious than the delicate flavor of many kinds of fresh fish and to enjoy this flavor most the fish should be served without sauces. I feel about good fish as I do about good steak or roast. It can stand alone on its own merits.

BANANA CUSTARD.

¼ cup sugar.
1 pint milk, scalded.
Sliced bananas.

Mix the slightly beaten eggs, sugar, and salt thoroughly. Add hot milk. Stir until sugar is dissolved. Stirring constantly, cook in a double boiler until a coating forms on the spoon. Remove from fire, add flavoring and cool. Pour this custard over ripe bananas, sliced thin. Cover with meringue. Stand in the oven just long enough to toast the meringue. Chill and serve.

Meta Given will answer in this department questions that are of general interest from readers. Personal replies will be made by mail where a stamped self-addressed envelope is inclosed.

New Coiffures Are Simple and Follow the Head Line

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

About coiffures—the most important thing to remember is that a small head is the effect to be aimed at. You hear "the more feminine the coiffure now, the more in style." But you cannot use that word feminine to apply to any effect savoring of bushiness or "wildness" of hair dress, any more than you can accept the curves desired for the new dresses as pounds of flesh. The fashionable curves are not fat.

I judge from heads observed here and there that a "feminine" hairdress may be taken too literally. The smartest heads are those that hew to the scalp line as strictly and as softly as can be managed. This management keeps the hair thinned out and shaped to give the good, neat, small head outline. We always have to remember that the head is the high spot of a trimmed down silhouette and should be the crowning point of all this svelte glory.

Dresses may be full skirted; coats may be flared, but the smart figure still wears its look of weight control. So the head cannot be out of proportion. Even the curls or ringlets, that conclude one of the moment's hairdress styles, are so managed as to add nothing to the "bulk" of the head look.

In fact, hairdressing now calls for more actual skill than ever it did, what with the temptation to let growing hair take a too full course, or as already suggested, taking the "feminine" hint too literally. It's questionable whether we ever will go back to the heavy head of hair that used to be a boast. Anyway, there are no indications of it now.

Short Sleeves Chic on Spring Jackets

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Jacket suits are forecasted by all the leading couturiers as spring runners and if the jackets have short sleeves, that's all to the good, as far as chic is concerned.

Worth announces that he is featuring jacket suits and coat dresses—for he feels it's time to rejuvenate the mode a bit—and that his leading shades for these costumes will be navy blue, beige or light brown.

The Premet jacket suit, sketched today, fulfills all the spring style specifications. It's in fine beige twill, a fabric that seems slated for a flourishing career. Its jacket has just the right elbow sleeves. It's plain, as you see, being trimmed only by bands of twill around the sleeves and patch pockets on the hips. It's worn with a beige suede belt to match the long flaring gloves.

The skirt gets its fullness in an unusual way, by narrow incrusted panels of tucks that spread out toward the knees where they finish and spray into folds.

This suit may be worn with a short sleeved waistcoat or with a long sleeved blouse of beige shantung and short gloves. You can see the effect of the latter combination on the small figure showing the back of the costume.

Don't Poison Yourself With Excess Acid

Excess acid curdles the food we eat into insoluble lumps, forms gas in the stomach and intestines, attacks the delicate linings of the digestive organs, and often produces constipation, ulcers and chronic indigestion.

You can correct stomach diseases almost at once. The surest and quickest relief is Milnesia Wafers—which are pure milk of magnesia in a pleasantly flavored wafer. Thousands of physicians and dentists are daily recommending Milnesia wafers in preference to the old-fashioned liquid form of milk of magnesia because they are more effective, more convenient, less expensive and much nicer to take.

Society Turns to Backgammon with True Zest

BY THALIA

YOU'VE never seen anything like the fervor with which everybody is playing backgammon right now. Wars have been fought with less spirit than actuates many of the backgammon battles that are being waged in smart clubs and homes.

The intricacies of "blots," "making points," "chouetting," and "doubles" are so fascinating that a backgammon board acts as a mascot to any one who has succumbed to the charms of the game.

I heard one hostess complaining: "Why, they never even waited for the cocktails to be served—they just dashed into the library and began playing. I think that's going too far."

And at a party Bluford Richardson Hoover gave a few nights ago there were nine boards in operation, and nobody paid the slightest attention to the supper, they were so absorbed in the game.

One proficient player—he's considered one of the best in town—if not THE best—says Mrs. Valentine Bartlett is about the best woman player hereabouts, and others amongst the feminine enthusiasts who are very good are Mrs. Darrow Fulton, Marjorie Letts, Mrs. Frederic McLaughlin, and Mrs. "Kim" Salisbury. Jack Peabody, Tom Gowanlock, "Doc" Van Alyea, rank at the head of the men players, according to general opinion, and Ralph Bond, Jim Peirce, Clifford Bohman, and Russell Kelley are avid and expert players.

The Racquet club tournament—which is protracted because so many of the men are away—is up to the semi-finals, with Larry Callahan, Jim Riley, and Bernard Rogers qualified for the next to the last round, and some of the preliminary matches still to be played off.

There's so much controversy about the proportion of luck and skill to the game and so much rivalry as to respective abilities at playing it, that the ardor of the game is far greater than with bridge.

There will be another opportunity to observe what clever and busy young ladies the Junior league members are at the arts and crafts exhibition the arts and interests committee is arranging at the Drake for next Tuesday. In the showing will be several exhibits that won prizes at the recent regional Junior league conference at Indianapolis. These include the miniature garden to be set up by Mrs. Ronald Boardman and Mrs. Donald Welles; scenery sketches by the Meadames Maher, Paepcke, and Badger; Mrs. William Lake's and Marguerite Foster's costume designs; Mrs. Charles R. Lindsay III.'s stage setting, and Mrs. Page Thibodeaux's model of an infant welfare station. Margaret James' sculptured elephants which recently appeared in the Chicago artists' show at the Institute are to be on display, as also will be some of Ann Croftan's drawings, and paintings by Martha Fitts and Mrs. James Mullen. Mrs. Stephen Y. Hord and Mrs. J. Beach Clow, the latter just recently returned from a winter's stay in California, are in charge of the exhibit and the tea to be given in the afternoon.

BRIDE

The marriage of Miss Evelyn Veronica Walsh, daughter of Mrs. Anna M. Walsh of 6519 University avenue, to Edward Eames Mangerson, son of Mrs. Maude E. Mangerson of 1427 East 67th street, took place on Tuesday afternoon at St. Clara's church. The ceremony was followed by a reception at the Stevens hotel. The bride attended the University of Illinois and is now a student at Lewis institute. After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Mangerson will reside at 7851 Loomis boulevard.

Mrs. A. A. Carpenter, Miss Jessie and Miss Catherine Colvin, Mrs. William G. Hibbard, and Miss Martha Sarver are among the members of the League of Women Voters who are going down to Springfield for the biennial legislative conference of the Illinois league on Tuesday and Wednesday, and for the meeting of the league's board of directors on Monday night.

Migratorially speaking . . . Mr. and Mrs. Slason Thompson of Lake Forest plan to depart the 9th of next month for a fortnight at White Sulphur Springs . . . the Kent Clows have been down south, pursuing members of various finny families in the waters round and about Key West . . . the W. Tracy Aldens are now at White Sulphur, and the Benjamin Leslie Behrs are expected to arrive there on the 26th . . . Mrs. Karen Nielsen Stevenson was to depart last night for a visit with friends in Santa Barbara . . . the Leslie Gordons of Winnetka have gone to Phoenix, and are staying at the Arizona-Biltmore.

Social particulars . . . President and Mrs. Robert Maynard Hutchins are to be guests at the dinner the Dante Alighieri society is to give next Monday evening at the Belden-Stratford hotel . . . Mrs. Foster Turner is here from Detroit, visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Macy S. Good, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Tracy L. Turner gave a luncheon for her one day last week . . . Mrs. Leonard Busby and her daughter, Janet, are at Virginia Hot Springs, presumably during Janet's spring vacation . . . Charlotte Eckhart gave a large luncheon at the Women's Athletic club last Saturday for her sister, Mrs. James R. D. Stevenson Jr. [the Stevensons were married in January, and are just about settled in their apartment on Addison street].

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., March 18.—[Special.]—The king and queen of Siam are to use the Massachusetts residence which Mr. and Mrs. Larz Anderson have offered them, during their stay in Washington next month. They are to arrive on April 28 and to remain until the evening of the 30th.

A dinner in their honor at the White House has been announced for the evening of April 29. Their first evening here they will dine in the Anderson home, which is being made ready for them, the owners being now on a tour of the orient. The Siamese minister, Maj. Gen. Prince Amorndat Kridakara, will be their guest that evening.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur chief of staff, was given a dinner tonight by Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Harry G. Bishop, who recently returned from a trip to Panama.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacques de Sibour went to New York last night and sailed today for Bermuda.

On the morning of the 30th, the king will go to Baltimore for an examination of his eyes, which is the chief purpose for which he is coming to this country. The royal party sailed today and will arrive at Vancouver on the 17th. En route eastward they will stop four hours in Chicago.

The Chinese minister, Dr. Wu, gave a luncheon today in honor of the retiring Brazilian ambassador, Senhor do Amaral. Among his guests were the Swiss minister; the assistant secretary of state, Francis White; Representative Linthicum of Baltimore; former American Ambassador to Germany Dr. David Jayne Hill; the Episcopal bishop of Washington, James E. Freeman; Gen. William E. Horton; Dr. James Brown Scott, formerly of Chicago; Dr. Stanley Hornbeck; Maj. Parker West, and Mark Sullivan.

Tells How Cleveland Refused Degree from Harvard University

New York, March 18.—(AP)—When Grover Cleveland was President he refused a degree of doctor of laws from Harvard, saying he was not worthy.

The incident was revealed tonight in a radio address by William Gorman Rice, state civil service commissioner, who was a private secretary when Cleveland was governor of New York. Rice was one of the speakers on a program celebrating the 94th anniversary of Cleveland's birth.

Rice read over WEAF a letter he received from the late Dr. Charles W. Eliot of Harvard. The incident happened in 1886 when Cleveland attended the celebration of Harvard university's 250th anniversary.

"Several members of the Harvard corporation and two members of the President's cabinet, namely, Secretary Lamar and Secretary Bayard, tried in vain to persuade the President to accept the degree," Dr. Eliot wrote. "But the President resolutely refused, alleging that he was not a suitable candidate for any academic degree, that his own education had been scanty, and that he could not possibly figure as a man of letters, scientist, or eminent lawyer."

At a dinner later in the day, Dr. Eliot said, the President made a speech in the course of which he happened to glance at Mrs. Cleveland. Said Dr. Eliot:

"He turned pale, and exclaimed: 'O, those ghouls of the press!' There were two long rows of reporters sitting at a table immediately in front of him. He uttered several denunciatory sentences on the conduct of the press toward himself as a man, and toward the President of the United States."

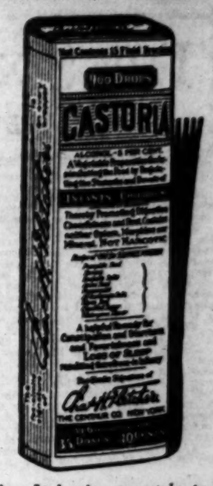
Castoria corrects CHILDREN'S ailments



WHAT a relief and satisfaction it is for mothers to know that there is always Castoria to depend on when babies get fretful and uncomfortable! Whether it's teething, colic or other little upset, Castoria always brings quick comfort; and, with relief from pain, restful sleep.

And when older, fast-growing children get out of sorts and out of condition, you have only to give a more liberal dose of this pure vegetable preparation to right the disturbed condition quickly.

Because Castoria is made expressly for children, it has just the needed mildness of action. Yet you can always depend on it to be effective. It is almost certain to clear up any minor ailment and cannot possibly do the youngest child the slightest harm. So it's the first thing to think of when a child has a coated tongue, is fretful and out of sorts. Be sure to get the genuine; with Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the package.

THE SIXTH JOURNEY

BY ALICE GRANT ROSMAN

SYNOPSIS.

John Falconer, a successful architect, returning home to England from Cape Town, meets Hilary Revel, author of travel books, on shipboard. During the journey home their acquaintance grows into a friendship neither wishes to end.

John tells Hilary of his daughter, Judith, born of a café singer while he was a soldier. His wife, John says, had magnanimously adopted the child. Hilary suspects such magnanimity. John's sister Gertrude became Judith's legal guardian when his wife died.

Hilary had taken her war-invalided brother Hugh away from home ten years ago to give her younger sister Christine and brother Stephen a better chance. Now that Hugh was dead, Hilary was returning home. Hilary is not met when the boat docks, and John takes her to her door. Hilary's stepfather, the only sympathetic member of her family, tells her that Hugh left her his possessions in trust, to be settled on her at her marriage or to buy her an annuity at the age of 40 if still single.

The next day after their return John takes Hilary to luncheon. He tells her he loves her and asks her to marry him and Hilary accepts.

Judith leads a lonely life in her aunt's home. She has a private teacher, Miss Mead, while her cousins are away at school. Her cousin Prue is her only friend in her aunt's house. Her father she knows as Uncle John. She senses she is different in some way from other children. When Aunt Gertrude hears of her brother's engagement she sends Judith to the country. Then she invites Hilary and John to dinner. John is uneasy about Judith not being in school. He thinks it unfair to drag Hilary continually into the question of the child, and Hilary feels that he has had enough interference in caring for Judith. John writes Gertrude for the truth. She replies that she cannot, as a decent citizen, send a waif of dubious parentage among other children.

Judith, at the farm of her former nurse Tracy's brother, is badly treated by the old servant. She has had no mail since her arrival.

A LITTLE FRIEND.

Judith, sitting under a tree in the wood, finished her second cake with appetite and felt refreshed. Above her head a bird burst into song and she looked at the paper regretfully, because she had kept no crumbs for him. This made her think of the sparrows at home, and she wondered if any one remembered to feed them now she was gone . . . but, of course, it was not really home any more. She had never faltered in her certainty that she was not to return to Wandsworth, though no one had actually said so, even Tracy. She had developed perhaps the sixth sense of all creatures who are helpless and insecure, and seemed to know so much that was never put into words. She knew, for instance, that Tracy hated her, had hated her long ago when she called her her darling and her lamb, and that somehow Aunt Sylvia was mixed up with Tracy's hatred; she knew that Aunt Gertrude's funny looks were also connected with Aunt Sylvia in some mysterious fashion and that this was why she did not really like Judy to talk to Uncle John; she knew that when Aunt Gertrude said to visitors, referring to Aunt Sylvia, "She adored children, and it's so wise when a woman like that has none of her own to adopt one, I always think," this was something she had made up to say and not really true at all.

Judy, tired by the fresh air and the puzzles of her life, leaned against the tree trunk and drifted into a troubled sleep, from which she was awakened suddenly by quick footsteps near at hand. Starting up, she saw a dozen yards away a boy about her own age with a shotgun in his hand. He was aiming it at the birds, and she cried in horror,

"Don't, O, don't!"

The boy looked around indignantly, exclaiming,

"You are a silly idiot to shout like that! And why shouldn't I, in my own wood?"

"Is it yours?" inquired Judy, much surprised.

"Well, whose did you think it was? This is my father's wood. I thought everybody knew that. And haven't you been told you should never put people off their aim? That's a jolly serious thing to do. Why, anything might happen."

"But I was afraid you might kill them," said Judy eagerly.

"You bet I would." His face broke into a smile at the boast, and he brought the gun down and tucked it professionally under his arm. "The little beggars deserve to be killed. You'd think so too if they came and ate all the pears and peaches off your walls."

"But they grow there. I say, you don't know much, do you?" said the boy in the kindest manner.

"I thought they grew on trees," admitted Judy, smiling because he smiled, and was soon listening to an exposition on fruit growing and the criminal instincts of the sparrow world.

"But how would you know you were killing the ones that really did it?" pleaded Judy, as once more he seemed about to raise his gun.

"O, I can't help that," said the young lord of the world largely and good naturedly. "I'm out to kill all the sparrows in the world. At least I'd like to . . . Why aren't you at school either? I've had to miss a term because they think I have a chest. Silly rot, isn't it?"

"I don't go to school," admitted Judith sadly.

"What, never?"

"No, but I shall when my father comes home. "He's away," she said in a confidential tone.

"Really? And wouldn't your mother let you go?"

"I haven't a mother."

"O," said the boy with some discomfort.

"She's dead," said Judy. "It was a long time ago, but I can remember. I have only had aunts since then."

"O, well, some aunts are not so bad."

"Aren't they?"

The boy laughed and came and sat down beside her, laying his gun on the grass.

"Judy Harris." Remembering the cakes and "Mother, you are an ass!" a delighted smile broke over her face.

"Punch and Judy!" grinned the boy, endeavoring to pull his own nose and chin into a likeness of Punch, and showing her the result. The wood rang with their laughter.

"I say," exclaimed Clive, suddenly jumping to his feet, "it's about time for the Flyer, and we'll just see her go past if we run."

Emptying the shot out of his gun and shoving it into his pocket as he ran, he was off, Judy following happily at his heels, though she did not know what it was all about. At the edge of the wood beside the London road he climbed the rail triumphantly and sat there astride.

"What is it?" asked Judy, mounting breathless beside him.

"The Flyers . . . You know, the new blue supercoach. She's only just been put on from Bedford to London. Three times a day she comes through and you can do the whole journey for 5 shillings. Why, the train's 8, and there's all the fuss of getting to the station, so it's a clear saving of 3 shillings. Here she comes. Look! We've done it to the minute."

The long blue coach slipped into view, her name in a flourish of gold on the shining body, and then was gone in a cloud of dust, the four young eyes straining eagerly after her.

"You see . . . topping, isn't she? Low hung like that, she's as comfortable as you like and, with those big fat seats too, beats a train hollow, besides being ever so much more exciting. When I go back to school next term I've got my people to say I can take the Flyer as far as London, because, after all, three bob is three bob in these days."

"And then," proceeded Clive, "look how jolly it is to stand at your own gate and just stop her and hop in. By Jove, look, she's picking up a passenger! Lucky there's a seat, because this one is usually pretty full, I've noticed. The first one goes through quite early, round about 7. This is the 11 and then there's another at 2."

Judy jumped down rather suddenly and with a beating heart.

"It can't be 11 o'clock. . . . I—I'll have to go. I'm late," she said in a voice of regret.

"O, what rot! Must you? You don't live down here, do you?" asked Clive.

"I am at Mr. Tracy's farm," said Judith.

"Nobody is there but me. My aunt sent me because she didn't think I ought to be in London in the summer, she said," reported Judy with a sad lack of conviction. "Mr. Tracy's sister was my nurse once, when I was with a different aunt though."

Clive nodded.

"Pity you have to go," he said, jumping down and walking beside her. "Come on, I'll race you for a bit."

A Friend in Need

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Party Slippers for Some One.

"I have several pair of evening slippers, size 6 AA, in good condition which I would like to give to some working girl who can't afford to buy them. One pair is apple green satin and the other is rose or coral.

These are most attractive evening slippers and should prove a joy to the young woman who must regard such things as luxuries. Write me if they are in your size; please do not telephone.

Family Is Destitute.

"I have been out of work for months and haven't been able to find a thing. We can't buy coal, our rent is long past due, and the children need clothing, which we can't buy. Perhaps you can help us by getting what they need. The boy is 13 and the girl is 16.

Mrs. G. B."

If your children wear the same sizes as Mrs. G. B.'s young son and daughter, perhaps you can give some of their discarded things to this family. It would be an immense help during these trying days.

College Groups' Charity Concert Wins Applause

BY EDWARD MOORE.

THE Oriole and Wennerberg choruses of Augustana college, Rock Island, came to Orchestra hall last night in a benefit concert under the auspices of the Swedish-American relief committee, and a large audience of charitably inclined music lovers turned out to hear them.

Not that there was any necessity or any desire to extend charity toward the participants. Conductor Henry Veld is in the lucky position of having been able to assemble two groups of unusually attractive voices. Both the women's chorus, the Oriole, and the men's, the Wennerberg, having this excellent material as a foundation, have been trained into expert ensembles, and their ability was the more noticeable because they appeared as separate groups as well as together. The lovely quality of youth was there, but also a sturdy volume not always to be found in college choruses.

Several soloists assisted, among them Mrs. Rhea Bollman Quail, soprano; A. Cyril Graham, organist; Clifford Julstrom, violinist, and an unnamed cornetist who with the violinist lent aid during one of the vocal numbers. Dr. Gustav Andreen, president of the college, made an address of greeting.

Three winners in a recent contest held by the Society of American Musicians, and awarded public appearances because of their places in their own departments, presented a program at Kimball hall last evening. They were Ruth McNeil, organist; Lucille Turner, violinist, and John Thut, tenor. Miss McNeil was heard in Bach's Toccata and Fugue in D minor and a movement from a symphony by Clarence Dickinson. In general she played with much poise and smoothness and with excellent command of the colors of organ tone, although parts of the Toccata were taken at faster pace than these ears ever heard them before.

Speed seemed to be the order of the evening, for Mr. Thut sang Handel's "Waft Her, Angels" in quicker tempo than is customary. His English was excellent, however, and in another Handel number, "Ombra mai fu," sometimes known as the "Largo," his tempo was unexceptionable. Miss Turner was heard in Corelli's "La Folia" in the Kreisler version, and gave an excellent performance.

De Kalb Idle Cut Fuel in Park to Get an Income

De Kalb, Ill., March 18.—[Special.]—De Kalb unemployed numbering 150 have kept themselves supplied with fuel, clothing, and food by cutting down trees, saving the city nearly $7,000. It was announced today that the men, working in groups of 25, have cut 2,250 loads of wood, valued at $2.50 a load. What they did not use for fuel was sold at that price. Over half of the wood was cut on a wooded area given to the city last year by the late Judge Jacob Hopkins of Chicago as a park in memory of his parents, who were pioneers here.

Bright Sayings of the Children

My neighbor has a little boy, aged 6, and one day while I was there she sent him to the grocery store to get some hot peppers.

In a short time he was back but minus the peppers.

His mother asked, "Billy, I thought I told you to get me some hot peppers?"

SING FOR CHARITY

Students of Augustana college, Rock Island, Ill., sang last night at Orchestra hall for the benefit of Chicago's needy. They were photographed as they arrived yesterday for the concert.

Boy of Twelve Tells Three Books He Has Enjoyed

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

New revised edition of the "Sea Education Booklet" will be sent by Mrs. Bevans on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A list of books for boys between the young child and the adolescent was started yesterday and is continued today. Roughly the ages covered are 10, 11 and 12.

I will begin with one of the best written and most interesting boys' books I have come across, in a long time. It is authentic, too, in its undersea life. Though I have, of course, gone over the books myself, the comment in quotation marks are those of a 12 year old "regular" boy.

"'Opening Davy Jones' Locker' is about octopuses and all different types of fish in the ocean. It's about a boy who learned to go down in a diving suit with a young scientist, and what he saw there, and about a fight with a barracuda."

The next book is an old one, but so good! "Two Little Savages" is neat—I don't read it straight through. I read any chapter I like—you can do that. One kid has very hard pressure at home [ahem!] and loves outdoors, but his parents think it will interfere with his school work. Then he's allowed to go to the backwoods with a family where there's a boy and they live outdoors in the wilds."

The book referred to is the well-known "Two Little Savages," by Ernest Seton Thompson and is illustrated by him with thumbnail sketches. It has virility and flavor. It is published by Doubleday Doran.

Next:

"'The Rick and Ruddy' series is neat. It's younger. It's about a boy and his dog. His dog comes to him from a shipwreck. Rick and his chum and his dog, Ruddy, go to a camp, then to a mine, and on a boat, and on the trail in various books, and have adventures — just exciting enough."

by Howard R. Garis, published by Milton Bradley. They are short and have no literary value, but are jolly and human.

The last today, called "'Tracks, Trains and Travel,' gives lots of good pictures and exact information about locomotives and cars and tracks. Not a steady reading book, but fine if you're interested in types of locomotives and cars and signals."

"Tracks, Trains and Travel" is by Van Metre.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Youthful Checking Up.

I was thrilled not long ago at receiving an invitation to tea at the home of one of the leading families of the town, where my husband and I were newcomers. I decided to do my best to create a good impression on the "best people," for I was sure to meet them there. As the afternoon progressed I thought I was succeeding beautifully. Presently the 4 year old son of the family started bringing me a cup of tea which wabbled quite unsteadily.

I called out, "You'd better go slow, little boy!"

He looked up and in a clear, childish voice which rose high above the chatter, exclaimed, "You should say 'slowly,' Mrs. A——."

Pope Removes the Ban on Marriage of French Count

VATICAN CITY, March 18.—(AP)—A fine point of old canon law will enable the comte de Paris, son of the pretender to the French throne, and Princess Isabelle to be married with full solemnity in the Catholic church at Palermo on April 8.

A papal prohibition decrees that members of the "Action Française" cannot be married in the church, except privately in the church sacristy, or buried in holy ground. But an old law says any punitive measures, although they must be rigidly enforced against those engaged in proscribed activities, may be leniently applied to those who, if inactive themselves, happen to benefit.

This has been construed in the present case to be applicable to the duc de Guise and his son in the sense that they are supported by the "Action Française," but do not direct it and are not really members of the banned organization.

Upholds Bid for 8 Field Houses on Playgrounds

Carter H. Blatchford, chairman of the school board buildings and grounds committee, yesterday reported that the bid of the S. N. Nielson company for the construction of eight new field houses in school playgrounds at a cost of $88,000 was found, after investigation, to be unusually low for this type of work, and showed no evidence of irregularity. Mrs. W. S. Hefferan, another trustee, had charged that there was evidence of collusion among contractors in the bidding.

Mrs. Hefferan yesterday said she was satisfied that the price set by the Nielson company and also the $17,800 bid for the plumbing by the Fettes-Love & Sieben Plumbing company were as low as they could be under the present specifications. However, she asked that definite committee action on the question be deferred until it was ascertained whether the work could be done more cheaply after a revision of the specifications.

Ysaye Victor in His Fight Against Death

LIEGE, Belgium, March 18.—(AP)—Eugene Ysaye, 73, Belgium's beloved violin maestro and once director of the Cincinnati Symphony orchestra, has won the race he ran with death, writing a triumphant opera as he ran.

Ysaye is rapidly recovering after the amputation of his right leg, done to end two years of suffering. During his illness, and while the shadow of death was often near, he was constantly attended by his wife, and Queen Elizabeth of the Belgians visited him almost daily.

When physicians informed him that he must undergo the amputation he was in the midst of writing his opera, "Peter the Miner," and made preparations for the opertaion and told his friends, as he left the villa in southern France for the hospital at Liege, that he would be back to finish his work. He completed the opera during his convalescence in the hospital. Gradually the score assumed form. He often played or hummed strains of the music to Queen Elizabeth during her visits.

When he recovered the opera was produced here under the auspices of the king and queen. In appreciation of her interest, Ysaye presented her majesty with a reproduction of the famous Guarinius violins which were made in Brussels generations ago.

"Peter the Miner" is more than an operatic score, Ysaye's friend say. They see in it all those things which have appealed most to the composer during his life, including the "Cramignons" of Liege folklore dances, which thrilled him as a child.

FASCISTS FIGHT GERMAN-POLISH TREATY ON TRADE

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 18.—One hundred and fifty-one Fascist and Nationalist deputies announced today that they will return to the reichstag, from which they bolted some time ago to fight the government's measure to ratify Germany's trade agreement with Poland.

Since 1925 the Polish and German governments have been working to reach an agreement for a fair exchange of goods between the two countries, with chauvinists on both sides constantly throwing monkey wrenches into the works.

Recently the Polish parliament approved an agreement despite the fierce opposition of the Nationalists. Chancellor Bruening thereupon conferred with the leaders of the reichstag and asked them to decide the fate of the German-Polish trade agreement before the reichstag adjourns for the Easter holidays.

One Killed as Reds Riot.

DUESSELDORF, Germany, March 18.—(AP)—One person was killed and two policemen and five civilians were injured in street fighting as authorities dispersed a communist demonstration here tonight. The demonstrators hurled rocks and fired shots at the police, who replied with their revolvers.

Communists Take Revenge.

HAMBURG, March 18.—(AP)—Communist members of the free city's house of burgesses took bloody revenge upon the National Socialists this afternoon for the assassination of Rest Henning, communist member of the house.

Henning's empty seat was decorated with red flowers, and when the session opened infuriated communist members fell in a group upon their Fascist colleagues, beating and manhandling them, injuring several severely, and ousting roughly those who attempted to intervene.

Police Restore Order.

The president banished seven communist members from the body for a month as ringleaders of the attack, then addressed the burgesses and said he hoped the Henning murder, which he said was plainly premeditated, would open the people's eyes to the need of keeping political differences from degenerating into savagery.

Wreck Jewish Community House.

DUISBURG, Germany, March 18.—(AP)—A troop of National Socialist sympathizers stormed the Jewish community house today and smashed its windows with rocks before they were dispersed by police.

BEAUTY ESCAPES MURDER TRIAL IN SLAYING OF MATE

Mrs. Nixon-Nirdlinger Must Face Jury.

NICE, France, March 18.—(AP)—Mrs. Charlotte Nash Nixon-Nirdlinger must stand trial for killing her husband, Fred Nirdlinger, Magistrate Vachier admitted today after questioning the former St. Louis beauty queen, but he indicated the charge would not be murder in the first degree.

MRS. NIXON-NIRDLINGER.

Pleads Self-Defense.

In the hope of persuading the magistrate to release her she pleaded self-defense. The examination was held in secret, with only the prisoner, the magistrate, and three defense attorneys admitted to the courtroom.

Her attorneys said the story she told, containing the details of how she shot her husband a week ago in their apartment, was the same she related immediately after the shooting. They quoted her as saying to the judge:

"I have led a dog's life, but I will always regret I was in a position where I was forced to take human life."

Sobs During Questioning.

She sobbed frequently during the questioning, which lasted two and a half hours, her counsel said, and declared that fright and terror caused her to keep firing at her husband and chasing him around the room after one bullet had taken effect.

Magistrate Vachier said that although he was forced to continue to gather testimony in the case, only a jury could solve the question of whether she fired the fatal shot in self-defense.

Her attorneys announced they planned to rush the preparation of her court defense so as to obtain trial of the case at the May term of court. They said they had abandoned hope of obtaining bail for their client.

ARTIST SUICIDE AS PARENTS SAIL TO JOIN HIM HERE

Until recently the art business in Chicago had been good for Alfred Deutsch, 28 years old, a painter, and his brother, Eugene, 27 years old, a sculptor, and they wrote encouraging letters to their parents in Hungary.

But the depression struck them, too, and the brothers moved into tiny quarters at 4530 West Harrison street, living in a room in the rear and using the front for a studio. Meanwhile, however, they had sent for their parents, believing matters would be adjusted in time for them to provide comfortably for the old folks. Instead, no one cared to purchase Alfred's canvases, nor Eugene's marble creations.

Last night Eugene returned home. He detected gas and broke into the rear room. Alfred lay in bed, a hose stretching from his mouth to an open gas jet. An inhalator squad worked half an hour to resuscitate Alfred, but he was dead. According to the story told Policemen Adolph Loeffler and Peter Sinkewicz, the artists' parents are now en route to America. Alfred ended his life, they suggested, because of remorse over asking his parents to join him and his brother at this time.

OAK PARK GIRL, MISSING FROM SCHOOL, RETURNS

Bloomington, Ind., March 18.—(AP)—Miss Lois Pollock, 18 year old Indiana university co-ed for whom a search was instituted following her disappearance Saturday, returned to the Pi Beta Phi sorority house this afternoon.

On learning that her parents and university officials were anxious as to her whereabouts, she immediately reported to the office of Agnes E. Wells, dean of women.

Mrs. William Pollock of Oak Park, Ill., the girl's mother, had asked the aid of the authorities.

Miss Pollock and Miss Virginia Evans of Chicago, a fellow student, left here for Indianapolis Saturday. Miss Evans told faculty members she last saw Miss Pollock at a bus station in Indianapolis at 7 p. m. Saturday. Miss Evans said the girl told her she intended to go to Frankfort, Ind., to spend Sunday with Miss Gertrude Burke. University authorities called the Burke home and learned Miss Pollock had not been there.

U. S. ASKS QUIZ ON MURDER OF TWO WOMEN IN CHINA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PEIPING, March 18.—The American minister today asked the Chinese government to investigate the murder of two American missionaries of the Seventh Day Adventist church. The murders occurred last Sunday in Yunnanfu, capital of the province of Yunnan in the southeastern corner of China. The governor of the province was recently ousted by a cabal of four generals, who are attempting to set up a government.

The victims were Mrs. Vera Mosebar White, whose home was at Battle Ground, Wash., and Mrs. Victoria Marian Miller, whose mother lives at 118 East Olympic avenue, Spokane, Wash.

With their husbands, the Rev. D. R. White and the Rev. C. B. Miller, the women were the only foreign missionary workers in the city. They arrived in China in 1926.

Killed with Hatchets.

First reports said the murders were a part of an anti-foreign campaign due to the spread of communism, but American Consul Harry E. Stevens, who visited the scene, reports that the women were killed while asleep. They were brained with hatchets by servants who had been discharged for thieving. He reported that Mrs. White's two children were safe.

From other sections of China come new reports of the spread of communism, especially in Honan and Fukien provinces. The latter province has been invaded by communists from Kiangsi in the region where Miss Harrison and Miss Nettleton, British missionaries, were killed last October.

In Honan province communist bandits are steadily gaining headway, and have again cut the Peiping-Hankow railway in the territory served by the Augustana mission, whose headquarters is in Minneapolis. The Rev. Bert Nelson and Christopher Tevedt, two members of this mission, who were captured last October, are still being held by the communist sixth army in the western section of Anhwei province. Increased sums for their ransom are being demanded.

Troops Desert to Reds.

The twelfth nationalist division, sent from Honan by the Nanking government, has gone over to the communists. These troops have not been paid for many months.

The situation in the Kwantung province is exciting much uneasiness following the execution of 73 officers and men for participating in a communist plot. One hundred others are awaiting court martial.

Catholic Missionary Released.

PEIPING, March 18.—(AP)—A brief message received here today announced that Reds who captured Roman Catholic Mission Father Filia of the Lazarist mission at Hanchungfu, had released him.

U. S. AND JAPAN TO STAND ALOOF FROM NEW PACT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 18.—America's position in the British-Franco-Italian naval agreement is to be purely that of spectator. This was announced today at the conclusion of two days of conversations between Senator Dwight Morrow, Ambassador Dawes and the British negotiaters of the agreement, Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson and A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty.

Japan, the fifth member of the London treaty signed last year, will also stand on the sidelines as regards the new pact.

The attitude of the United States and Japan now clear, legal experts of Great Britain, France and Italy will tomorrow undertake the task of putting the new agreement on paper. The United States and Japan will not be represented in this work, but the final document will be submitted to the Washington and Tokio governments after consultation with the British dominions.

May Not Become Formal Treaty.

Action thereafter will depend on the character of the document, which may not even take the form of a formal treaty, according to information from sources close to the negotiaters. The attitude of the United States and Japan is strongly foreshadowed by Senator Morrow's plans to leave London on Friday. This is accepted as an indication that the present negotiations will not be recorded in the London treaty, but will be regarded as a preliminary to the general disarmament conference at Geneva in 1932. Therefore, the treaty to be evolved is considered purely an European affair and of no concern to the United States and Japan.

Mr. Alexander declared today that the Latin truce does not affect either the Washington or London treaties. The British have tacitly agreed not to make use of the escalator clause in the London pact, at least until after the conclusion of the general disarmament conference in 1932, he said.

Washington, D. C., March 18.—(AP)—A trans-Atlantic telephone conversation brought Secretary Stimson assurances today that satisfactory progress was being made in Lindon toward completing the Franco-Italian naval accord.

While the use of the trans-Atlantic telephone was not unprecedented, so far as Mr. Stimson's talking with representatives aboard was concerned, the length of the conversation was unusual. The call was placed in London by Senator Morrow.

Begin Negotiations in Rome.

ROME, March 18.—Conferences were begun in Rome today between Foreign Minister Grandi and the French ambassador, Maurice de Beaumarchais, over outstanding Franco-Italian questions.

The conversation today, coming just after announcement that a beginning has been made in settling certain economic problems between France and Italy, such as customs dutles on the imports of wine, and port charges, has led to renewed hope here that negotiations are under way for settling other outstanding political problems between France and Italy, such as the southern frontier of Libya and the status of Italian residents in Tunis, which may later be embodied in a general treaty of amity and friendship between these two Latin nations.

Propose Mediterranean Pact.

PARIS, March 18.—(AP)—The foreign affairs committee of the chamber of deputies, of which Paul Boncour, eminent French authority on disarmament, is chairman, went on record today as favoring a Mediterranean treaty of nonaggression.

The committee declared that such a treaty "alone will solve the problem of equilibrium of naval forces in the Mediterranean," and that it would be a logical outcome of the recent Franco-Italian accord.

BURNS FATAL TO PAINTER.

HERNDON PLANE READY FOR RACE AROUND WORLD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 18.—[Special.]—A great wide winged Bellanca plane with a 6,000 mile flying range swooped down on Roosevelt field this afternoon with Hugh Herndon Jr., wealthy Park avenue youth, at the controls and final preparations were immediately begun for a race against time around the world.

The young man's crack at the last big aviation adventure may develop into more than a race against time, for four other flyers are rushing their plans to take to the air on a similar venture with the first fair weather.

The leaders of the rival groups include Bernt Balchen, Roger Q. Williams, John Henry Mears, and Wiley Post. The plans of the last three practically are complete, planes having been obtained and tested for the start.

Young Herndon is the 25 year old son of Mrs. Dixon Boardman. Several years ago he deserted social activities for a barnstorming career and has a creditable flying record behind him.

Pangborn His Companion.

With Herndon will go Maj. Clyde E. Pangborn, veteran barnstormer and wartime flying instructor of Washington state, who has been known as "Airdevil" Pangborn since 1914. The pair will fly a special Bellanca monoplane powered with a Wright J-6 motor. Gasoline tanks holding 600 gallons have been installed and there is an extra tank that will carry an additional 100 gallons.

Despite parental objections Herndon has been preparing himself for several months for his big flight and is said to be financing it out of his own pocket. For the last three months Herndon has been studying navigation under Capt. Lewis Yancey, trans-Atlantic flyer.

"I think he is ready for the trip," said Capt. Yancey as he traced the route on a great map in the flyer's suite at Hotel Roosevelt. "He hopes to make the flight in six or seven hops and in from ten to twelve days if the weather is good. With just average weather the trip should be made by the Bellanca in fifteen days and that would beat the Graf Zeppelin's record by five full days.

Will Fly the Great Circle.

"Herndon's flight will start from Roosevelt field with the first favorable weather report April offers. He will fly the great circle and if the wind is favorable try for a 5,500 mile nonstop trip to Moscow, which would give the Bellanca a new distance record on its first leg. From Moscow the route will follow the trans-Siberian railroad, with possibly two stops en route to Tokio.

"From Tokio the plane will point its nose for Seattle, approximately 5,000 miles across the Pacific. There still is a $25,000 prize for the first plane to make the Tokio-Seattle jump, and, with a 6,000 mile flying radius, the Bellanca ought to take the money. From Seattle the flyers will jump to New York, with a possible overnight stop in Chicago."

SOX WHIP MONTREAL, 5 TO 4; APPLING HITS HOMER

BOY SHORTSTOP PLAYS HERO FOR TEN INNINGS

Lyons Pitches Well; Others Falter.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Brenham, Tex., March 18.—Luke Appling, the boy shortstop, stepped in just when the White Sox needed help this afternoon and his assistance enabled them to whip the Montreal team before 1,500 excited folks by a 5 to 4 score. What young Appling did to put a halt to an unnecessary tedious struggle was to punch a home run over a somewhat distant left field fence at the start of the tenth inning and it proved sufficient for the Chicagoans' purposes.

As a matter of fact, the former Oglethorpe university athlete not only cast the deciding vote with his circuit wallop, but was quite a factor in the entire proceedings. Before coming up with his homer he whistled three singles through the Canadians' infield. With these one base whacks he managed to score once himself and drive in a mate.

Appling's labor in the field also was impressive, thus strengthening Manager Bush's claim that he has found the real solution of what for years has been a south side nightmare.

Ted Lyons in Top Form.

What three of Bush's pitchers did against the minor leaguers was nothing to shout about, especially when you consider that Ed Holley's regulars have been in camp only a few days. Ted Lyons started and really was Ted Lyons for three innings. He did enough to assure everybody present that he is as skillful as ever. But after Lyons had warmed himself up sufficiently in a baking sun he was excused in favor of Frasier, touted a prize rookie. He was thumped solidly in the fifth and three of the Montreal runs scored before he could recover.

The weaknesses, both in the field and at bat, heretofore revealed by Nel Simons, the prospective center fielder, also were absent today. In previous exhibitions he had displayed an inclination to be in the wrong spot when fly balls were descending in center, but there was no need of that on this occasion. He handled four letters with ease, and was adept at picking up grounders hit in his direction. He also hit a couple of pitches rather solidly. Apparently he is a fellow who doesn't strike his real stride until the conditioning process is well along.

Sox Gain Early Lead.

The Sox had a three run lead before Frasier got into the aforementioned tying jam in the fifth. One of these Chicago tallies was produced in the fourth while Chester Falk, brother of the famous August Bib, was working. It happened because of a single by Appling, an error on Kamm, and a single by Cissel. Then a single by Simons, double by Jolley, and Appling's single added two in the fifth. The Royals knotted it immediately by the assault on Frasier, during which they hopped the noncommunicative wood baller for four sound wallops.

Bush's men moved out in front by 4 to 3 when Jeffries doubled in the eighth and scored on a two bagger by Simons. The chances of this being the winning run were dismissed in Montreal's half. The score was tied when Moore walked a man in front of two singles. Then nothing happened until Appling uncorked his winning homer.

Visit Galveston Next.

Galveston will be visited tomorrow and Friday in the week's tour of the Uncle Tom's Cabin circuit. Several of the Sox hurlers have minor ailments so Bush doesn't know who he'll work in the first of the two games here.

North Central to Hear N. U. Head Today

President Walter Dill Scott of Northwestern university will appear this morning before representatives of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, which is holding its annual meeting at the Stevens hotel. He is expected to explain the stand which he has taken in asking the association to suspend the investigation of athletics at Northwestern.

This announcement was the main development in a day devoted almost entirely to routine business. The board of review of the association which acts as the supreme tribunal in passing on qualifications of members, had been expected to submit its report, but will do so today instead.

Peace Expected.

President Scott will be followed by President H. M. Gage of Coe college, chairman of the association's commission on higher institutions. Today's meetings and speech making are expected to have the complexion of a peace conference. President Gage already has advised that the north central body did not wish to investigate any Big Ten school unless the door for such an investigation was open. Friends of President Scott also stated that the policy suited him and that if nothing more was done on the matter, Northwestern university, at least, would be satisfied.

"We believe the dispute, if it can be called that, was merely the result of a misunderstanding," President Gage said. "If any Big Ten school doesn't want its athletic system investigated, why we won't send investigators. We were conducting an investigation of all colleges, universities and high schools in the 20 states of north central territory more to get a survey than anything else."

Presidents Responsible for Breach.

Another angle of the relationship between the Big Ten and the North Central association was pointed out yesterday. It was said that if any breach were to occur between the two groups, responsibility would rest not upon the athletic directors nor upon the faculty representatives of the universities, but upon the presidents themselves.

ANGELS CONQUER CUBS, 10 TO 9, ON 9TH INNING ERROR

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., March 18.—[Special.]—Our Cubs today again reverted to their sloppy ninth inning habits for the second time in four games, and again took a licking from the Los Angeles Angels after they apparently had the contest safely in the bag. The Angels made three runs in the final session, which were enough to give them a 10 to 9 victory without taking time for two putouts they still had coming.

The humiliating outcome was directly due to a careless muff on the part of Clarence Blair as the middle man in what should have been an easy game ending double play. To aggravate the lapse Clarence stood and sought to pass the buck to Rookie Bill Jurges, who had passed the ball to him with perfect finesse.

While the tall Arkansan was seeking to get himself out from under through words and gestures the base runners kept on running to place themselves in a position to break up the game. They made good when Doc Farrell, a Cub last year, singled to drive home Johnny Schulte, also of the Cubs last year and the year before.

Gabby Connects for Homer.

Gabby, who broke all records for catchers last season by knocking 37 home runs, has been indicating these days that he is possessed of a sly notion that maybe he ought to be a home run king regardless of the limitations catching is supposed to impose on the hitting art. He went to bat once today and got his fifth homer in as many games. Having made four home runs in four games prior to today Gabby asked to take his bat in hand as a pinch hitter for Roy Herrmann.

The score was tied at 6 to 6, it was in the sixth inning and Grimm was on second. Gabby smacked the ball far over the distant left field fence and the score forthwith became Cubs, 8; Angels, 6, which should have been enough margin for triumph even though the Cub cast later was cluttered up with substitutes.

Rookie Pitchers Work.

Thinking to make the series here more interesting to the local customers, though he did not dream of defeat, Manager Hornsby today altered his policy of using first string pitchers and placed his reliance in two lads who mean well, but whom you probably will not have the pleasure of seeing on the north side this season—Herrmann and George Bell.

Herrmann allowed the coast leaguers three runs in the first inning and three in the fifth. Bell, who didn't pitch an inning in any of the earlier games, intraclub or otherwise, was less generous until the ninth inning foldup, when a triple by Pinch Batter Parker threw him into an incipient panic, which became acute when Blair staged his act.

Mr. Curley Gets a Strangle Hold on Wrestling Business

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 18.—[Special.]—Amid so many depressing reports of financial mishaps in the prize fight trade, including the double flop in Miami and the unhappy results of Max Schmeling's exhibition tour, it is refreshing to hear from Mr. Jack Curley that the wrestlers of his herd and his little group of serious tennis players have drawn more than $400,000 during the winter.

Mr. Curley produced 14 contests or exhibitions in New York, pairing and cross-pairing the members of his own herd without one going outside the fold for talent, and the winter has been for him a season of successive happy surprises. Jim Londos, the champion of his firm, in his first appearance in the Garden established a new high for a championship wrestling bout indoors—$37,000—and continued to establish new highs at each of four subsequent appearances, finally reaching the resounding figure of $61,000, at which point the Garden turnstiles, no longer accustomed to such pressure, had to be packed in ice.

Another Record Tumbles.

The recent foolishness between Jim McMillan, the former Illinois football player, who ranks at first vice champion of the Curley herd, and Sandor Szabo, a conscientious underling in the firm, drew $26,000, and Mr. Curley, who would not misrepresent things, states that this figure also constituted a new high, being the record for a nonchampionship bout indoors.

The gross takings from six shows at the garden were $268,000 and beyond this there were the receipts of eight comparatively modest operas at the armory, in town, and the house royalty on the other appearances of Mr. Curley's wrestlers under lease to promoters in other cities.

The proprietors of the Sandow-Bowser herd, offering Ed Don George, the former Michigan football player, as champion, and Gus Sonnenberg, the Dartmouth-Detroit football player, as first vice champion, were taken somewhat by surprise by this unexampled business in New York. It is only fair to add that Mr. Curley was taken by surprise, too, with this difference, however, that he was well prepared to clamp a combination three-quarters Nelson and one-quarter Senson hold on the opportunity, shake well and serve.

Mr. Curley's herd was based on New York, whereas the Sandow-Bowser herd was based on Boston and Chicago. Before these boys could establish the necessary political contacts and move into New York to take advantage of the situation, the situation had taken disadvantage of them. The customers had become Londos-minded.

"Champion" Label Lures Fans.

The customers are not very studious. Max Schmeling is the heavyweight champion prizefighter to them merely because the New York prizefight commission so voted by the narrow margin of 2 to 1, and notwithstanding that he won from Jack Sharkey by a foul 24 hours after he had said he would refuse to win by a foul as only a coward would do that. Similarly, the customers in a very short time had come to regard Londos as the heavyweight champion wrestler because he was appearing before them as such.

So, when the Sandow-Bowser establishment finally did move in, with a state armory as their theater, and presenting a lot of circus stock who looked like the all-star cast of a very bad dream, preparatory to the introduction of their champion, their plight was somewhat like that of Clarence Chamberlain when he followed Lindbergh across the Atlantic. Their champion, Mr. George, may be a very good wrestler and better than Londos, but if so, the customers apparently don't want to hear anything about it. So my advice is that up to the present, the Sandow-Bowser herd has drawn no gate of more than $2,700.

Londos Wins as Kwariani Quits, Injured

Londos, attempting an airplane spin, tossed his rival over the ropes and Kola landed on his head and shoulders on the cement floor. He was badly dazed, but his seconds shoved him back into the ring. Jim rushed him to the ropes, picked him up for another whirl, and dashed him to the mat for the fall.

In the semi-windup Frank Brunovicz, Polish star, tossed Hans Bauer of Germany in 21:46 after eight headlocks and a body slam. Rudy Dusek, a rough and tumble heavyweight from Omaha, strained his best, but was held to a 30 minute draw by Mike Romano, Italian grappler.

Karl Pojello, Chicago Lithuanian, disposed of Marshall Blackstock, Atlanta, Ga., in 8:32 with a series of headlocks and a body slam. The match was rough all the way. In the opening match Jack Smith, Chicago heavyweight, made his professional debut by defeating Rudy Laditzi, Hungarian strong man, in 6:57. Smith used a series of headlocks to turn the trick.

World's Richest Turf Day Sept. 19 at Belmont Park

New York, March 18.—[Special.]—The richest day's racing in the world this year will take place at Belmont Park on Sept. 19, it became known today. The Westchester Racing association has decided on that day for the running of the Futurity, the Jockey club gold cup race, and the Grand National steeplechase. The total distribution on the one day will approach $200,000.

Last year the Jockey club gold cup race was run on the final day of the meeting and the Futurity and the Grand National on the last Saturday. The fixing of the three big races on the one day this year restores the triple stake status which existed in 1929 and before. The day's distribution in 1929, when Harry Payne Whitney's Whichone won the Futurity, was $191,010.

ROCHESTER MAN TAKES 10TH PLACE IN A. B. C. TOURNEY

Buffalo, N. Y., March 18.—(AP)—Only one change occurred among the ten leaders in the American Bowling Congress tourney today. Harold Angst, Rochester, took tenth position in the all events class with an aggregate of 1,812, an average of 201.2.

John Auburn registered high single game of the tourney in the doubles division, paired with Ed Wodan. Auburn, another Rochester product, opened his second game with two spares and then piled up nine consecutive strikes. He nished with a nine count and a 278.

Bowie Track Opens Early; Profits Go to Unemployed

Baltimore, Md., March 18.—(AP)—The eastern racing season will open at Bowie, Md., on March 30, a day earlier than scheduled, it was announced today under a revision of dates made necessary by an agreement to devote the proceeds of four extra days to the relief of unemployment.

GOLDEN GLOVES BATTLERS HEAR BEDTIME STORY

Gonzales Wins Again

CLEVELAND, O., March 18.—[Special.]—Don Gonzales, featherweight champion of The Chicago Tribune Golden Gloves tournament last week, advanced to the finals of the Cleveland Plain Dealer amateur meet tonight by knocking out Charlie Barnes in the third round. The victory was Gonzales' third knockout in defense of his featherweight crown, won in last year's tourney.

The coaches of the Chicago team yesterday sent the boys through the stiffest drill since they reported at the Illinois Athletic club training camp.

Then, shortly after the dinner hour, Chicago's scouts who watched the New York championships in Madison Square Garden Monday night, made their report to the Chicago fighters and their coaches.

Soothing Bedtime Story.

Tales of heavyweights who knock their foes into the next county, of flyweights who hit with the power of a mule's kick, of middleweights and featherweights who slash and smack their opponents into the rosin were brought back from New York by the Chicago scouts and were told to the Chicago boxers as sort of a bedtime story.

"But Chicago can whip New York even though it may be by a very slender margin, if Chicago's fighters battle as they did for the Chicago Golden Gloves and reach better physical condition," the scouts told the members of THE TRIBUNE'S team.

Benny Yanger, the master boxer of other years, was giving personal instructions to a lot of the Chicago gladiators. Jabber Young was doing the same thing. Johnny Behr, the third of the Chicago coaches, was looking after their physical welfare.

Jack Kranz, the Gary light heavyweight, has probably shown more improvement under the expert teaching the Chicago boxers are getting than any of the others. Jack won his Golden Gloves but didn't seem to pack much of a punch when he did it. But after the lessons he received from Yanger and Young during the last three days he appeared in the ring yesterday against Adam Smith, the Rockford heavyweight, and it was a nip and tuck slugging affair all the way.

The Chicago flyweights Rodak, Nate and Eliopolus were also whirlwinds in their ringwork, Eliopolus, who was seven pounds overweight when he reported at the training camp, was down close to the 112 pound mark. He is the alternate on the Chicago team in this division, but is training in a way to indicate that it will be hard to keep him out of the fighting when the warfare with New York gets going.

Blizzard Halts Roadwork.

Because of the young blizzard driving across Grant park the roadwork yesterday morning was all but abandoned. It gave the boxers a couple of extra idle hours, but when they reported at the gymnasium for the afternoon drill which wound up with three rounds of boxing at top speed, the fighters more than made up for the morning's recess.

These boxing drills are no pink tea affairs. A bloody nose, a punch spotted body, a black eye are just as common when the day's work ends as an old shoe.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Central Catholic High school of Wheeling, W. Va., overthrew the defending champion, De La Salle of Chicago, 30 to 24, as the National Catholic basketball tournament opened last night at Loyola gymnasium. De La Salle has been the title holder for two consecutive years.

In the game which followed, another De La Salle, this one from Minneapolis, Minn., eliminted Spalding institute of Peoria, 16 to 15. Spalding is one of the old tournament favorites, having finished third last year, second the year before, and on top in the first meet, which was held in 1924. The two teams ran neck and neck throughout and finished the regular playing time tied at 15 all. It took Gerald Gearty's free throw in the overtime period to decide the issue.

Washington Stops Pittsburgh.

St. Mary of the Mount came all the way from Pittsburgh to take a 37 to 12 beating from Catholic High school of Washington, Ind., in the opening game of the evening. The Hoosiers toyed with their opponents all the way, O'Kane appearing in the hero rôle with eight baskets, while his teammate, Dosch, was making six.

A speedy young fellow named Louis Yaeger proved the nemesis for the defending champions in the struggle between De La Salle of Chicago and Central of Wheeling. He kept flipping the ball through the hoop from all angles, sometimes with one hand, sometimes with two, sometimes on the dead run, and sometimes poised on his toes. Before he was through he had seven field goals to his credit.

Yaeger Gives Wheeling Lead.

A few minutes after the start, young Mr. Yaeger took his team into the lead by tossing one in from the side, but De La Salle evened on Skelly's field goal. Then Yaeger scored twice again in rapid succession, dribbling down and flipping in the ball one handed while going at top speed. Furlong caged a free throw for De La Salle and baskets by Golden and Furlong took the Chicagoans into the lead, 7 to 6.

Again Yaeger took charge of things and scored twice, one of the tosses going in from midfloor. Scully of De La Salle then dribbled in and scored, but baskets by Sofka and Elliott carried the Wheeling team to a 14 to 9 lead at the half.

Yaeger again went like lightning at the start of the second half. He hoisted a short one and followed with a toss from the side line.

De La Salle Creeps Up.

Vaickus of De La Salle then brought his team up a few notches by pushing one in from under the basket and following up with a free throw. Elliott of Wheeling intercepted a pass near the center, dribbled in, and scored. And a minute later Belts tossed one from midfloor to give the West Virginians a 22 to 12 lead.

Furlong of De La Salle tipped in a short one, but it was promptly counteracted by Sofka's goal. Then the Chicagoans began creeping up. Baskets by Gallagher and Furlong, together with Sullivan's free throw brought the score to 24 to 19.

After that it was just a seesaw. Yaeger, Elliott, and Belt scoring for Wheeling, while Sullivan, Vaickus, and Scully were dropping in baskets for De La Salle to bring the final score to 30 to 24. Scores:

NOAJOYCE TAKES SEMINOLE PURSE; GILDED ARCH IS 2D

Wins St. Johns Feature by Four Lengths.

New York, March 18.—(AP)—Noajoyce, a speedy but usually nonstaying son of Noah from the Honeoye stable, managed to carry his speed six furlongs today to account for the Hotel Seminole purse at St. John's park, Fla. It was the first victory since the winter meeting at St. John's for the flashy colt, although he was out of the money only twice in five starts.

Frankie Madely had the Honeoye colt away from the gate two lengths in front of the field. He did not need the advantage, however, as Noajoyce was pounds the best of the field, finishing the six panels four lengths in front of O. Torrell's Gilded Arch with P. H. Aichele's Talented Prince third.

Pascuma Rides Winner.

Tony Pascuma, who came back to the races aboard three winners yesterday, was astride another today. He just missed counting with Poinciana in the third race, but put River Lee across in the opening number.

Mead Wins by Length.

Don never rode a better race, as he piloted the three year old son of My Play over the distance in 1:45 3-5, less than a second back of the track record. At the judges' stand he had Eager Play four lengths in front of Thomas Seth, with Chiclero another two lengths back in third position.

Peggy J., three year old filly from the stable of Drillon & Buckland, won her second straight victory at Agua Caliente in the fifth race, best event on a card of claiming races. Lamistar finished second and Pearce Princess third. Peggy J. ran the six furlongs in 1:12 4-5 and paid $6.20 in the mutuels.

BLACKHAWKS VISIT TORONTO TO PLAY LEAFS

The Leafs have ranked with the Montreal Maroons as the Hawks' chief jinks this year, winning every game against the Chicago sextet. Tomorrow night's contest will mark the Hawks' fourth attempt to score a victory over the Leafs.

The game will give Toronto fans an idea of what to expect when the Stanley cup playoffs start here next Thursday night with Chicago and the Leafs as opponents.

Irvin has warned his team to take it easy, even at the cost of sacrificing the game, as the Hawks have second place in the American division cinched and he doesn't want to have any of his stars hurt before the playoffs start.

CRANE TECH AND ROOSEVELT FIVES CLASH TOMORROW

Crane Tech High school, which overwhelmed Harrison for its second victory in the semi-finals of the City league heavyweight basketball race, will meet Roosevelt tomorrow at Tuley's gymnasium in the first of a two game playoff series. The winner will play Lake View, which drew a bye yesterday for the north and west sections championship.

Englewood and Marshall will battle for the lightweight title at White City Saturday. Marshall entered the finals by defeating Tuley in a special playoff after three teams tied for the west-north division title.

The finals of the nineteenth annual City league track and field championship meet will be held at Bartlett gym Saturday.

Y. M. C. A. BOXING CHAMPS DEFEND CITY CROWNS

Central and 111th streets Y. M. C. A.'s 1930 co-champions will defend their titles when the city annual boxing championship tournament opens at the West Side Y. M. C. A. tomorrow. The finals are scheduled for Saturday night.

Shamrocks to Meet Buffalo Team Tonight

The Buffalo Majors, still in the running for the American Hockey league playoffs, meet the Shamrocks at the Stadium tonight. On their previous visits the Majors beat the Green and White once, 4 to 2, and tied in double overtime, 2 to 2. Tonight's game is the rubber contest of the year, each club having downed the other three times in close contests.

In the goal for Buffalo will be Joe Stark, a brilliant goalkeeper, who kicks the puck around in a sensational manner. With 19 year old Mike Karakas in the other cage and both teams opening their attacks wide, as they will, fireworks can be expected.

The leading Major scoring threat is Eddie Bouchard. Working with him is Crutchy Morrison, ex-St. Paul wing. Johnny Mitchell, formerly of Duluth, is at center with this combination, and behind them are Ralph Rennie, smallest defense man in the league, and Babe Donnelly.

The Yanks held a one run lead going into the sixth—the inning in which the National league champions pounded Charlie Ruffing for five hits and seven runs. Henry Johnson, who started for New York, let the Cards down with five hits and one run in five innings.

NERVE TEST PROVED

A test was conducted by an eminent psychiatrist to determine the effect of El Toros on co-ordination (nerve stability). First the subject's rating for co-ordination was 82.6%. Then he smoked 6 El Toros, lighting one from the butt of another. He was given the "nerve tests" again. His score was 83%. El Toros had not affected his nerves in the slightest! He had actually improved his score!

START PLAY IN STATE PREP CAGE TOURNEY TODAY

Harrison, Mount Vernon Meet in First Game.

Today's Schedule

1 p. m.—Mount Vernon vs. Harrison Tech.
4 p. m.—Decatur vs. Collinsville.
7:30 p. m.—Peoria Manual vs. Galesburg.
8:30 p. m.—Rantoul vs. Johnston City.

Champaign, Ill., March 18.—[Special.]—With a Chicago high school included for the first time in history in the list of eight contenders for the state championship, the opening round of the state high school basketball championship will be played at the University of Illinois tomorrow.

Harrison Tech, coached by Charles F. Krupar, former shortstop on the Illinois varsity baseball team, was the Chicago five to break the ice. Coach Krupar brought his charges to town tonight, probably under some disadvantage as they played a city championship game against Crane last night.

Manual Has Four Veterans.

Peoria Manual, with four out of the five regulars who won the 1930 championship, Galesburg, and Johnson City also arrived today, while Collinsville, Decatur, Mount Vernon, and Rantoul will be here tomorrow morning.

Harrison Tech, with an enrollment of 5,500, is the largest institution represented and Rantoul, Champaign county town of 1,500, has the smallest number of pupils, 229. Rantoul has a great scoring five, but it must encounter Johnston City, 1929 champions, in the first round.

Of the other contenders, Mount Vernon was champion in 1920 and Galesburg in 1913. Collinsville, making its first bid for a state title, holds the district scoring record in its territory by making 185 points in four games and also swept through the East St. Louis sectional with 110 points in three contests.

Fans Watch Galesburg.

Galesburg, which will represent northwestern Illinois, will bring a veteran team which has beaten Peoria Manual, Springfield, Canton, Quincy, Abingdon, and won every conference game in the Big Nine. Galesburg is heralded as offering an "Indiana offense" and may be the dark horse of the tournament.

Mount Vernon comes with the prestige of defeating the hitherto unbeaten Lawrenceville team, in one of the biggest upsets in state basketball circles.

STADIUM CAN'T FIND FOES FOR JOHNSON, CAWLEY

Larry Johnson, heavyweight stablemate of Tuffy Griffith, caused more headaches for Nate Lewis, Stadium matchmaker, yesterday. Johnson and Frank Cawley, protégé of Tommy Loughran, are signed to appear in supporting bouts on the Griffith-Loughran card at the Stadium on March 27.

As no one wants to fight them, the logical solution would be for them to fight each other, but they are skeptical of each other. Johnson has been offered to almost every heavyweight in America. A number of suitable light heavyweight opponents have been given an opportunity to meet him in the semi-windup of the Loughran-Griffith show, but all have declined. Lou Scozza, who holds a decision over Johnson, is the only one disposed to take the west side Negro, but he is reluctant to sign for the purse Lewis has offered.

"These two bouts are giving me more trouble than any windup I ever signed," Lewis said. "You would think that as often as certain topnotchers wire me for a chance with 'anybody' in the Stadium, it would be a simple matter to find an opponent. But when you offer them 'anybody' they find more excuses than a delinquent tenant."

Those who have refused traffic with Johnson include King Levinsky, Paul Pantaleo, Tuffy Griffith, Toph Heeney, K. O. Christner, Max Baer, Erin Schaaf, Hunt, and Pierre Charles. Most of these men also have been offered a shot at Cawley but have refused. Unless he is able to sign suitable opposition within the next few days, Lewis will be forced to take the two heavyweights off the card, he said.

Heavyweights Clash on Fronton Amateur Card

Dan La Mar and Sandy McCann, heavyweights, will meet in the windup bout of the amateur boxing show at the Fronton tomorrow night. Peter Dezzi and Bill Supeck will clash in the semi-windup. The Fronton is located at Lawrence avenue and Clark street. Other bouts scheduled are:

Lo Donnelly vs. Gene Dusek, 130.
Johnny Lullo vs. Frankie Noonan, 135.
Charles Oliva vs. Bill Riorden, 124.

Curley happened to be talking to a hotel man one evening, and the hotel man happened to say that he thought William T. Tilden III. was about ready to turn frankly professional. Mr. Tilden had often been a client or inmate of the hotel man's hotel, so presently Mr. Curley was introduced and more presently Mr. Tilden did turn pro under the management of an ex-dishwasher, freight handler, preliminary fighter and free-style promotor who knew of Forest Hills only as a local stop on the Long Island railroad, and of love only as a pleasant ailment of the young.

Mr. Curley recruited a small supporting cast for Mr. Tilden and with a blunt candor which Mr. Tilden never had experienced in the U. S. Lawn Tennis association, said to him, "If you expect me to make money for you, you have got to make money for me." So they compromised by making money for one another, drawing $80,000 in eight quick shows before Mr. Tilden withdrew to California to record his genius on the films for posterity and pay.

And, also in the meantime, Max Schmeling was railroading from town to town over a most unpromising route in the south, appealing to a public with an elephantine memory which hasn't quite forgotten the civil war in sixty-odd years, and he a German and a champion only by a 2 to 1 vote of a board of politicians sitting in perfidious New York.

Curley's Patience Rewarded.

Mr. Curley is a man who sat down by the roadside, knowing the circus passed that way every so often, and waited patiently for the parade to come by again. For years he supported his herd in New York waiting for the customers to become disgusted with the prize fighters, and knowing that when they did they would turn to the wrestlers, because the customer doesn't cease to be a customer, but only transfers his patronage. Even so, he wasn't quite prepared for the change when it came, and one night when he ventured to present his champion in the Garden with his third vice champion, Ference Holuban, the customers almost pulled the front off the building trying to get in.

Wrestling is what the carnival branch of the amusement trade would call a grind show. For all the apparent torture and mighty effort the boys endure in the course of a bout they are able and willing to wrestle two or three times a week, whereas the heavyweight champion prize fighter and the runner up generally plan to fight no more than once a year.

Won't Share His Profits.

There would be great profit in an out of door showdown between the respective champions of the Curley and the Sandow-Bowser herds in New York in summer, but Mr. Curley is ignoring the opposition herd at present. He never invaded the territory which they regarded as their own when business was bad in his territory and he does not wish to share his own prosperity with them now.

"I am doing very well as things are," Mr. Curley states. "I don't see how those other boys can claim to be wrestlers anyway when they haven't any wrestlers to wrestle. How can a man become a wrestler unless he wrestles somebody?"

March Is Month Campers Feel Outdoors Urge

BY BOB BECKER.

March, the month which sees the first appearance of the fishing fever among millions of devotees of the rod and line sport, also finds the campers restless for trips into the outdoors, where they may live underneath canvas roofs. As a sport today camping takes rank with the "big industries" in the outdoor world because the automobile has converted millions to the tent and vagabond life. The latest report on the number of automobile campers alone placed their numbers somewhere between five and ten million. This gang of travelers uses every kind of shelter from small stretches of canvas to roomy trailers which have nearly every convenience found in one's home.

One of the most interesting sidelights on camping as an American sport has been given recently by the United States department of agriculture. It has to do with the young people in the United States who spend part of the year camping out. The government reports 26,000 camps in this country with accommodations for more than 2,000,000.

About one-third of these camps are northeast of a line drawn between Cleveland and Philadelphia. The list grows by several hundred if this imaginary line is extended westward to and across the Mississippi because the upper Mississippi valley is a popular camp section with the great lakeland playgrounds in Wisconsin and Minnesota making ideal summer playgrounds.

Although most any kind of camping is fun if you know the tricks of living comfortably out of doors, canoe campers, according to our way of thinking, get the most out of their sport because they can get away from crowds, see new country all the time, and actually explore lakes and streams which the traveler in an automobile is unable to reach. Canoe camping or canoe traveling is not the most luxurious type of camping that one can secure out of doors. For ease and comfort the permanent or automobile camp takes first rank, but tenters who travel on the water are rewarded for their work at the paddles by fishing in new lakes and rivers.

Middle western outdoorsmen have close to their front doors some wonderful stretches of canoe country. The Superior National forest and the Quetico is one ideally suited to those who want the real thing in wilderness lakes and streams. The country northeast of the Soo across the line in Canada is another which offers much to the canoeist who knows how to take care of himself in the woods.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 18.—(AP)—Bud Taylor, Terre Haute featherweight boxer, disqualified in the eighth round of his bout with Lew Massey, Philadelphia, Monday night, for not trying, was today exonerated by the boxing commission of the implication of stalling. Estelle Taylor Denies She Will Divorce Dempsey

Hollywood, Cal., March 18.—(AP)—Estelle Taylor, wife of Jack Dempsey, denied tonight that she and the former heavyweight boxing champion had had a serious "spat" or contemplated "a definite break."

Dempsey, when he returned here from New York a little more than a week ago, joined the film actress at their Hollywood home. He had come here to referee a boxing match.

Miss Taylor admitted they had a "minor disagreement," but said there was no significance to it.

"I have said nothing that would furnish a basis for a report that we are to be divorced," she said, "and that has not entered my mind."

Dempsey left here shortly after the boxing match for Oakland and Reno, where he acted as referee, and then went to Salt Lake City to visit his mother. He will be in Chicago on March 23 and is expected to return here in a month.

COLLINS KEEPS TIE FOR LEAD IN BILLIARD MEET

Collins had high runs of 39 and 71, while Connor's best runs were 41 and 40.

In the afternoon games Fessenden defeated D. H. Goslin of Azusa, Cal., 300 to 132, in 21 innings, and Appleby won from Homer T. Galey of Tulsa, Okla., 300 to 194, in 27 innings.

HYDE PARK WINS SOUTH DIVISION K. C. TITLE, 24-18

Loyola-Hyde Park won the championship of the south division of the Knights of Columbus Basketball league last night, defeating Perez, 24 to 18, in an overtime game before 2,000 at White City. Perez led, 15 to 11, at the half.

Setters won a place in the championship round, which opens Sunday at the Coliseum, by eliminating Carroll, 17 to 16, to decide the tie for third place in the west division.

Englewood, minus Tim Moynihan at center, dropped Dowling out of the three way tie for third place in the south division, 14 to 10.

Englewood will meet Aquinas in the first game on Sunday's Coliseum card to determine the winner of that berth.

National Ice Playoffs Will Open March 24

New York, March 18.—(AP)—The National league hockey playoffs will open on March 24 in Boston, Toronto, and probably New York, club owners and directors decided today at a meeting in the Hotel Lincoln.

Boston and the Montreal Canadiens, first place winners in the two divisions, will meet at Boston March 24 and 26, and at Montreal March 28, 31, and April 2, if five games are needed to decide.

The Toronto and Chicago second place winners will open their home and home series on Toronto ice March 24, shifting to Chicago for the second game March 26. The series is decided on total goals in the two games.

The New York Rangers and Montreal Maroons probably will play their first game in Madison Square Garden, New York, on March 24 with the second in Montreal on March 26.

CHICAGO STOCKS PLUG ALONG TO HIGHER FINISH

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The Chicago stock market poked along in professional stride yesterday, with little encouragement or support in the way of public participation. But from a price standpoint the market did well enough with a number of issues reaching up for gains of a point or so. Volume of business fell short of the 100,000 share mark.

The day's news opened up no new vistas which could dispel the shyness of the investing public. Professionals toyed with their favorites, and in the majority of cases were able to mark up slightly better quotations.

May Share in Contracts.

Radio and motor accessory stocks represented a large portion of the 98,000 odd shares traded in. It was an industrial, U. S. Gypsum, which provided the best individual performance. The stock broke into prominence with a net gain of 2½ points, which rumor attributed to the belief that the company will receive a share of the new contracts to be let in connection with the Rockefeller radio project in New York.

Other stocks which were bid up a point or more included National Standard, Cities Service, Potter, and Mickelberry's. Motor shares were better, but hemmed within a fractional price range. Utilities made slight advances.

The activity in Mickelberry's Food Products stock coincided with the issuance of the company's 1930 earnings report which showed net profit for the fiscal year ended Dec. 27 of $222,888, equivalent after preferred dividends of $28,000 to $1.48 a share on the outstanding common stock. The earnings include profit of Mama Cookies Bakeries for the eight months from May 1, 1930, when the business was acquired. In the preceding year Mickelberry's earned $115,000 net profit, of which $1.15 per share was available for the common stock.

Retires Funded Debt.

The company balance sheet as of Dec. 27 showed quick assets of $285,279, including cash of $79,003 and current liabilities of $175,370. The company retired $55,000 in funded debt during the year from current funds. New lines brought out during the year were well received and prospects for 1931 were favorable, President Elmer J. Engel stated.

The governing committee of the exchange yesterday voted to list the common stock of the McWilliams Dredging company which is now traded in on the Chicago curb. The listing consisted of 100,000 shares, of which 97,230 shares are outstanding. The issue is currently selling for around $26 a share on the curb.

The company reported to the exchange that it had total assets as of Dec. 31 of $1,906,662. The book value of the common stock as of the that date was $17.95 a share, the company reported.

CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE STOCKS

Interest in the bond market on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday centered in the initial trading in bonds of Trade Safe Deposit company 5 per cent bonds issued on the new building. First trades were at 80 and later at 80¾, with the close at 80. Only $1,000 bonds are quoted, although there was trading in $500 and $100 bonds. These come under the head of job lots. There were sales of $100 bonds at 79@79¼. Total sales were $45,000. The stock list was strong and higher.

STEEL INDUSTRY NEWS BEST IN A 'BLUE MOON'

BY O. A. MATHER.

The American steel industry yesterday produced about the most cheerful news that has transpired in a blue moon.

First, the Carnegie Steel company, a subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation, sprung a surprise by announcing an advance of $1 a ton on bars, shapes and plates for second quarter delivery.

Next, United States Steel confirmed reports of an order for 125,000 tons of structural steel, involving around $100,000, for the Rockefeller "radio city" in New York.

The action of Carnegie Steel in advancing its prices closely followed that of the American Steel and Wire company, another United States Steel subsidiary, in raising prices $2 a ton on all wire products except fencing and bale ties. This advance was followed by other wire makers. In the present instance, other steel makers are expected to follow the action of Carnegie Steel, which led the movement last December to stabilize steel prices.

Demand Expands.

Expansion of steel demand, although by no means spectacular, is unchecked and further gains are indicated by the broadening requirements of the automobile and construction industries," the Iron Age says.

"Steel ingot output for the country at large has risen from 55 to 57 per cent, with the greatest gains reported at Cleveland, where production is now 91 per cent of capacity, and at Chicago, where the district average is 62 per cent.

"Finished steel specifications at Chicago are 25 per cent above the average for the year to date, while bookings at New York are running 19 to 20 per cent over those of February. Cleveland also reports substantial gains, chiefly attributable to the expanding needs of the automobile industry. Every week brings more definite signs of a substantial gain in motor car production. First quarter output for the United States and Canada is now estimated at 700,000 cars, while peak production of the year is expected to come later than usual, possibly in May or June."

Largest Single Award.

In its weekly review, Steel says that the New York "radio city" order is probably the largest structural award for one specific job in the history of the fabricating industry. Other new projects this week totaled 152,000 tons, the Iron Age says, bringing structural steel inquiries so far this year up to 480,000 tons, compared with 288,000 tons in the corresponding period last year and 464,300 tons two years ago.

Evidence that American industry as a whole is picking up was contained in the weekly report on electric power production by the National Electric Light association. Power production for the week ended March 14 increased approximately four-fifths of 1 per cent over the preceding week and was only 3.5 per cent below a year ago, which was the smallest comparative decline from a year ago shown for any week thus far this year. An increased demand for power on the Pacific coast was particularly evident.

V. V. BOATNER.

Directors of the Chicago Great Western railroad yesterday declared a dividend of 50 cents a share on the preferred stock. On Jan. 7 the company paid a dividend of $1 a share, marking a resumption of distribution on the preferred, the previous payment having been $1 a share on July 1, 1919.

Directors also stated that the first quarter of 1931 will return the largest net earnings of any similar period since the end of federal control. President V. V. Boatner estimated that net income for the first two months of this year will be about $100,000 greater than that of the same period of 1930. He estimated operating revenues for February at about 14 per cent under those of February last year, operating expenses about 21 per cent less, and net railway operating income greater than a year ago.

Fox Film Payment.

Directors of the Fox Film corporation yesterday declared the regular quarterly dividends of $1 each on the class A and B common shares, settling doubts for the time being over maintenance of the $4 annual dividend rate.

There was no announcement of any new directors, contrary to reports in Wall street. However, it was learned there may be an announcement of a change in the directorship in connection with forthcoming financing for long term refunding of a $55,000,000 note issue floated a year ago. This financing is expected to take place within a week or so. The financing probably will take the form of a mortgage bond issue, to be offered publicly, and possibly a smaller junior issue of convertible preferred stock or debentures.

It was reported a deal was pending for the purchase of a block of Fox A shares by General Theatres Equipment, Inc., which holds controlling interest in the Fox enterprises, from one of its banking sponsors. Control passed to the Harley L. Clarke, Halsey-Stuart, and Chase National bank interests about a year ago, after William Fox was forced out.

The board of R. H. Macy & Co. authorized today a quarterly dividend of 75 cents on the common stock, placing it on a regular $3 annual dividend basis instead of the $2 regular and $4 extra cash disbursements declared heretofore.

Common stock of City Machine and Tool company was placed on an 80 cent annual basis today with the declaration of at quarterly of 20 cents, compared with 40 cents quarterly heretofore. The Kaufmann Department Stores voted a quarterly of 25 cents on the common, placing the issue on a $1 annual basis, against $1.50 a year previously.

On $2 Annual Basis.

Directors of Interlake Steamship company declared a quarterly dividend of 50 cents a common share, placing the stock on a $2 annual basis, against $4 previously paid. A statement said directors thought it best to conserve cash assets, due to business uncertainty, but, should recovery in business conditions be realized, this rate may be increased later in the year.

Pennsylvania Salt Manufacturing company directors declared a quarterly dividend of 75 cents, placing the stock on a $3 annual basis, against $5 paid previously. Directors of Standard Screw company declared a quarterly dividend of $1.50 on the common stock, placing the stock on a $6 annual basis, against $8 previously.

Ford Motor Company of France declared a dividend of 12½ per cent, against 10 per cent a year ago.

SUE EATON AGAIN FOR "MISMANAGEMENT" OF CONTINENTAL SHARES

CYRUS S. EATON.

Cleveland, O., March 18.—(AP)—Cyrus S. Eaton, widely known Cleveland financier, was sued today for the second time in 24 hours on allegations that he mismanaged and manipulated Continental Shares, Inc., the investment trust company of which he is chairman. Both of the suits were filed by minority stockholders.

The latest of the actions asked accounting and relief and repayment to Continental of $2,400,000. It was filed here by Charles S. Wachner, a Cleveland stockholder, and named as defendants Eaton, Continental Shares, Inc., and Foreign Utilities, Ltd.

Wachner asked the court to require Eaton and Foreign Utilities to make an accounting to Continental Shares for all profits and benefits received by reason of a transaction in which Continental allegedly paid approximately $35,000,000 cash and 1,040,000 shares of its stock to Foreign Utilities in exchange for other stocks and investments. The plaintiff alleged Foreign Utilities is merely a "paper" corporation to handle Eaton's transactions.

The original deal was allegedly made Oct. 16, 1930, and amended Jan. 29, 1931, for Continental to assume an indebtedness of $5,100,000 which existed against some of the other company's holdings.

Burwell's statement said the transaction questioned by Wachner "was thoroughly considered by the board of directors and advisory committee of Continental, was approved by the board in October, 1930, and reaffirmed by the board yesterday as highly advantageous and profitable to this company. The opportunity afforded of reviewing this transaction is welcomed and we will ask for an early hearing."

Eaton was named in the other suit yesterday at Baltimore, Md. In the Baltimore action, George L. Gugle of Cleveland, O., enjoined a scheduled meeting of Continental stockholders there and also alleged Eaton had mismanaged the company.

Hysteria Gone—Business Is on the Mend, Says Dr. Klein

Detroit, Mich., March 18.—(AP)—Business men were described today by Dr. Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce, as free from "economic shell shock" and "panicky psychology," while business climbs upward.

DR. JULIUS KLEIN.

Depression has reached or passed its bottom, Dr. Klein told the Detroit board of commerce, although "we may bump along" for a while in returning to higher trade levels.

"We have had enough of arm waving hysteria, whether in a delirium of joy or despair," he added. ". . . business has, mentally speaking, stepped off the swooping roller coaster and is basing its plans on the solid realities.

Sees Decline Halted.

"The available statistical record for February shows that business in that month underwent a normal seasonal improvement from the low levels of January. This is pretty good evidence that the long decline has at last been halted, and that an appreciable degree of recovery is in sight.

"The probability that the worst of the depression is behind us is not to be understood as foreshadowing a sharp and sustained advance from present levels back to normal. A brisk, spectacular ascending spurt might not be an unmixed good, even in the rather unlikely event that it should come.

"We are in the convalescent stage after a prolonged economic illness. We should be well satisfied, I think, if our improvement is gradual at first lest we suffer another relapse.

Concludes Worst Is Over.

New York, March 18.—(AP)—From reports so far available Standard Statistics company, Inc., concludes that "unemployment has passed its worst period," and that seasonal gains in business should result in "a slow but progressive increase in the number of workers employed during the remainder of the current half year.

"Indications are somewhat more numerous," says the companys' report, "that moderate cyclical improvement in the last half of 1931 will at least prevent a duplication of the conditions of the past winter."

The conviction that "the period of business revival we have entered" will continue, and that the paradoxical condition of lower prices, greater profits, and an improved bond market will obtain, was expressed by Dr. David Friday last night before members of the National Association of Waste Material Dealers at their convention dinner in the Congress hotel.

"For manufactured products the price trend will certainly be still lower during the coming months," he said.

"They have fallen less than raw materials. Their costs have declined in a marked degree. Under these conditions they will compete vigorously for business and in the process reduce prices still further.

"The same holds true in even greater measure for mercantile establishments and retail prices. It is probable that there will be an improvement in the prices of raw materials; they have fallen much more than finished products."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 18.—Having duly disgraced itself yesterday, the stock market braced up anew today. It has come to be that kind of a market—full of promise one day, wallowing in the ditch the next.

Today's display of resolution, while obviously just as professional as its predecessors in the current series, showed considerably more breadth and vigor than the average mill run of them. It was rather belated, not developing until well along in the afternoon. Trading had been at a listless pace all morning, with price swings chiefly of a fractional nature, and anxious chart followers, familiar with the late routine, had begun to fear the list was going to vary the monotony by breaking out afresh on the downside.

Then along came the announcement of an advance in the price of steel and the bulls seized upon the development to start a buying "push" in the steel shares. It was promptly extended to most of the list and by closing time had resulted in gains of 1 to 3 points or more over a wide area.

Auburn Auto Soars.

All of the footballs of the game, United States Steel, American Can, Auburn Auto, Westinghouse, Consolidated Gas, and Case Threshing Machine, and most of the groups were in the picture. Steel ran up 2½ points in a sudden burst of belated buying. Can advanced 2⅝. Auburn was given one of its spectacular flings for a net gain of 7½ points, and Case added more than 4 points to its closing price of last night.

Beyond the steel price advance there was not a great deal in the day's news to inspire activity in either direction. Money continued to rule easy, with funds again available in the outside market at 1.034 per cent, against the official rate of 1½ per cent.

As usual the rails made about the sorriest group showing of the list. Union Pacific was the weak sister of the department, dropping about 4 points, but later recovering most of its loss. Talk of a possible dividend reduction hurt the shares of this road. New York Central continued under pressure until just before the close, despite the fact that the "bad news" of its dividend has long since become

L. A. MILLER.

The general depression last year and changing of its automobile models resulted in a considerable decline in sales and earnings of the Willys-Overland company. The annual report, issued last night by President L. A. Miller, shows net sales of 80,555 cars for $55,581,945 in 1930, compared with 257,407 cars for $159,810,503 in 1929.

The company incurred a loss of $7,588,292 from operations last year, of which $2,633,904 was attributable to changing models, and a final deficit of $9,464,976 after paying dividends on the preferred stock and 30 cents on the common stock before dividends were discontinued. Surplus at the end of 1930, after adjustments, was $21,097,880, a decline of $9,081,905. In 1929 there was a loss of $4,979,857 from operations and a final deficit, after dividends, of $9,451,386.

President Miller calls attention to the fact that $1,070,000 of preferred stock and $1,000,000 of bonds were retired last year, and that $495,000 of preferred stock was purchased for retirement this year. The balance sheet as of Dec. 31, 1930, shows current assets of $16,056,739 and curent liabilities of $4,530,800.

J. FRANK DRAKE TO BE PRESIDENT OF GULF OIL CORP.

J. Frank Drake, chairman of the board of Pullman, Inc., will leave his position at the end of the month to become president of the Gulf Oil Corporation of Pennsylvania. He was elected to his new position at Pittsburgh yesterday. He will continue as a director of Pullman, Inc., and the Pullman company. Mr. Drake formerly was assistant to the president of the Gulf Oil company, leaving in 1923 to become president of the Standard Steel Car company. When the Standard company was merged with the Pullman company a year ago, Mr. Drake was made chairman.

Gulf Oil, which issued its annual report yesterday, showed a net income for 1930 of $10,625,252 against the 1929 net of $44,489,685. The earning was equal to $2.35 a share on the 4,525,221 shares of $25 par capital stock outstanding, against $9.83 a share in 1929.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 18.—The net asset value of Goldman Sachs Trading corporation stock was $15.23 a share on March 13, as compared with $12.40 a share on Dec. 31, according to an announcement made today at the annual stockholders' meeting by Walter E. Sachs, president. Stockholders voted to reduce the capital of the corporation by reducing the stated value of capital shares to $5 a share, and to credit to surplus the amount of the reduction. This, it was explained, in no way affects the net worth of the corporation, and it serves to reestablish the surplus wiped out by the drastic writing down in values done before the last annual report.

JAVA RATIFIES PLAN TO CURTAIL SUGAR OUTPUT

PARIS, March 18.—(AP)—Sugar interests of the United States, Cuba, Java, and the Netherlands, in session here since March 9, were greatly cheered tonight by an announcement from Java. This was that the Java parliament had ratified the agreement sponsored by Thomas L. Chadbourne and drawn up last December for restriction of sugar production.

Java, the conferees said, was the only country in which fundamental opposition to the plan had developed. They felt that other countries would soon fall in line. They were told President Machado asked the Cuban parliament today to ratify the accord.

Mr. Chadbourne and his party have been in session with the Dutch and Java representatives almost exclusively since the negotiations were resumed last week. Various methods have been discussed for making the general agreement of December effective, especially to get the interested governments to take the necessary measures for restriction of sugar production and exportation of sugar.

THE SERVICE WE RENDER

VISION— and Supervision

Competent supervision implies a super-vision.

In investment of capital, it entails the ability to see the whole picture at a glance. It means stepping out of the busy bedlam of the money markets into a quiet watch-tower from which a clear perspective may be gained. It means a constant following of the story of business, industry and finance, as it is being unfolded—the ability to read the coming chapters in the light of the past ones.

To this work Moody's Investors Service has dedicated itself. Sound appraisal of true investment values, protection against capital depreciation, and a share in the legitimate growth of business and industry—these have been the aims of this organization.

Thirty years of feeling the pulse of business, of weighing the facts and figures that influence it, have resulted in a mature judgment—a super-vision—that is helping Moody's Investors Service to realize these aims for some eighteen thousand conservative investors and banking institutions.

U. S. TO MAINTAIN ITS GRAIN POLICY, MILNOR ASSERTS

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

"There is no foundation whatever for rumors to the effect that any change in the present grain policy of the federal farm board and the Stabilization corporation is pending or contemplated," George S. Milnor, president of the Grain Stabilization corporation, stated yesterday.

For several days the grain trade has had rumors to the effect that the government agencies were shortly to announce a change in their domestic policy, and Mr. Milnor's statement was issued as a result of these reports.

Representatives of certain terminal elevator interests from the different markets recently requested a meeting with officials of the Stabilization corporation and suggested a plan to obviate the necessity of delivering terminal elevator stocks to the corporation against its holdings of May wheat future contracts. Mr. Milnor stated that in his opinion the plan suggested was unworkable and that the corporation was entirely satisfied with its present plans and policies.

Wheat Rallies After Break.

Scattered selling was responsible for a break of around ¾c in new crop wheat futures at the start, which carried the September off to 61¾c, a new low on the crop, and the July to 61¾c, or within ¼c of the inside figure of the season. However, an oversold condition was disclosed toward the last and the finish was on a rally of 1¼c from the bottom, with the close at net gains of ⅛@¼c. July being 62¾ to 62¾c and September 62¾ to 62¾c. Old crop months were ⅛@¾c higher, with March 79¼c and May 81¾c.

Announcement that there would be no change in the domestic policy on the part of the farm board attracted considerable attention. It is understood that a proposition was made at the recent meeting whereby the elevator interests offered to give the corporation the 1932 May wheat delivery in exchange for the cash grain, which, interests feel, would have placed the corporation in the position of entering the new crop.

There has been no change, however, in its policy regarding "loaning" cash wheat to mills who desire to protect their established brands of flour in the export field. It is estimated that around 5,000,000 bu wheat has been "borrowed" by mills who must replace the grain later in the season.

Foreigners Buy at Winnipeg.

Houses with seaboard and continental connections were reported as buyers of wheat futures at Winnipeg early. The latter market had a small break, but rallied sharply and closed ⅝@¾c higher, with the July at 60¾c. Around 250,000 bu Manitobas were estimated as having been sold for export. The farm board was understood to be offering No. 2 hard winter at the gulf around 15c under Chicago old May, while Broomhall reported No. 2 hard afloat offered at 74¾c c. i. f. the United Kingdom. Liverpool finished ⅝@¾c lower, with the July 63¾c. Buenos Aires advanced ¼c for the day, with weather conditions unfavorable for the movement.

Corn showed stubborn resistance to pressure early, and at no time were prices below the finish of the previous day. Movement of cash grain to terminals was light and the country showed less disposition to sell to arrive. Scattered buying developed toward the last, which disclosed a lack of pressure, and the finish was ⅝@1c higher, with March 62¾c; May, 64¾c to 64¾c; July and September, 67c to 67¼c.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

An interesting situation exists in May and cash wheat. Millions of bushels of May wheat have been bought in Chicago, Kansas City, and other markets, largely from elevator interests who are hedging their holdings.

Members of the terminal elevator association have been in Chicago for two days, conferring with officials of the Grain Stabilization corporation and of the Farmers National Grain corporation in an effort to reach an arrangement so that they can keep their cash wheat, get in on their May hedges for 1931 and give the farm board subsidiaries May delivery for 1932, extending the time for delivery more than a year. The elevator men cannot deliver their cash wheat sold in Kansas City and Minneapolis in Chicago and at the same time deliver it on their sales in other markets.

Officials of the Grain Stabilization corporation say they are willing to arrange with the elevator interests for an adjustment of May and cash wheat deliveries, but not on the terms suggested at present by the elevator people. The trade has visions of track deliveries of wheat in Chicago during the last three days of May, but probably the government officials will arrange for storage room for it. The trade looks for a more reasonable offer for settlement from elevator interests in the near future.

NEW HIGH ON POTATOES

Potato futures advanced 12c to a new record high on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, the April delivery closing at $1.92. The advance in the last few days totals 23c, or more than $75 per car. Butter futures were unsettled, ¼c higher to ½c lower, while egg futures were easy, unchanged to ¼c lower. Central Public Service Corp.

5½% Debentures, 1949

This rapidly growing Corporation has recently expended $16,-000,000 for new construction, all paid for, from which earnings should soon be received. Change from artificial gas to natural gas in 37 communities brought a temporary dip in net income which should be changed to a profit in 1931.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today: Cattle, 6,000; hogs, 23,000; sheep, 14,000.

An advance to a new high price level restricted the demand for lambs yesterday, resulting in a "deadlock" soon after the 10@25c higher opening. The advance was erased at the close, with bulk of offerings selling on very late afternoon rounds, directly before the close.

Hogs moved slightly higher on a very slow trade, prices closing within 10@20c of the highest point of the year. Substantial price gains in cattle featured the live stock trade during the forenoon. Top steers at $10.85 were highest since Wednesday of last week and only 40c under the highest point since Feb. 16.

Hog buyers were reluctant bidders, but were forced to pay 5@10c higher prices for bulk of the supply after a steady to 10c higher opening. The general average moved up 57 at $7.65, while the extreme top showed 10c gain at $8.40.

Eastern Demand Drops.

While receipts have been increasing during the last few days, eastern demand has dropped off some. Outsiders brought only 21 per cent of receipts at Chicago during the first three days of the week, against 38 per cent a week ago.

Little change was noted in the general level of hog futures quotations yesterday. September light weights were offered at $9.25 and bid $9.00, while May light were bid $8.00 and offered at $8.50. May mediums carried bids of $8.35, with offers at $8.50, while September heavy were bid $8.75 and offered at $9.00. On the "to arrive" market, light weights for to-[illegible] delivery were bid $8.25, mediums [illegible] and heavy $7.50.

Cattle have recovered a big part of the loss experienced last Monday. Abbreviated receipts offset the influence of slow and weak dressed beef markets and local houses were among the best competitors. Order buyers paid the top of $10.85 for 1,495 lb., steers.

Top Lambs Bring $9.65.

The top soared to $9.65 in the lamb market yesterday, going back to last August for a higher figure. Packers, shippers and city butchers bought 85@99 lb. averages at $9.40@9.65 during the first rounds, with later sales of 92@100lb. averages at $8.85@ 9.25, some going over unsold on unsatisfactory bids.

Eastern demand continued good, but local opposition to higher prices is gaining strength. Outsiders brought more than 50 per cent of receipts the first half of this week. A year ago less than 25 per cent sold to shippers. Aged sheep and yearlings brought steady prices.

PRODUCE MARKETS

Demand for butter was rather slow and prices declined 1@c. Receipts, 4,653 tubs. Fresh eggs were in good supply and declined 1@c. Receipts, 14,473 cases. Light weight heavy offerings, and stags in the latter being quoted at 19c. Receipts, 3 cars and 22 trucks. Potatoes in active demand and prices sharply higher. Russets sold as high as $1.80 per 100 lbs in carlots. Receipts, 105 cars with 230 cars on team track.
